OUR FAITH AND FELLOWSHIP

What is Religion ?

Religion, as Jesus himself affirmed, is summed up in the tw great commandments—Love to God and Love to Man.

What are the essentials of the Christian Faith ?

The Fatherhood of God, the Brotherhood of Man, the Leadersh of Jesus, the Victory of Good, the Kingdom of God, and the Li Eternal

Does this constitute our Creed ?

No, for though we cherish these beliefs, we do not formulate the as a settled creed, nor claim for them the authority of a final stat ment of religious truth. In the conviction that the dogmatic spir is fatal to progress, we seek no complete uniformity of religiou belief, but welcome to our open fellowship all who share our spiritu ideals and practical aims.

What are our Ideals and Aims ?

(1) In things essential, Unity ; in things doubtful, Liberty ; i all things, Charity.

(2) Religious Life, not Creed, the bond of union.

(3) Freedom of reason and conscience in the search for Truth unfettered by authority or tradition.

(4) Fellowship the wide world over, on these principles, betwee men of differing creeds and faiths.

What is the Liberal Religious Movement ?

A movement in all the great religions of the world, and in almos every Christian church or denomination, of those who cheris the above ideals and aims ; and with whom, therefore, Unitarian and Free Christians find themselves in close accord and harmoniou fellowship.

PREFACE

We call attention to certain new or revised items in this issue. In the rst place we are happy to include a note on the new Canadian Unitarian ouncil which links in one association all the churches and fellowships in anada (p. 29). Then the Legal Information section has been completely vised and brought up-to-date. In this connection it should be stated at the Model Trust Deed has also been revised, but it is not proposed print it in the Year Book because of lack of space. Copies will be vailable from Headquarters to those who need one. Finally, we include r the first time the names of two Canadian churches, at Calgary and ointe Claire, and, in the Newspapers and Magazines Section, the Hibbert ournal; this latter we hope will result in more Unitarians, both laymen nd ministers, becoming subscribers to this excellent journal of Liberal eligion.

The list of congregations is increased by two; there are 242 in England; 3 in Wales; 34 in Ireland; 4 in Scotland; and 20 in the Dominions and verseas Section. In addition there are now two fully recognised ellowships, Bedford having joined North Wales in this Section.

The list of ministers contains 228 names, including 17 on the Supple-entary List; this is an increase of four on last year. There are 195 inisters in the British Isles, of whom 48 have their names in italics, eing, with a few exceptions, retired, though many of them continue to nder most valuable service to our churches, which is greatly appreciated. here are 16 ministers in the Dominions, three of whom are retired, here are 8 Lay Pastors, the same number as last year; though one has ualified for full status and one has been added to the Supplementary List, o new names appear. The Roll of Lay Preachers contains 92 names, e having become a Lay Pastor. We record with deep regret the deaths seven ministers, two of whom were retired. We welcome eleven inisters to the Roll, including two on the Supplementary List; they are E. Jones (Carmarthen), Mrs. Anne McClelland (M.C.O.), J. McCormick I.C.O.), L. Smith (U.C.M.), J. C. Turner (G.A. Student and U.C.M.), H. Carpenter, D. Brown, J. H. Morgan, H. W. Weston (all American nitarian-Universalist Association), T. H. Davenport (U.C.M. Special) d R. L. S. Nicholson (Lay Pastor) on the Supplementary List. The number of students in training shows a decline; there are nine at U.C.M., six at M.C.O., and three at Carmarthen. We need not less than 30 in training every year if we are to make any progress towards building up the larger ministry we need, and only our own congregations can help in this matter; unfortunately, not all seem to have a sense of responsibility in this regard and many do not appear to have sent anyone into the ministry in this century.

Thanks are due to those ministers and secretaries who so promptly return the correction slips. Since almost 100 have failed to make a return of any kind it is inevitable that inaccuracies occur in the book.

Finally, the Editor wishes to express sincere thanks to Dr. M. Rowe and Dr. Dorothy Tarrant who supervised the preparation of the book while the Editor was visiting the Commonwealth churches, and who have since attended to all necessary proof-reading.

JOHN KIELTY.

THE FORMATION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The Assembly was brought into existence in 1928 in the manner more fully set forth in the Preamble to the Constitution (p.13), by the amalgamation of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association (1825) and the National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congregations (1881). The objects and operations of both these organizations were taken over, so as to unify the forces of the denomination.

The importance of the new organization arises from the history of the group of Churches enrolled. In that history two tendencies can always be discerned, one expressing itself in the desire for lucid and definite theological teaching, the other in a desire for complete religious freedom. It may be maintained that there is no essential conflict between these two tendencies, but their adjustment is a matter of wisdom and statesmanship. Both appear to be vital to the spirit of the movement here represented.

Brief historical statements about the constituent organizations amalgamated in the General Assembly are given below.

THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION.

The British and Foreign Unitarian Association was constituted in 1825. It was formed by the amalgamation of three Societies :—(1) The Unitarian Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and the Practice of Virtue, by the Distribution of Books, founded in 1791 ; (2) The Unitarian Fund, established in 1806, which may be regarded as the most important ; and (3) The Association for Protecting the Civil Rights of Unitarians, formed in 1819. These Societies were supported by Unitarians in all parts of the country, as individual subscribers. By far the greater number of the supporters were members of Unitarian and other Non-subscribing Churches, and the support of such Churches was taken to be an essential part of the work of the Societies. The amalgamation of the three Societies was carried out in a spirit of mutual goodwill, and the Association formed from their union gradually became a national and international missionary organization. From the beginning it was in touch with kindred movements in the United States and in India, and soon afterwards (through the medium of communications in Latin) with the ancient Unitarian Church in Transylvania. At the time of its centenary, which was celebrated in June, 1925, its operations covered the British Isles, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, and several European countries.

The objects of the Association (see p. 20) may be summed up as the diffusion and support of the principles of Unitarian Christianity, including the formation and assistance of congregations which are free from a creedal basis, and the publication and circulation of appropriate literature.

In pursuance of these objects the Association assisted in establishing an maintaining Congregations, especially in the early and difficult stages c their growth ; it contributed to the support of Ministers, lecturers, an missionary preachers ; it held conferences and meetings annually i London and different parts of the country ; it issued books and pamphlet dealing with the broader aspects of religious thought and life, in additio to direct expositions of Unitarian Christianity. Many thousands of pam phlets were freely distributed in response to applications from Congrega tions, and inquirers in all parts of the world. The Association was suppor ted by subscriptions of individuals, collections from Congregations, sales o publications, and income from investments. The range of its operation was dependent upon the generosity of Congregations and individua Unitarians, and others interested in the objects which it endeavoured t promote.

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE

The National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing or Kindred Congregations wa initiated by the British and Foreign Unitarian Association in 1881, on th lines of a similar organization in the United States, its intention being t bring together for purposes of consultation and mutual stimulus represen tatives of all the Churches in this country which stand for freedom in mat ters of faith. Beginning with meetings at Liverpool in 1882, the Confer ence met triennially until the War broke the sequence, which was resume in 1920. After 1882, the places of meeting have been Birmingham, Leeds London, Manchester, Sheffield, Leicester, Liverpool, Oxford, Bolton Birmingham, London, Leeds, Manchester, Sheffield (1926).

In 1898, the Committee of the Conference, being constructed on representative basis, was " instructed to hold regular meetings to consul and when considered advisable to take action in matters affecting the well being and interests of the Congregations and Societies which form th Conference " ; and in various ways this was done, to the advantage of ou Churches generally, and with the endorsement of the Conference itself a its General Meetings.

During the forty-six years of its existence the National Conferenc inaugurated various Funds and Committees, nearly all of which are sti actively at work. In other cases it took over work already in progress, o collaborated in different undertakings. Mention may be made of the Sus tentation Fund (1882), Ministers' Pension and Insurance Fund (1902) Subvention Fund (1920), six regional Advisory Committees, Ministeria Settlements Board, Committee of the Supply of Ministers, Social Servic Union, Aged Ministers and Widows Fund, Contributory Insurance Fund and (in co-operation with others) the compilation of "Hymns of Worship. The Annual Recognition Service for Ministers who have settled among u was also established by the Conference.

CONGREGATIONS

The list includes all duly organized Unitarian Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing congregations in Great Britain and Ireland, together with similar congregations overseas (p. 66). A few congregations not yet fully organized, and a few places of worship at present closed, are also included.

Particulars given include the location, the dates of origin, first building and present building, the hours of service, the hymn book in use, and the name and address of the Secretary. The names of the present and the recent ministers or laymen in charge of the pulpit are also given ; the postal address is added if the name is not found in the Ministers' or Lay Pastors' List. Those whose names are printed in italics are deceased. The record as a rule goes back for 30 years, or to the earliest minister still living and on the ministerial roll, whichever be the longer period.

For the meaning of abbreviations, see p. 32.

MINISTERS DECEASED

December 1*st*, 1961, to November 30th, 1962

Begg.—John Begg was an Aberdonian who spent the years of the 1914-18 war at the Pioneer Preachers' Hostel, rendering constant service to the London district churches. Then followed two years of further training at the Home Missionary College, leading to a settlement at Colne, 1921-23. His removal to Ireland in the latter year, at the age of 32, marked the beginning of a long and faithful ministry in the Non-subscribing Presbyterian Church :—Downpatrick 1923-26, Larne 1926-42, service abroad with the Y.M.C.A. 1942-44, and the charge of Ballycarry thenceforward to his death, together with Raloo since 1948. His devotion to the Irish churches was rewarded with numerous distinctions, including the Moderatorship in 1932-33 ; his devotion to the human interests and daily concerns of the folk around him, within and beyond the limits of his own congregations, led to his being a founder-member and ultimately chairman of the local branch of the Ulster Farmers' Union. Supreme over all was his warm-hearted love of his fellows and his eagerness to be of service. He died in harness at the age of 70, on January 24th, 1962.

Hamblin.—Frederick Jasper Hamblin achieved his wish to become a minister when he took charge of Bury St. Edmunds at the age of 42, in 1938. A student at Oxford in 1914, he enlisted for service in the R.F.C. and R.A.F., and after the war he did not proceed with ministerial training. However, from Bury St. Edmunds, after seven years, he moved to the charge of S. Shields and Sunderland, and during his five years there he was accorded ministerial status, having given ample evidence of scholarly attainments and a genuine vocation. Then followed six years at Heywood, and five at Coseley, until in 1962 he accepted an invitation to what might well have proved a final happy settlement at Rotherham. Illness unfortunately overtook him, and although he moved to his new home his illness returned in more severe form and he died on September 11th, aged 67. During his 24 years in the ministry he had proved himself an able preacher with wide intellectual interests, and a loved and faithful pastor of his several congregations.

Hicks.—Ernest Savell Hicks, the distinguished minister of the important church in Dublin since 1910, died on May 29th at the age of 85. As a youth in the congregation of the Non-subscribing Presbyterian Church of Ireland at Holywood his thoughts turned to the ministry, and after graduating at Jesus College, Oxford, in 1897, he studied at M.C.O. until 1900, entering the ministry as assistant to the Rev. C. J. Street at Bolton, with charge of the Halliwell Road congregation in addition, 1900-03. Then followed seven years of a notably active and fruitful ministry at Islington, London, until Dublin called him back to Ireland and the Non-subscribing Presbyterian Church. Here his vigorous personality, his varied gifts and widespread public interests won for him esteem among all sections in the life and activity of that great city, as well as growing leadership within his own denomination, of which he was twice elected Moderator—the second time in 1960, the 50th year of his Dublin ministry. That happy event was marked by a presentation to which Catholics, Jews and Protestants gladly contributed along with his own people. He was eeply touched when in 1961 the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free hristian Churches, at the Annual Meetings, conferred Honorary Memberhip upon him with acclamation. But neither popularity nor repeated onours ever affected adversely the warmth of his friendly personality, r his readiness to spend and be spent in the ministry of Christian service.

ones.—George Randall Jones died on January 19th at the age of 71, fter little more than a year of retirement from the active ministry. As a oung man in the teaching profession, with a B.Sc. to his credit, he was rawn to the ministry and spent three years at the Home Missionary ollege and Manchester University, taking the B.D. degree in 1917 and ettling at Pendleton. For a year he was also Graduate Scholar in Ecclesiastical History, and in 1918 he graduated M.A. Added to this utstanding ability to master human knowledge in varied fields was the arer gift of imparting it in attractive form, as his pulpit work and his requent contributions to The Inquirer and other periodicals bear witness ; e maintained a wide journalistic connection through his gifted pen. His first ministry at Pendleton ended with a call to Norwich in 1920, vhence after seven years he moved to his last and longest ministry—at Bridport 1927-60. While at Norwich, observing that a prize of £100 was ffered for the best essay on a theological subject by the graduate of any niversity within the Empire, he submitted an essay and was awarded he prize. In preaching and writing he had a clear, forceful and arresting tyle, holding fast the attention of hearers or readers ; and his warm uman sympathies made him a much-loved pastor. In his last twelve ears at Bridport he was also District Minister of the Western Union. The General Assembly elected him President in 1951-52 in recognition of his outstanding merit.

Kennedy.—James Arthur Kennedy came to us from the Methodist Church, for whose ministry he had been prepared as a student at Handsworth College. During a probationary year he took lay charge of Trowbridge, was then granted ministerial status and remained there for a further six years, until in 1938 he was called to Denton, where he ministered for seven difficult pre-war and war-time years before moving to Unity Church, Sheffield. In 1949 he left Sheffield to become minister of the Octagon Chapel, Norwich. There, as elsewhere, his thoughtful and impressive preaching and his devotion to his people won their warm regard. He had the joy of planning and presiding over the historic chapel's bicentenary celebrations in 1956. His death came with tragic suddenness as he was leaving home for morning service on Sunday, June 3rd, at the age of 58.

Maguire.—Harry Maguire, who died on December 10th, 1961, aged 80, combined ministerial activity with the teaching profession throughout the major part of his career, until the latter calling reached its normal term and freed him from the dual claim upon his energies and enthusiasms. He began by taking lay charge of Wareham and, while there, achieving ministerial standing. As science teacher at Brighton Grammar School his chief and longest ministry was at Ditchling for nearly 20 years, 1922-41 ; a short ministry at Billingshurst preceded it (1917-20) and it was followed by a settlement at Lewes 1941-46. Freed from geographical ties he moved to Banbury in the latter year and thence, after seven years, to the central Midlands, boldly accepting charge of an experimental " circuit " of three congregations—Tamworth, W. Bromwich and Walsall, 1953-58. Finally undeterred by age, he went to Warwick and gave himself to an heroic lead of the congregation in collecting the vast sum required to save the 18th-century chapel from the serious risk of disintegration. It was well said that the word impossible did not exist for him ; but equally true was it that his energetic will was coupled with a most devout and thoughtful mind.

Mobbs.—Albert Ernest Mobbs returned to his own country from America in 1924, having been a student at Meadville Theological School for two years and a minister of two American Unitarian churches in the four years that followed. Few ministers of ours served in so many widely-separated churches as he ; Hastings 1925-28, Glasgow 1928-33, Lancaster 1933-36, Chesham 1938-46, Northampton 1946-50 and Middlesbrough 1950-53. Advancing years and declining health brought about his retirement, and he died on January 8th, 1962, aged 73.

ADDENDUM

As the Year Book goes to press we learn with regret that the Rev. J. Hinkins (page 80) and the Rev. J. P. Chalk (page 74) have died. Memorial paragraphs will appear in the 1964 Year Book.

HEADQUARTERS, ETC.

ESSEX HALL, LONDON

Essex Hall Trust (1885)—Essex Hall, in Essex Street, Strand, London, formerly Essex Street Chapel, was acquired and altered in 1885 to provide a Central Hall or meeting place in the metropolis for Unitarians, Offices and Book Rooms for the British and Foreign Unitarian Association and the Sunday School Association. On July 28th, 1944, the Hall was destroyed beyond repair by enemy action. Thus ended 59 years of service as headquarters and central meeting place for the denomination. It contained the offices of the General Assembly and of the Sunday School Association, and the Essex Hall Bookshop. The Hall was let for public meetings, lectures, arbitrations and other purposes ; it thus became a well-known centre for gatherings of men and women interested in very varied schemes for the amelioration and enlightenment of mankind.

In June, 1957, the Foundation Stone of the new building was laid and on October 25th, 1958, the new Essex Hall was opened. It again contains the offices of the General Assembly and of the Sunday School Association, and the Lindsey Press Bookshop. The central hall is smaller than its predecessor and has been named The Martineau Hall and registered for Public Worship. There are also two excellent Committee Rooms and an office shared by the Publicity Department of the Assembly and the Women's League.

Essex Hall, Incorporated, is a Trust governed by Twenty Trustees, who as vacancies occur, are elected alternately by the General Assembly and the Sunday School Association. The Trustees are :—

1903	Ronald Bartram.	1945	J. S. S. Cooper.
1909	Ronald P. Jones	1948	Kenneth S. Tayler.
1913	Herbert Gimson.	1951	John Kielty.
1925	Arnold Broadbent.	1954	H. J. Bush.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION INCORPORATED

ESSEX HALL, ESSEX STREET, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.2

Secretary—Rev. Mortimer Rowe, B.A., D.D.

At the Annual Meeting of members of the B. and F.U.A. held at Whitsuntide, 1914, a resolution was adopted authorising the Committee to take the necessary legal steps for securing the Incorporation of the Association. Accordingly a "Memorandum and Articles of Association" was prepared under competent legal advice and in consultation with officials of the Board of Trade; the Licence by the Board of Trade was issued on July 21st, 1915, and the Certificate of Incorporation on July 28th, 1915. The Association is licensed under section 20 of the Companies (Consolidation) Act 1908. It is especially provided, as a condition of granting the licence, that no portion of its income shall be paid or transferred by way of profit to any member of the Association; and the Memorandum includes a clause giving the objects of the Association (as stated above, pages 20-21).

A body corporate is legally an individual. On the financial side, the chief advantage of incorporation is that it obviates the trouble and expense incurred in transferring investments on the death or resignation of trustees. In this body corporate the funds which were administered by the Executive Committee of the Association are legally vested, whether for the general purposes of the body, or for special purposes prescribed under wills or trusts. The merging of the general membership of the Association in the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches does not involve the dissolution of the Incorporated Association, which remains in being as a trust-holding body; and its position is recognised in clause 8 of the Constitution (see page 17). The income from general investments is paid over to the General Assembly, to be expended in accordance with the objects referred to above. The Articles of Incorporation, as amended by the Board of Trade since the formation of the General Assembly, permit the membership of the Incorporated Association (at present about 50) to be maintained by the election of new members at the discretion of the Annual General Meeting. An Executive Committee of 13 members is elected annually.

Under the authority of Statutory Instrument 1961 No. 1282 the Association is empowered to sell or otherwise deal with certain property of which it is Trustee without the consent of the Charity Commission (as required by the Charities Act 1960) provided it complies strictly with certain requirements.

THE LINDSEY PRESS

ESSEX HALL, ESSEX STREET, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.2

Secretary and Manager—Miss M. Boxall.

The Lindsey Press was reorganized in March, 1926, by the amalgamation of the Bookrooms previously conducted by the British and Foreign Unitarian Association and the Sunday School Association, respectively. It is controlled by a Publications Committee consisting of representatives of the Council of the General Assembly and the Sunday School Association. Over 200 publications issued by the Lindsey Press are included in the general catalogue : also the Bookshop stocks a general collection of works of all kinds and obtains books from all publishers as required.

The Bookshop is open Monday-Friday from 9 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. Communications should be addressed to the Manager, The Lindsey Press, Essex Hall, Essex Street, London, W.C.2.

FOREWORD

Students whose intention it is to enter the Ministry of the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches are requested to acquaint the Secretary of the General Assembly with their intention at the time of their making application for admission to one of the Colleges, so that the Ministry Committee may be in touch with them from the beginning of their training.

THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES

A Standing Conference of the Principal and one other from each of the three Colleges together with two representatives of the General Assembly has been set up and replaces the Joint Academic Board of the two Colleges at Manchester and Oxford. The Conference is a consultative body with no executive powers. It meets twice yearly for the exchange of information, consultation, the discussion of experiments, and the consideration of suggested changes in, and additions to, the curricula.

The Secretary of the Assembly acts as convenor.

ADVISORY COMMITTEES

The future of these Committees is under consideration, as recommended by the Commission on the Work of the Churches, with a view to the adoption of other methods of carrying out their functions. Meanwhile, the information given below represents the present position.

These Committees, six in number, were appointed by the Provincial Assemblies, or by groups of District Associations, and their areas of operation correspond with their method of appointment. The chief task is to examine the credentials, character, education and general fitness of (a) persons who, having done satisfactory work in connection with the Churches of the General Assembly, seek to be recognised as Lay Pastors ; and (b) Lay Pastors who desire to be admitted to the Reading and Examination Scheme (see above). All recommendations are submitted to the Ministry Committee of the General Assembly for approval. Ministers from other Denominations seeking to enter the ministry of the General Assembly are now dealt with by the Ministry Committee direct.

The Advisory Committees are also empowered to offer their services cases of difficulty arising between Minister and Congregation ; and ewise, on the application of a Minister, to adjudicate upon his con-nued fitness to occupy a ministerial position. These supplementary ties of Advisory Committees, though happily very seldom needing be exercised, should not be forgotten by Congregations, Ministers, d District Associations.

Four of the six Advisory Committees—the Lancs. and Cheshire, uthern, Northern, and Midland—have surrendered their functions to e Ministry Committee. The remaining two are as follows :—

(1) Western : appointed by the Western Union.
Sec., Rev. J. W. Maw.

(2) South Wales : appointed by the South Wales Unitarian Association and the S.E. Wales Unitarian Society.
Sec., Rev. D. J. Davies.

MINISTERIAL SETTLEMENTS

The importance of wise counsel and friendly assistance in this matter annot be over-estimated, and the Ministry Committee of the General ssembly exists chiefly to be of service in this connection both to ongregations and to ministers.

Congregations seeking the appointment of a new Minister are trongly urged to apply to the Secretary for recommendations, which ill be made by the Ministry Committee. Advertising by individual ongregations should be avoided. The Ministry Committee will insert a st of Vacant Pulpits in The Inquirer at regular intervals. Ministers esiring a change of pastorate are invited to communicate with the ecretary of the General Assembly. The attention of congregations is alled to the paragraph at the foot of page 31.

London and Westminster.—The body of Protestant Dissenting Ministers of the Presbyterian Denomination in and about the Cities of London and Westminster can trace its history back to the seventeenth century. From 1702 until 1836 the Presbyterian ministers united with the Baptist and Congregational ministers in presenting addresses to the Throne on occasions of national importance. From 1837 they were allowed to exercise the privilege independently and as Unitarians. Since 1936, on certain occasions, they have co-operated with other privileged Nonconformist bodies and with the Free Church Federal Council in the exercise of this historic privilege. Sec., Rev. R. SECTION IX

LIBERAL RELIGIOUS MOVEMENTS ABROAD

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST ASSOCIATION

In May of 1961 the American Unitarian Association and the Universalist Church of America voted to formally conclude the consolidation of their two organizations, and a new liberal religious movement was born in America—the Unitarian Universalist Association. The new denomination emerged after nearly a century of common effort. Consolidation was complete above the parish level and it brought together in a single organization 118,000 Unitarians with 405 churches and 360 fellowship groups and more than 71,000 members of the 400 Universalist churches. In addition, 68,000 children in Unitarian Church Schools and 18,000 in Universalist Church Schools are involved.

The purposes of the new organization are:—

(1) To strengthen one another in a free and disciplined search for truth as the foundation of our religious fellowship;
(2) To cherish and spread the universal truths taught by the great prophets and teachers of humanity in every age and tradition, immemorially summarized in the Judeo-Christian heritage as love to God and love to man;
(3) To affirm, defend and promote the supreme worth of every human personality, the dignity of man, and the use of the democratic method in human relationships;
(4) To implement our vision of one world by striving for a world community founded on ideals of brotherhood, justice and peace;
(5) To serve the needs of member churches and fellowships, to organize new churches and fellowships, and to extend and strengthen liberal religion;
(6) To encourage co-operation with men of good will in every land.

The Association is the chief executive arm of the Unitarian and Universalist churches and fellowships. Its work is carried on by various departments—fund raising, service projects, ministry, extension, publications, adult programmes, information, college centres, religious education. The headquarters of the Association are at 25 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. President: Rev. Dana McLean Greeley, D.D., to whom all correspondence should be addressed.

In addition to the Association, there are other denominational organizations which work with it in close co-operation and have offices at 25 Beacon Street: the Alliance of Unitarian Women, the Association of Universalist Women, the Laymen's League, the Fellowship for Social Justice, each with its own president and other officers.

OUTSIDE America, the British Dominions, Hungary and Transylvania, Liberal Religious churches and movements seldom use the name "Unitarian" or "Free Christian," but in many parts of the world there are Churches and Societies in substantial agreement with the same fundamental principles.

Belgium.—There is a Free Christian Church in Brussels, of which the late Rev. P. Teissonnière was minister from 1910 to 1940 ; he died in France in 1946. He was succeeded by the Rev. F. Hoyois in October, 1940. Liberal congregations connected with the parent church were also founded in Liége, Charleroi and Ghent. With much difficulty, Pastor Hoyois was able to keep the movement alive during the years of German occupation. The monthly publication, Les Conférences du Foyer, the organ of "The New Reformation," suffered interruption after 1940, and was revived by Pastor Hoyois, until 1947.

Czecho-Slovakia.—Bohemia, with its great memories of John Hus and the Moravian Brethren, had long been a centre of liberal thought, and the creation of the Republic in 1918 as a result of the war gave the people the freedom they desired. The effect upon their intellectual and spiritual life was profound. Upwards of one million seceded from the Roman Catholic Church and formed the Czecho-slovak Church, which threw off the dogmatic shackles of the past and became definitely liberal in its tendency. In 1924 it established its own Theological School in Prague, where some fifty students were usually in training for the ministry, taking courses also in the John Hus Protestant Theological Faculty of the University. Here several professorships have, since 1934, been held by scholars of the Czecho-slovak Church. The International Congress met in Prague in September, 1927, and did much to arouse interest in liberal religion. The Czecho-slovak Church co-operated in all the work of the Congress, as a liberal church based upon freedom of conscience. It has been a member-group of the International Association for Religious Freedom since the beginning. During the years before 1939, several students spent a session at Manchester College, Oxford. The drastic reduction of Czecho-slovakian territory in 1938, followed by the German occupation in March, 1939, and the war of 1939-45, inflicted grave suffering and loss upon this Church and upon immense numbers of its people, including several of its ministers, upon one of whom the death penalty was cruelly inflicted, while five died in concentration camps. Its head, Bishop Prochazka, died in 1941, after bravely resisting German repressive measures. His successor, Bishop Kovar, was elected in 1946.

In addition to the Czecho-slovak Church there is also a strong Unitarian movement in Prague, with branch groups in four or five other centres. In 1921, Dr. Norbert Capek went to Prague with the support of the American Unitarian Association, as the pioneer of this movement. His message met a widespread popular need, and its success was extraordinary. Temporary premises were secured on a good site, and subsequently a building was erected there with the help of the British and American Associations, as a centre of all the activities of the movement. Dr. Capek was imprisoned and afterwards brutally murdered in 1942 by the Germans, a fate from which his assistant and son-in-law, the Rev. Dr. K. Haspl, narrowly escaped. Dr. Haspl carried on the work until his retirement in 1960 when he was succeeded by Dr. D. Kafka.

Denmark.—There is a Unitarian congregation in Copenhagen, which has grown considerably since its foundation. A fine church building was opened in 1928. The minister, Pastor Kierkegaard, has started missionary movements in four other towns, including Odense and Esbjerg. In August, 1934, the International Association held its Congress in Copenhagen by invitation of the Unitarian congregation. Pastor Kierkegaard was able to carry on his work during the years of German occupation, although amid much difficulty and hardship, and he and his congregation are now as active as in earlier years.

France.—A considerable number of the Protestant ministers of the Reformed Church in France belong to the liberal wing, which has an organisation of its own. The principal liberal churches in Paris are the Oratoire, 1 Rue de l'Oratoire du Louvre, and Le Foyer de l'Ame, Rue du Pasteur Wagner. Pasteur Barbier and his congregation at Strasbourg, evacuated and scattered during the war, are re-established in their former church. The years between the wars, however, saw a marked tendency towards the right in French Protestant theology, which had its effect upon the liberal movement.

Germany.—Before the first World War, the "Protestantenverein" (Protestant Union), formed in 1865, was the chief bond of union among German Liberal Christians; the principal centre of Liberal theology was the University of Marburg. During the long and troubled period between the two wars, and especially after 1933, when intellectual freedom was crushed, Liberal Religious thought and activity were conducted amid fear and uncertainty, and survived only on a much diminished scale. Since the end of the second World War communications have been reopened, and there is evidence of a widespread revival of interest in Liberal Religion. The Rev. Magnus Ratter visited the British and American Zones in October 1948, and the British Zone in May 1949, and Rev. Kenneth Twinn visited the Rhineland in May 1951, investigating the post-war situation. There are several communities claiming roots in the early 19th century Free Catholic and Free Protestant movements, unfortunately with little mutual co-operation, but standing for spiritual freedom, the use of reason rather than tradition, for tolerance rather than uniformity. These are the Deutscher Unitarier Bund (German Unitarian Association) centred mainly round Frankfurt and the Freie Gemeinden (Free Congregations) in Offenbach and Mainz, which are perhaps closest together; the Bund Freireligiöser Gemeinden Deutschlands (Association of Free-religious Congregations of Germany), mainly, though not exclusively in the Rhine Palatinate, and the Deutsche Unitarier, Religionsgemeinschaft (German Unitarians, Religious Fellowship), principally in North Germany, the latter two being rather more humanistic. All are free from state control. There are other groups in Berlin and elsewhere, as well as a small but influential minority in the orthodox church holding "modernist" convictions, and organized in the Bund für Freies Christentum (Association for Free Christianity).

Holland.—The "Nederlandse Protestantenbond" (Protestant Union of Holland) was established in 1870 as a converging point for Liberals belonging to every church of the country—Reformed, Lutheran, Remonstrant, Mennonite, and Free. It was estimated in the years between the two wars that about twenty-five per cent. of the Protestant ministers in Holland were liberal. The "Vergadering van moderne Theologen" (a meeting of liberal Protestant ministers and scholars) was a yearly meeting of liberal ministers of various denominations. The liberal section of the Dutch Reformed Church was organized in several Provincial Unions. A Central Committee representing all groups of Free Protestants was formed, with headquarters in Utrecht. The Universities of Leiden and Amsterdam are the educational centres of the Free Protestantism in Holland ; Leiden for the Dutch Reformed and Remonstrants, Amsterdam for the Mennonites and Lutherans. The International Congress of Religious Liberals was held at Amsterdam in 1903, and in Leiden in 1922. In 1929 the Headquarters of this movement, re-named the International Association for Religious Freedom, was established in Holland, with a Secretariat of Dutch Liberal ministers ; today several laymen are also members. Since the war, one of the most significant developments has been the establishment of the Liberal Protestant Broadcasting Company (VPRO). It may be said that liberalism has an influence in Dutch life far greater than is commensurate with its actual membership.

Hungary.—In addition to a number of Unitarian congregations in various towns and villages, there is an important and influential church in Budapest (established in 1869) in the Headquarters building of the denomination. Largely because of the numbers of refugees from Transylvania after the first World War, steps were taken jointly in 1923 by the British and American Unitarian Associations to purchase suitable accommodation for a second Unitarian parish in Budapest under the ministry of the Rev. Dr. G. Csiki (Bishop of the Hungarian Unitarian Church until 1957) and the Unitarian Mission House was established, part of the premises being rebuilt in 1929 as a place of worship. Since the establishment of the People's Republic communication has not been easy, and recent events have added to their difficulties.

Iceland.—Many people in Iceland are in sympathy with Unitarian religious opinions. The late M. Jochumsson, of Akureyri, poet and writer, formerly a Lutheran pastor, was an avowed liberal theologian, Twenty liberal Christian congregations are included in the United Conference of Icelandic Churches in North America. These congregations are in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Canada.

India.—There are representatives of the Unitarian faith in many parts of India. The various sections of the Brahmo Samaj, the Theistic Church of India, have local societies in numerous places. The largest section, known as the Sadharan Brahmo Samaj, has its central office at 211 Cornwallis Street, Calcutta. Many of its leaders have been students at Manchester College, Oxford. There is a Unitarian church and congregation in Madras (estab. 1795). The Khasi and Jaintia Hills Unitarian Union includes a number of scattered congregations in Assam. Its members belong to the hill tribes and speak the Khasi language. From 1930 to 1932, Rev. Magnus Ratter was at work in India as the representative of the General Assembly, visiting many of the Brahmo Samaj congregations and spending a considerable time among the Khasi Hills Unitarians. In 1936, Rev. Margaret Barr, already engaged in religious teaching in Calcutta, and a welcome visitor to the Khasi churches, was appointed to succeed him. Miss Barr learnt the Khasi language, won the affection of the people, and strengthened and increased the number of their congregations. In due course she established and staffed schools which earned Government recognition and support. In 1948 the largest of these, the Lady Reid School, Shillong, was taken over by the Government, enlarged and rebuilt and turned into a Basic Training School. After a year and a half as Principal, Miss Barr resigned and handed it over to the Khasis. Meanwhile the Rural Training Centre at Kharang has been developed, the medical services having been much extended with the help of the Canadian Unitarian Service Committee.

London Brahmo Samaj.—Besides providing for the spiritual and cultural welfare of Brahmos and non-Brahmo sympathizers, the main function of the London Brahmo Samaj is to propagate the religious and cultural aspects of the Brahmo Samaj amongst the Western world.

Sec., A. Chanda, 1 Derwent Grove, S.E. 22.

Rumania.—A fully organized Unitarian Church has existed in Transylvania since its foundation by Bishop Francis David in 1568. In the sixteenth century it consisted of more than 400 congregations, but this number was greatly reduced by protracted and bitter persecutions which lasted about 200 years. Before the recent war the number of Unitarian congregations with settled ministers was 112 ; and there were fifty places where the minister of the neighbouring congregation rendered occasional services. The oldest congregation is at Cluj-Kolozsvar (1568). The total membership was 80,000. The churches are organized under a Bishop and two Curators (Lay Presidents). The churches are distributed into eight districts, each presided over by a Dean, and are governed by a Chief Consistory at Cluj-Kolozsvar. There are elementary schools attached to many of the congregations, and at Cluj-Kolozsvar and Keresztur there are High Schools for boys. There is a Theological College at Cluj-Kolozsvar, established about 1556 by John Sigismund, Prince of Transylvania. Many of the professors and ministers have studied at our English colleges. The Francis David Association, which was established in 1884, for the promotion of religion and moral culture, has many branches and upwards of 1900 members. The problem of the Unitarian and other Minority churches in Rumania after the 1914-18 war was full of difficulty and perplexity, but the situation was closely watched in England and America in the interests of religious liberty and the rights of minorities. In this work Unitarians took a leading part. Reliable news concerning the churches during the Russian occupation is still scanty, but Bishop Jozan who died in 1946 has now been succeeded by Bishop Alexis Kiss, elected in September, 1946.

Switzerland.—A considerable proportion of Swiss Protestants are Liberal Christians, although the influence of the Barthian theology during the recent years has undoubtedly had an adverse effect upon the numbers of those avowing liberal views. The liberal congregations are found in both the German and the French speaking cantons, notably in Zurich, St. Gall, Basle and Geneva. The Free Christian Union (Verein fur Freies Christentum, Union Suisse pour le christianisme libéral), with many branches and a large membership, an association within the state church, which itself has a non-credal basis, is the official organization and focal point of action. Popular literature and periodicals issued under its auspices have assisted greatly in spreading the knowledge of liberal doctrines, while more scholarly books and journals frequently appear. The University of Basle has a number of liberal professors, and the cathedral of Geneva represents a long liberal tradition, recently assured continuance by the appointment after some controversy of a young minister of that persuasion. The International Congress of Religious Liberals held its meetings in Geneva in 1905 ; the International Association for Religious Freedom held a delegate Conference at St. Gall in August, 1932, and a similar conference in August, 1947, at Berne.

THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR LIBERAL CHRISTIANITY AND RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

(Incorporated under Dutch Law).

HEADQUARTERS (temporary) : 40 Laan Copes van Cattenburch, The Hague, Holland.

The purposes of the Association are—

"(a) to bring into closer union the historic liberal Churches, the liberal element in all churches, and isolated congregations and workers for religious freedom ;

"(b) to draw into the same fellowship free religious groups throughout the world which are in essential agreement with our ways of thinking ;

"(c) to open and maintain communication with free Christian groups in all lands who are striving to unite religion and liberty, and to increase fellowship and co-operation among them."

On 25th May, 1900, "The International Council of Unitarian and other Liberal Religious Thinkers and Workers" was organized at Boston U.S.A. In 1910 its title was changed to "The International Congress of Free Christians and other Religious Liberals."

Meetings were held in London (1901), Amsterdam (1903), Geneva (1905), Boston, U.S.A. (1907), Berlin (1910) and Paris (1913). It was intended to hold a meeting in London in 1916, but the War made this impossible. The seventh meeting was held in Boston, U.S.A., October, 1920, in connexion with the Tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Founders of New England. The Congress met in Leiden in 1922, and in Prague in 1927.

In 1930 the administrative headquarters were transferred from London to Amsterdam and later to Utrecht. A small but representative gathering of delegates from America, Britain, and various Continental lands met at Arnhem (Holland) in 1930 and drafted a Constitution which was revised and adopted by a Delegate Conference held at St. Gall in 1932, when the present title was also adopted.

The first full Congress of the new Association was held at Copenhagen in 1934, and the second at Oxford in 1937. Theological Conferences were also held in 1936 at Arnhem, and at Bentveld in 1938. As soon as possible after the end of the war a representative delegate conference was summoned to re-establish contacts and to plan the future of the Association, at Cambridge, in July, 1946. A still larger conference was held at Berne in the summer of 1947. The first full post-war Congress was held in Amsterdam in 1949, and the second in Oxford in 1952, after which came Belfast 1955, Chicago 1958, Davos, 1961.

The present Officers of the Association are:—President, Dr. H. Faber, Vice-President, Rev. Dr. H. S. Carter; Joint Secretaries, Dr. S. van der Woude and Mr. A. F. Leemans; Treasurer, Mr. R. J. Advocaat. Individual Members Secretary, Rev. K. Twinn, Harrison Parsonage, Bolton Road, Atherton, Manchester.

THE BRITISH COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

This inter-denominational organization was brought into existence in 1942 on a creedal basis identical with that proposed for the World Council of Churches (then in process of formation), viz. " A fellowship of Churches which accept the Lord Jesus Christ as God and Saviour." The formal invitation to join the World Council, on condition of accepting the theological basis, had already, for obvious reasons, been respectfully declined by the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches. The British Council, however, was set up by the amalgamation of various pre-existing organizations—the Commission on International Fellowship and Social Responsibility, representing the " Life and Work " Movement, and the corresponding body representing " Faith and Order." The former was itself the result of a previous amalgamation of inter-denominational bodies which were free from theological commitments, and of which the General Assembly had been a member ; but when it was proposed that these bodies should be united in a British Council of Churches on a theological basis, both the Society of Friends and the General Assembly intimated their inability to join the new organization. This resulted in the adoption of an amendment to the conditions of membership, consisting in the addition of the words " with the understanding that any body which has hitherto been represented on the Commission " (i.e., the Commission on International Friendship and Social Responsibility) " shall continue in membership of the Council, if so willing, even though it does not itself accept the Basis." On these terms the Society of Friends and the General Assembly were included in the British Council, along with the larger Protestant denominations which accept the basis.

SECTION X

LEGAL INFORMATION

Births, Registration.—Parents are required to register the birth of their children at the Registrar's office for the district in which the child is born within six weeks. Penalty of 40s. for default. There is no charge for such registration.

Deaths, Registration.—Deaths must be registered within five days. The nearest relative present at the death or during the last illness is the responsible person, or should there be no relative present, then the occupier of the house, or the person who causes the body to be buried. Penalty for default, 40s. The doctor's certificate must be produced to the Registrar at the time of registration ; and the Registrar's certificate to the officiating minister at the interment.

Registration of Chapels.—All places of worship should be registered. Registration is effected by giving a certificate in writing that the Chapel is used for worship to the Superintendent-Registrar of the District on a form which he will supply on application. The fee on registration is 2s. 6d., and a certified copy of the Registrar-General's certificate of the registration can be obtained for a further payment of 2s. 6d. When a place of worship is entirely rebuilt, either on the same or another site, the old certificate of registration must be cancelled and the place re-registered. The registration can apply to all rooms having an internal communication, even though not under one roof. A rough sketch plan should be supplied to the Registrar on a new registration ; and alterations, shutting off rooms or opening new rooms, should be notified to him.

Disturbance of Religious Worship.—Statutory penalties can be enforced for this offence if in a certified place of worship, churchyard or burial ground.

Registration for Marriages.—A place of worship must, before marriages can legally be celebrated therein, in addition to being registered as above mentioned, be separately registered for the performance of marriages. Before registering a place for marriages, the Superintendent Registrar of the District must be satisfied by certificate that the building has been used for worship for one year previous to the application. A fee of £3 is payable, and the Registration is advertised in the London Gazette and in a local newspaper. When a chapel ceases to be used for worship or is rebuilt, the Certificate is cancelled, and in that case it requires to be renewed if worship is resumed. When a congregation has removed from one chapel to another, and the old building has ceased to be used as a place of public worship, the Certificate of the old chapel may be cancelled, and the new building registered for the solemnization of marriages, without waiting for a year to elapse. All necessary forms and information will be supplied by the Superintendent-Registrar of the District.

Marriages : England and Wales.—Marriages may be solemnized in any registered building, or in a district registry office either by Certificate or by Licence. Consent of the minister must be obtained or of one of the trustees, owners, deacons or managers. If by Certificate, notice (accompanied with fee of 1s. for entry in "Marriage Notice Book") must be given by one of the parties, if both live in one district, to the Superintendent-Registrar, on form furnished for purpose, containing solemn declaration of absence of impediment to intended marriage, certifying that both of the parties have dwelt at least seven days in district, and must be signed in presence of Registrar or deputy ; but if parties live in different districts, notices must be sent to respective Superintendent-Registrars. Twenty-one clear days after entry of notice the Certificate (for which 1s. 6d. must be paid) will be granted on application.

If by Licence, though both parties do not dwell in same district, only one need give notice, certifying that he or she has resided at least fifteen days in district, though marriage may be held in district of either party. Both parties, however, must be in England at the time of notice, though only one clear day is required (unless marriage takes place in Ireland with some one there, when seven days are required) between notice and granting of licence. Cost of Licence, £2 5s.

If "usual place of worship" at which ceremony is desired, be out of district of either's dwelling, by inserting words :—" Such building being usual place of worship of said——," Certificate will be granted accordingly.

The marriage must take place in registered building specified in Certificate, with open doors, between the hours of eight in the morning and six in the evening, within three calendar months from day of entry of notice, in presence of Registrar (or his deputy, or, if the Marriage Act of 1898 has been adopted, in the presence of the Authorized Person) and two or more credible witnesses besides minister, if any. At some part of the ceremony the words must be said:—"I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I——— may not be joined in matrimony to———"; and each must say to other : "I call upon these persons here present to witness that I——— do take thee ——— to be my lawful wedded wife (or husband) " ; without which it is not a marriage.

Registrar's fee for attending marriage by Certificate, 7s. 6d. ; by Licence, 15s. ; for Copy of Certificate, 3s. 9d.

By the Marriage Act, 1898 (61 & 62 Vic. c. 58), marriage may be solemnized in the registered building named in the Superintendent's Certificate without the presence of any Registrar, but in the presence of such duly Authorized Person as mentioned in the Statute. The Statute provides for the notices and forms required to be given or complied with and the register to be kept. It is important to note that, when a Minister who has been appointed Authorized Person for a Registered Building ceases to be a Minister and Authorized Person for that Building the person who succeeds him as Minister does not thereby become Authorized Person and entitled to act as such, until his appointment has been certified to the Registrar General by the Trustees or other Governing Body in precisely the same manner as in the case of his predecessor ; he should therefore await a notification from the Registrar General that his appointment has been duly registered.

Marriage with a Deceased Wife's Sister was legalized by Act of Parliament, August, 1907, and with a Deceased Brother's Widow, July, 1921, or with a nephew or niece by marriage or uncle or aunt by marriage, July, 1931.

After a marriage at a Registrar's office, the religious service may be performed by the minister on production of the marriage certificate and payment of the customary fees, but such service is not to be recorded in the parish register of marriages.

Marriages : N. Ireland.—Marriages according to the form and discipline of the Presbyterian Church may be celebrated—(1) By Special Licence; (2) By licence ; or (3) After publication of banns.

(1) In the first case at least one of the parties must be a member of a church in the Synod or Presbytery of the Moderator who grants the Special Licence.

(2) Ordinary Licences can be granted when only one of the parties is a Presbyterian. Each Presbytery is authorized to appoint, subject to the approval of the governor of Northern Ireland, ministers to issue licences for marriage in meeting-houses duly certified.

Anyone wishing to obtain a Licence must, seven days before the licence shall be delivered to him or her, produce to the licencing minister a certificate from the minister of the congregation of which he or she shall be a member and has been a member for at least one calendar month preceding.

(3) When both parties are Presbyterians, marriages may be celebrated after the banns have been proclaimed for three Sundays in the Presbyterian meeting-houses attended by each of the parties.

Marriages : Scotland.—The ceremony can be performed by the minister of any denomination, in any place, at any time, with or without any particular form. The law has been amended so as to put an end, as far as possible, to what were known as "irregular" marriages. Legal notice must now be given to the Registrar of the parish or district, the names of the contracting parties being exhibited for seven days on the notice board outside the office of the Registrar in whose district the parties have resided for at least fifteen days immediately preceding. At the expiration of the period named a Certificate will be granted and on this the marriage may take place either in a church or elsewhere. By an act that came into force in 1940 this same procedure may now be followed in the case of marriages taking place in a Registrar's office.

Burial Act, 1880.—Wherever there is a Cemetery there is no difficulty in the way of a Nonconformist minister conducting a funeral service. The Act of Parliament of 1890 authorizes any person responsible for the burial of a body to give forty-eight hours' notice to the incumbent of the parish in which the death took place, or in his absence to his deputy, that it is intended that the body shall be buried in the churchyard of the parish without the Church of England service. The Act allowed a like notice to be given to the chaplain of a parochial cemetery if a burial was intended to be made there; but the Burial Act, 1900 (63 & 64 Vic. c. 15, s. 8) requires that in the last-mentioned case the notice shall be given at such time and to such person as the burial authority directs. It is therefore necessary in that case to inquire at the office of the cemetery, and to give such notice as the rules of the cemetery prescribe.

In the case of burials in churchyards the form of notice is specified in the Act of 1880, and the requirements are as follows :—

The Notice must be in writing ; must be endorsed on the outside

"Notice of Burial"; must be signed with the name and address of the person giving it, and be in the form, or to the effect, following :—

I , of , being the relative [or friend, or legal representative, as the case may be, describing the relation, if a relative] having the charge of, or being responsible for, the burial of A. B., of , who died at , in the parish of , on the day of , do hereby give you notice that it is intended by me that the body of the said A. B. shall be buried within the [here describe the churchyard or graveyard in which the body is to be buried] on the day of , at the hour of without the performance in the manner prescribed by law of the service for the burial of the dead according to the rites of the Church of England; and I give this notice pursuant to the Burial Laws Amendment Act, 1880.

To the Rector [or as the case may be] of

NOTE.—While it is desirable to keep to this form, the person receiving it will not be at liberty to object to its sufficiency, because the exact words are not used; the Act only requiring that the notice shall be in the form, "or to the effect," of the above.

In the case of a churchyard, the notice is to be left at the house of the clergyman, or in his absence, of the clergyman in charge of the parish, or of any person appointed to receive such notices. It is not necessary that the clergyman should consent to a burial under the Act. He can object only to the time proposed, and do that only in certain cases. Unless it be otherwise mutually arranged, burials must be between 10 and 6 o'clock from April 1st to October 1st, and between 10 and 3 from October 1st to April 1st.

A burial may take place either without "any religious service" or "with such Christian and orderly religious service" at the grave as the person responsible for the burial may think fit, and "any person or persons"—whether ministers or laymen—who may be invited or authorized, may conduct such service, or take part in any religious act thereat. The words "Christian service" include "every religious service used by any church, denomination, or person, professing to be Christian."

The person having charge of a burial under the Act must, either on the same day or the day after, send to the incumbent or his representative —or, in the case of a Cemetery, to the clerk—a certificate of the burial in prescribed form.

I , of , the person having the charge of or, being responsible for the burial of the deceased, do hereby certify that on the day of , 19 , , aged , was buried in the churchyard [or graveyard] of the parish [or district] of

To the Rector [or as the case may be] of

The Act of 1880 does not entitle anyone to be buried in any place in which he would have no right to be buried if the Act had not passed. Neither does it affect previously existing regulations or authority in regard to the position of graves, inscriptions on gravestones, etc.

Burial Act, 1900.—This Act modifies the Act of 1880 in the case of the consecrated parts of parochial cemeteries. The Act does not deal with churchyards. In future, Burial Boards "may, if they think fit," apply to have a portion of the cemetery consecrated; formerly they were compelled to have a portion consecrated. Burial Boards are no longer compelled to erect two cemetery chapels, one for Anglicans and one for Nonconformists. They may erect any chapel "they may consider necessary"; but any chapel so erected "shall not be consecrated or reserved for the exclusive use of any denomination." The payment of fees to an incumbent of a parish will no longer be required "except for services rendered by him." In future, when a Nonconformist minister officiates in the consecrated part of a parochial cemetery, he, and not the clergyman, will receive the fee. These provisions apply to cemeteries opened after the passing of the Act. In the case of cemeteries already existing the old fees were continued for fifteen years, that is until 1915.

Cremation.—This is regulated by the Cremation Act, 1902, and the Regulations made by the Home Secretary in pursuance of that Act. It is no longer necessary to leave written evidence of a wish to be cremated; in the absence of a contrary declaration, the declaration of an Executor or member of the family is sufficient. Two medical certificates of death are required. Forms and full information can be obtained from the Secretary or Superintendent of a Crematorium.

Charitable Trusts.—The Charities Act 1960 consolidates the law relating to Charitable Trusts, the earlier Acts being repealed wholly or in part. The Act of 1960 gives the Charity Commissioners very extensive jurisdiction over most Charitable Trusts, including those relating to chapels and their manses etc. and charities for the advancement of religion, though places of worship themselves are not required to be registered in the Register of Charities which the Act sets up. The Charity Commission are empowered to enquire into the management of Charities; to oblige their trustees to render accounts; to advise trustees on the administration of the trusts; to authorize or direct legal proceedings to be taken; to authorize the granting of leases and making of improvements and the raising of money by mortgage; to authorize trustees to remove the officers of any trust; to authorize the sale, exchange or partition of lands; to remove and appoint trustees; to institute enquiries concerning Charities and to call for documents. The new Act greatly extends the powers of the High Court and of the Charity Commissioners to settle schemes for the administration of a charity and the application of its property where its original purposes can for various reasons no longer be carried out. It also makes it obligatory on charity trustees to apply for a Scheme for the administration of trust property where the existing trusts are no longer effective. The exemption from the necessity to obtain Charity Commissioners' consent to the sale etc. of a registered Chapel in which worship is still carried on no longer exists; on the other hand, where the B. & F.U.A. (Incorporated) is a Trustee of a Church or its Manse etc., it is permissible to sell (under certain conditions which must be strictly complied with) without obtaining that consent, by virtue of special exemption granted by the Charity Commission. Educational Charities come within the scope of the Act but are under the jurisdiction of the Minister of Education who is given many powers similar to those of the Charity Commissioners.

Dissenters' Chapels Act, 1844.—This Act has been repealed by the Charities Act 1960, but without prejudice, in the case of Trusts of a Chapel taking effect prior to July 1844, to its provisions as to 25 years' usage being, in certain circumstances, conclusive evidence as to the legality of the doctrines taught there.

National Insurance Act, 1946.—This comprehensive Act, which came into full operation on July 5th, 1948, supersedes the various earlier Acts dealing with National Health Insurance, Old Age Pensions, Unemployment Insurance, and Workmen's Compensation. As the new Act applies in some measure to everyone, its provisions have been fully and publicly made known, and need not be summarized here. It has been necessary, however, for religious denominations to secure a ruling from the Ministry of National Insurance concerning the category, or categories, in which ministers of religion are to be placed—whether "employed persons" or "self-employed persons." The official ruling, applicable to all denominations, is as follows :—

Ministers of Religion engaged in normal ministerial duties in charge of a congregation, or congregations, are to be placed in the self-employed class, Class 2. Ministers appointed to administrative posts at denominational headquarters, or to full-time posts on the teaching staff of a theological college, are properly to be regarded as employed under contract of service and insurable in the employed class, Class 1, unless in a particular instance there are special circumstances whereby the terms of appointment are such as to negative the existence of contract of service.

Oaths Act, 1888.—This Act enacts that every person upon objecting to being sworn, and stating, as the ground of such objection, either that he has no religious belief, or that the taking of an oath is contrary to his religious belief, shall be permitted to make his solemn affirmation instead of taking an oath, in all places and for all purposes where an oath is or shall be required by law, which affirmation shall be of the same force and effect as if he had taken the oath. Every such affirmation shall be as follows :—" I, A. B., do solemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm," and then proceed with the words of the oath prescribed by law, omitting any words of imprecation or calling to witness. If any person to whom an oath is administered desires to swear with uplifted hand in the form and manner in which an oath is usually administered in Scotland, he shall be permitted to do so, and the oath shall be administered to him in such form and manner without further question. By the Act of 1909, an alteration in the manner of administering oaths is authorized.

Rates and Taxes, Exemption from.—Income Tax is not chargeable on Chapel properties so far as they are used, or the rents or profits are applied, for charitable purposes, e.g., if used solely for religious purposes. Where manses or other Church properties are let by the church to the minister, or others, and rent is paid to the Church, Schedule A Tax can be reclaimed.

Rates are not payable in respect of premises exclusively appropriated for public religious worship and duly certified for such purpose. Very often some profit is derived from lettings and rates are payable though the profit goes to a charitable object, but a nominal assessment may be agreed. It is difficult to say what use of a chapel or school renders it liable to rates. User for Sunday or infant schools, or for charitable education of the poor does not do so.

Workmen's Compensation Acts.—So far as the purposes of this Year Book are concerned, these Acts are now superseded by the provision for Industrial Insurance in the National Insurance Act, 1946 (see above).

Leasehold Enfranchisement.—The Places of Worship (Enfranchisement) Act, (1920). Under this Act all religious bodies will be able in most cases to obtain a secure tenure of the property used as a place of worship which they hold on lease by purchasing the absolute freehold interest, subject to the payment of fair compensation.

Ministers' Income Tax.—Where a clergyman or minister of any religious denomination is obliged to reside in a manse, he is not assessable on the annual value or on the outgoings paid for him. In cases where he may occupy a residence and either pays rent therefor, or occupies it rent free, but has the right to let the property, if he so desires, he is assessable on the annual value, and on the outgoings paid for him (if any), but he is entitled to require that the annual value of the house, after deducting therefrom the amount of any annual sum payable in respect of such house, whether paid by the Minister or the Trustees, shall be treated as "earned income."

In this section, the expression "annual sum" means any yearly interest, annuity, rent, rent charge, fee farm rent, rent service, quit rent, feu-duty, or other annual payment reserved or charged upon any lands, tenements, hereditaments, or heritages.

A minister may claim deductions in respect of—

(1) Any expenses incurred by him wholly exclusively and necessarily in the performance of his duty as a Minister.

Under this paragraph a Minister may claim deductions for :—

(a) Travelling expenses necessarily incurred by the Minister in performing his duty of pastoral visitation.

Under this head would be included bus and tram fares, or the running cost and wear and tear (proportionate to the use thereof for official purposes) of such means of locomotion belonging to the Minister as motor car or bicycle where the circumstances or size of the Minister's district necessitated the employment of such means for the proper performance of his duties (e.g. where the Minister has pastoral charge of two or more village churches).

(b) Out-of-pocket payment for stamps, stationery, telephone, telegrams, etc., incurred in the performance by the Minister of his duties.

(c) Payments for :—

Rates—One-quarter general and water rates.

Fire, etc., Insurance—One-quarter.

Lighting and heating the study.

Robes—cost of repair, cleaning and renewals.

Maid—part cost of wages, insurance, laundry, uniform, and board and lodging where provided.

Books and Sermons, but as regards books the cost of replacement only.

It is important that records of the expenses under the headings (a), (b) and (c) should be kept by the Minister, but where no records have been kept in the past it is suggested that the claim might be based upon a reasonable estimate of the expenses incurred, and this could be discussed with the Inspector of Taxes.

(2) Where the Minister pays rent for a dwelling house, or is in the occupation of a dwelling house but pays no rent therefor, and uses any part of such house mainly and substantially for the purpose of his duty as a Minister, he may claim as an expense a corresponding part of the rent or annual value of the house, not exceeding one-quarter, but this does not apply where he is obliged to reside in the house, by virtue of his office.

(3) Locum tenens during Illness—Where a Minister is incapacitated through illness from performing his duties, the cost necessarily incurred and paid by him in providing a locum tenens may be claimed as a deduction. If the cost of vacation " supplies " is borne by him, he may likewise claim a deduction.

PERFORMING RIGHTS AND ENTERTAINMENT TAX

It is the legal duty of all persons promoting public entertainments, or those allowing their premises to be used for such purposes, to obtain permission from copyright-owners before using any works of which the copyright has not yet run out. This applies to all works, whether dramatic, operatic, vocal or instrumental or mechanical, except where it is definitely stated that the work may be performed without fee.

In the case of dramatic and operatic works, permission should be obtained beforehand from the author or his agent, who can be approached through the publisher. Where a fee is charged, this should be paid before the day of the performance.

For almost all vocal, instrumental, or mechanical music other than operettas, cantatas, musical comedies produced in their entirety application must be made to the Performing Right Society, 33 Margaret Street, W.1., an organization consisting of the majority of publishers, composers and lyric-writers of this country and affiliated with similar organizations throughout the world. When applying for an annual licence for their Hall, secretaries of congregations on the Roll of the General Assembly should state clearly that they are applying under the agreement between the Society and the General Assembly, if they wish to obtain the advantage of the special terms arranged.

As the Society controls the public use of over 90 per cent. of the music published in this country, it is very difficult to run a concert to-day entirely on non-copyright items.

The Society states that it does not wish to interfere with devotional services in churches and chapels and, though legally entitled to do so, does not propose to claim a fee for music used therein.

It is suggested that a performance is " in public " when money is taken for entrance, or a collection is made, or when strangers are present with or without payment—in most cases, that is, except where the gathering is small, and confined strictly to members of the congregation or society concerned, and where there is no money paid.

Entertainments Duty is charged on payments for admission as a spectator or member of an audience to an entertainment, and unless the Commissioners of Customs and Excise have authorized other arrangements tickets of admission shall be stamped with a stamp denoting that the duty has been paid, and no person paying for admission shall be admitted without such a ticket.

An "Entertainment" includes any exhibition, performance, amusement, game or sport to which persons are admitted for payment.

There are, however, a number of exemptions.

Duty shall not be charged (or in some cases, shall be repaid) where the Commissioners are satisfied :

(a) that the whole of the takings are devoted to philanthropic or charitable purposes without any charge on the takings for expenses. (Form E.D. 12) or

(b) that the entertainment has been promoted by a society or institution of a permanent character established or conducted solely or partly for philanthropic or charitable purposes, or by two or more such societies or institutions acting in combination, and that the whole of the net proceeds of the entertainment are devoted to philanthropic or charitable purposes. (Form E.D. 40) or

(c) that the whole of the net proceeds are devoted to philanthropic or charitable purposes, and that the whole expenses do not exceed 50 per cent of the receipts. "Receipts" in this respect means not only admission money but also e.g. receipts from sale of programmes, refreshments etc., In such cases either the duty must be paid and repayment claimed subsequently, or an agreed sum must be previously deposited, which will be paid on production to the Commissioners of satisfactory accounts and receipts from the benefiting charities. (Form E.D. 14) or

(d) that the entertainment is of a wholly educational character. (Form E.D. 23).

Exemption of Amateur Entertainments.

The Finance Act, 1949, Section 10, now provides for exemption from duty "any entertainment which is held on or after the 31st day of July, 1949, and consists of one or more of the following items, that is to say—

(a) a stage play ;
(b) a ballet (whether a stage play or not) ;
(c) a performance of music (whether vocal or instrumental) ;
(d) a lecture ;
(e) a recitation ;
(f) an eisteddfod ;

where the Commissioners are satisfied that the entertainment is provided by a society, institution or committee which is not conducted or established for profit and that the entertainment is an amateur one."

In all cases where exemption is claimed, prior application must be made to the local Collector of Customs and Excise, or to the Secretary, Customs and Excise, City Gate House, 39/45 Finsbury Square, London, E.C.2., not less than fourteen days before the date of the entertainment. Forms of application for return of duty, etc., can be obtained from the same sources. Unless exemption is obtained before the entertainment, duty must be paid.

Where members pay an annual subscription which admits to entertainments or lectures it has been held that a proper proportion of the subscription must be considered to be paid in respect of admission to any particular entertainment and to be liable to duty. But if the proportion as determined by the Commissioners is not more than twopence it would seem that no duty is payable.

It is advisable that in all cases where an entertainment is to be given and a charge for admission made, the local office of Customs and Excise, or the Headquarters office, should be informed well in advance and the exact position as to liability to Entertainments Duty ascertained.

THIRD PARTY LEGAL LIABILITY INSURANCE

The Council of the General Assembly has taken out a Policy in respect of all Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schools and/or Church Halls in England, Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales upon the current list of congregations in our Year Book, the cover being as follows :—

This Policy is to cover the Assured's Legal Liability in respect of Third Party Claims involving personal injuries, or accidental damage to property, arising from defects in the premises, or properties or furnishings, and negligence of employees or any person for which the Church Authorities may be responsible, including indemnity in respect of the liability of the Assured in connection with Sunday School Treats, Excursions and Outings and Legal Liability for injuries to persons and damage to property as the result of panic following fire or the alarm of fire.

Excluding all Liability arising in connection with organized sports or games other than sports and games during Sunday School Treats and Outings.

Limit any one accident £25,000 unlimited during the year of Insurance. Law costs payable in addition.

This insurance is in respect of all Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schools and/or Church Halls in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, upon the current list of Congregations in the year book of General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches, extending to cover unpaid officials of the Churches described hereon such as members of Committees, Secretaries and Treasurers.

It is further agreed that this Policy indemnifies the Assured in respect of their premises which may be let to Third Parties irrespective of the purpose for which such premises may be let.

This Policy does not cover claims covered by any other Policy.

The policy does not cover (i) Workmen's Compensation ; (ii) Damage to Assured's own property and buildings ; (iii) Injury or damage directly or indirectly caused by fire and/or explosion except such as is specifically mentioned above.

Congregations are asked to make contributions of 10*s.* 6*d. per annum towards the heavy cost of this policy.*

APPOINTMENT OF NEW TRUSTEES

This is now to be effected either under the Trustee Act 1925, or in accordance with the expressed provisions of the Trust Deed, or the provisions of the Charities Act, 1960. The latter Act repealed the "Trustee Appointment

Acts 1850 to 1890" mentioned in previous editions of this Year Book, except to the extent that the provisions of those Acts may still be applicable in respect of certain Charitable Trusts in existence prior to 1960.

Before deciding on the method of appointment of new Trustees legal advice should be obtained.

If none of the above methods of appointment is applicable resort should be had to the powers of the Charity Commissioners.

The B. & F.U.A. Incorporated may be available as a Trustee, with consent (see p. 116). It is a corporate body and can act either as a Managing Trustee or jointly with other Managing Trustees and can continue to act in that capacity when all the other Managing Trustees have died or retired. It may act as a custodian Trustee; in that event it will have no managerial powers; the church property and/or investments will be vested in it alone, the Trusts being administered and the property managed by persons appointed Managing Trustees. The appointment of the Association as Custodian Trustee secures that the Deeds are not lost as often happens when individuals act as Trustees.

MODEL TRUST DEED

This is no longer printed in the Year Book but may be had on application to the B. & F.U.A. Incorporated at Essex Hall.

FORMS OF BEQUEST TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Form of Gift of Money by Will

I give to the Society now known as the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches, the sum of £.....free of all death duties, and the receipt of the Treasurer or Secretary of such Society for the time being shall be a sufficient discharge to my Executors.

Form of Gift of Land or Houses by Will

I devise to the Society now known as the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches free of all death duties my freehold house (field etc., describe the premises) Upon Trust for its general purposes and I direct that the death duties payable in respect thereof shall be charged upon and payable out of my residuary estate in exoneration of the said property.

Note.—It is desirable that a Will giving house property or land to a Charity should be settled by a Solicitor.

DEEDS OF COVENANT AND THE SIMPLEX ENVELOPE SCHEME

Preliminary.

Any person who subscribes to the funds of a Church under the Simplex Envelope Scheme can do so under Deed of Covenant. There is nothing in the Income Tax Acts which prevents a subscription under Deed from being paid by weekly or other instalments. The actual procedure to be followed by the Treasurer is, however, slightly different from that applicable to annual subscriptions.

The Deed of Covenant.

No special form of Deed of Covenant is necessary, but it is advisable (though not essential) to indicate that the subscription is paid weekly. Thus, the following is a suitable wording :—

ANNUITY DEED IN FAVOUR OF
(Name of Church or other Charitable Trust)

I, (full name of disponor)
of (full address)
hereby covenant with the Trustees for the time being of (name of Church) that for a period of seven years from 6th April, 19....., or during my lifetime (whichever period may be the shorter), I will pay to the said Trustees annually such a sum out of my general fund of taxed income as, after deduction of Income Tax at the standard rate for the time being in force, will leave a net yearly sum of (amount of subscription).

Such sum to be payable by weekly instalments.

IN WITNESS whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this (date in words) day of 19 .

Signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of.....

(Signature of Disponor)

Witness's signature .....

Address ..... (SEAL)

Occupation .....

Period Covered by Deed.

During a normal year, the fifty-two weekly instalments due under the Simplex Scheme will be covered by the Deed, which should be made out for the total of these, so far as it is ultimately receivable by the Church. Thus, if a subscriber pays 2/6 per week, 2/- to Church funds and 3d. each to the District Association and the General Assembly, then the Deed should be made out for 52 x 2/- = £5 4s. 0d., since the balance of 6d. per week is ultimately paid over to the District Association and the General Assembly. These two may also be covered by separate Deeds made out in their favour if the annual amounts are sufficient to warrant it. One Deed however will cover subscriptions to several funds if they are all ultimately received by the Church. About once in four years, a fifty-third payment will be made within the year, but this should be ignored for the purposes of the Deed.

Arrears made good after the 5th April will count as if they had been paid when due.

When a Deed is entered into, it must often happen that it is offered on a date in the middle of the fiscal year, and the Treasurer is then in a difficulty regarding the date for the Deed to commence. If the 6th April is not too far ahead, it is probably best to use that date and ignore (for Covenant purposes) subscriptions to be paid before then. If a new subscriber offers a Deed on joining, it may be possible to persuade him to make up arrears from 6th April last, and use that date. But when continuing subscribers offer a Deed, this cannot be done, as no payment made before a Deed is entered into is effective under it. In such a case, sometimes the only thing to do is to make the Deed out for seven years from the day before the next Sunday, so as to cover all future subscriptions. This, however, produces awkward "broken periods" for tax purposes in the years in which such a Deed commences or expires, and these "broken periods" will continue with succeeding Deeds.

The wise Treasurer will therefore always canvass for Deeds in March, so as to be able to make them effective from the following 6th April.

Certificates of Deduction of Tax.

These should be made out on the ordinary Form R185, not Form R185(AP) which is for annual payments. Insert in col. 1 on the back "Annuity under Deed dated.....", in col. 2 the words "My taxed Income", in col. 3 the gross equivalent of the payment for the year, in col. 4 the tax deducted, and in col. 5 "Year ended 5th April, 19..... : payable weekly". (See "Charitable Subscriptions under Deed of Covenant", by C. L. Wykes, p. 12).

The gross equivalent of the payment for the year will normally, be the annual amount covenanted for under the Deed (i.e. 52 weekly subscriptions) grossed up at the standard rate for the year, and the tax deducted will be the difference between this and the net amount. When a Deed is to come into effect from a date other than the 6th April, however, the first year's form will cover only the number of subscriptions due between that date and the 5th April next, and it is the total of these that, grossed up, forms the "gross equivalent". Similarly, when such a Deed expires, it is the total of the subscriptions from 6th April to the date of expiry which requires to be grossed up. If (as will be usual) a new Deed is entered into to be effective from the expiry date, this will require a separate Form R185 to cover the subscriptions due under it for the remainder of the fiscal year. For intermediate years, the normal procedure should be followed : each form R185 should cover a full year from the 6th April to the 5th April next.

Increase of Subscriptions.

Generally speaking, when a disponor increases his subscription, it is best to take no action until the Deed falls due for renewal, when the new one is made out for the increased amount. It is possible, however, to enter into a Deed for the amount of the increase up to the date of expiry of the old Deed and then for the full amount, provided that the latter is covered for a further seven years. Thus, if a person whose subscription was 5/- per week increased it to 10/- whilst his Deed has still four years to run, a new Deed could be offered with the wording modified on the following lines : ". . . for a period of eleven years from 6th April, 1958, . . . will leave a net yearly sum of THIRTEEN POUNDS in each of the years ending 5th April, 1959, 1960, 1961 and 1962, and TWENTY-SIX POUNDS in each of the seven ensuing years. . . ."

Liability at Reduced Rate.

Persons not liable to tax at the standard rate should not be asked to sign Deeds, as such action inevitably involves them in expense. If such a person volunteers to sign, however, it may be possible to modify his subscription so that the formula outlined on p. 11 of " Charitable Subscriptions under Deed of Covenant " can be applied.

OUR FAITH AND FELLOWSHIP

What is Religion ?

Religion, as Jesus himself affirmed, is summed up in the two great commandments—Love to God and Love to Man.

What are the essentials of the Christian Faith ?

The Fatherhood of God, the Brotherhood of Man, the Leadership of Jesus, the Victory of Good, the Kingdom of God, and the Life Eternal.

Does this constitute our Creed ?

No, for though we cherish these beliefs, we do not formulate them as a settled creed, nor claim for them the authority of a final statement of religious truth. In the conviction that the dogmatic spirit is fatal to progress, we seek no complete uniformity of religious belief, but welcome to our open fellowship all who share our spiritual ideals and practical aims.

What are our Ideals and Aims ?

(1) In things essential, Unity ; in things doubtful, Liberty ; in all things, Charity.

(2) Religious Life, not Creed, the bond of union.

(3) Freedom of reason and conscience in the search for Truth, unfettered by authority or tradition.

(4) Fellowship the wide world over, on these principles, between men of differing creeds and faiths.

What is the Liberal Religious Movement ?

A movement in all the great religions of the world, and in almost every Christian church or denomination, of those who cherish the above ideals and aims ; and with whom, therefore, Unitarians and Free Christians find themselves in close accord and harmonious fellowship.

PREFACE

Two new items will be found in this issue. The Family Holiday Conference held in the first week of August at Great Hucklow seems now to be firmly established and so it is included. The Friends of the Colleges have existed for some years and it seems fitting that they should be in the Colleges section. Entertainments duty having been abolished, this item is reduced to the small, but important note about the showing of films above 16 millimetres. We welcome to the Roll of Congregations the Strand Unitarian Church meeting at Essex Hall each Sunday evening.

The list of congregations is increased by one; there are 243 in England; 33 in Wales; 34 in Ireland; 4 in Scotland; and 20 in the Dominions and Overseas Section.

The list of ministers contains 226 names, including 17 on the Supplementary List; a decrease of two. There are 193 ministers in the British Isles of whom 52 have their names in italics, being, with a few exceptions, retired, though many of them continue to render most valuable service to our churches, which is greatly appreciated. There are 16 ministers in the Dominions of whom two are retired. There are 14 Lay Pastors, a welcome increase of 5; two have withdrawn and seven names appear for the first time. The Roll of Lay Preachers shows an increase of one to 93 despite one withdrawal and one who has qualified for ministerial status. We record with sincere regret the deaths of four ministers, all of whom were on the retired list. We welcome five ministers to the Roll; they are Verona M. Conway (G.A. Student and U.C.M.), K. Hill (U.C.M.), J. A. Storey (Congregationalist), D. G. Wigmore-Beddoes (M.C.O.) and W. P. Jenkins who returns after some years to Canada at Hamilton. There are 17 students in full-time training and 5 lay pastors attending the colleges. At U.C.M. there are 9 full-time students, 4 lay pastors and one special course; at M.C.O. there are 6 full-time students and one lay pastor and one special student; in Wales there is one student at the School of Theology at Cardiff which now takes the place of the Presbyterian College, Carmarthen, and one at Lampeter. May we stress once more the urgent need for more students for the ministry. For the 314 churches in the British Isles there are only 141 ministers on the Active List.

It is sad to have to report that again almost 100 ministers and secretaries of churches and societies have failed to return their correction slips, which inevitably means that some information may well not be correct. To all who so conscientiously send in their slips we are most grateful.

Finally, the Editor would like to express thanks to Dr. Rowe and Mr. Roy Smith who have rendered invaluable assistance in the preparation of the book, particularly in the matter of proof reading.

THE FORMATION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The Assembly was brought into existence in 1928 in the manner more fully set forth in the Preamble to the Constitution (p.13), by the amalgamation of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association (1825) and the National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congregations (1881). The objects and operations of both these organizations were taken over, so as to unify the forces of the denomination.

The importance of the new organization arises from the history of the group of Churches enrolled. In that history two tendencies can always be discerned, one expressing itself in the desire for lucid and definite theological teaching, the other in a desire for complete religious freedom. It may be maintained that there is no essential conflict between these two tendencies, but their adjustment is a matter of wisdom and statesmanship. Both appear to be vital to the spirit of the movement here represented.

Brief historical statements about the constituent organizations amalgamated in the General Assembly are given below

THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION

The British and Foreign Unitarian Association was constituted in 1825. It was formed by the amalgamation of three Societies :—(1) The Unitarian Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and the Practice of Virtue, by the Distribution of Books, founded in 1791 ; (2) The Unitarian Fund, established in 1806, which may be regarded as the most important ; and (3) The Association for Protecting the Civil Rights of Unitarians, formed in 1819. These Societies were supported by Unitarians in all parts of the country, as individual subscribers. By far the greater number of the supporters were members of Unitarian and other Non-subscribing Churches, and the support of such Churches was taken to be an essential part of the work of the Societies. The amalgamation of the three Societies was carried out in a spirit of mutual goodwill, and the Association formed from their union gradually became a national and international missionary organization. From the beginning it was in touch with kindred movements in the United States and in India, and soon afterwards (through the medium of communications in Latin) with the ancient Unitarian Church in Transylvania. At the time of its centenary, which was celebrated in June, 1925, its operations covered the British Isles, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, and several European countries.

The objects of the Association (see p. 20) may be summed up as the diffusion and support of the principles of Unitarian Christianity, including the formation and assistance of congregations which are free from a creedal basis, and the publication and circulation of appropriate literature.

In pursuance of these objects the Association assisted in establishing and maintaining Congregations, especially in the early and difficult stages of their growth ; it contributed to the support of Ministers, lecturers, and missionary preachers ; it held conferences and meetings annually in London and different parts of the country ; it issued books and pamphlets dealing with the broader aspects of religious thought and life, in addition to direct expositions of Unitarian Christianity. Many thousands of pamphlets were freely distributed in response to applications from Congregations, and inquirers in all parts of the world. The Association was supported by subscriptions of individuals, collections from Congregations, sales of publications, and income from investments. The range of its operations was dependent upon the generosity of Congregations and individual Unitarians, and others interested in the objects which it endeavoured to promote.

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE

The National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing or Kindred Congregations was initiated by the British and Foreign Unitarian Association in 1881, on the lines of a similar organization in the United States, its intention being to bring together for purposes of consultation and mutual stimulus representatives of all the Churches in this country which stand for freedom in matters of faith. Beginning with meetings at Liverpool in 1882, the Conference met triennially until the War broke the sequence, which was resumed in 1920. After 1882, the places of meeting have been Birmingham, Leeds, London, Manchester, Sheffield, Leicester, Liverpool, Oxford, Bolton, Birmingham, London, Leeds, Manchester, Sheffield (1926).

In 1898, the Committee of the Conference, being constructed on a representative basis, was " instructed to hold regular meetings to consult and when considered advisable to take action in matters affecting the well-being and interests of the Congregations and Societies which form the Conference " ; and in various ways this was done, to the advantage of our Churches generally, and with the endorsement of the Conference itself at its General Meetings.

During the forty-six years of its existence the National Conference inaugurated various Funds and Committees, nearly all of which are still actively at work. In other cases it took over work already in progress, or collaborated in different undertakings. Mention may be made of the Sustentation Fund (1882), Ministers' Pension and Insurance Fund (1902), Subvention Fund (1920), six regional Advisory Committees, Ministerial Settlements Board, Committee of the Supply of Ministers, Social Service Union, Aged Ministers and Widows Fund, Contributory Insurance Fund, and (in co-operation with others) the compilation of "Hymns of Worship." The Annual Recognition Service for Ministers who have settled among us was also established by the Conference.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

PREAMBLE, CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

WHEREAS after the passing of the Act of Uniformity in 1662 and the Act of Toleration in 1689, Congregations of Protestant Dissenters were established in many parts of England and Wales, and Meeting Houses were put in trust for the Public Worship of God without restriction of doctrine ; and WHEREAS many of these Congregations, mostly under the name " Presbyterian," preserved their liberty through vicissitudes of doctrinal development, and under grave civil and religious disabilities, and later became known as " Unitarian " or " Free Christian " or under some other kindred designation, their rights as a denomination being maintained as one of the Three Denominations having privilege of audience with the King, and as alone legally entitled to use the name " English Presbyterian"; and WHEREAS a similar course of development took place in many of the Irish Presbyterian Congregations, which after secession from the General Assembly took the name of " Non-subscribing Presbyterian," some of them being known later as " Unitarian " or " Free Christian "; and WHEREAS the Unitarian Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and The Practice of Virtue by the Distribution of Books (established 1791), the Unitarian Fund (established for missionary propaganda in 1806), the Unitarian Association for the Protection of the Civil Rights of Unitarians (established in 1819), and the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, (established in 1825), into which these three bodies were merged, have given moral and intellectual and financial support to many of the said Congregations down to the present time, besides founding many other Congregations on the same open trust ; and WHEREAS, the Sunday School having become an important part of the life and work of the Congregations, the Sunday School Association was established in 1833, and has ever since served the interests of the Sunday Schools connected with the said Congregations ; and WHEREAS the British and Foreign Unitarian Association in 1881 initiated the establishment of the National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congregations, and has been in close relationship with it ever since ; and WHEREAS in 1883 the Sustentation Fund for the Augmentation of Ministers' Stipends was established by the National Conference, and from that date until the present time has taken over the larger portion of the work of supporting the said Congregations ; and WHEREAS in 1902 the Ministers' Pension and Insurance Fund was established by the National Conference, providing for the Ministers of the said Congregations a system of insurance for their old age and for their dependents after their death; and WHEREAS in the natural development of the operations of the National Conference there has arisen

a certain amount of duplication of effort and resources with those previously within the sole province of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association ; and WHEREAS the personnel of management in the organisations named is largely the same, and their interests are allied ; AN ATTEMPT AT UNIFICATION OF THE FORCES OF THE DENOMINATION SEEMED DESIRABLE.

WHEREFORE, in connection with the Centennial Celebration of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, the Executive Committee of the Association approached the Committee of the National Conference, suggesting that a good deal might be achieved by closer co-ordination, if not even vital union, between the Association and the Conference. The suggestion was favourably entertained, and negotiations proceeded. At the Triennial National Conference, held at Sheffield on the 12th April, 1926, the following resolution was passed :

> " That the Conference, approving of the desire of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association for more vital union, should arrange for its own Committee to appoint a small Committee to investigate the possibilities of such a scheme as outlined, to consult with the B. & F. U. A., to explore the wishes and judgment of the constituent Churches represented in the Conference, and to consider constructive proposals for consolidating and strengthening the whole work of the Denomination, and giving it one representative organization as its recognized head."

At the 101st Annual Meeting of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, held in Whit-week, 1926, the following resolution was passed :—

> "That as the National Conference has approved of the desire of the B. & F. U. A. for more vital union, and has arranged to appoint a Committee to investigate the possibilities of such a scheme as outlined, this Annual Meeting instructs the Executive Committee to continue their efforts, to consider constructive proposals for consolidating and strengthening the whole work of the Denomination and giving it one representative organization as its recognized head, and further to examine the bearings of such a union on the constitution and work of the Association."

A Joint Delegation was appointed, consisting of representatives of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association and of the National Conference. This Delegation agreed to recommend the desirability of the merging of the Association and the Conference, and auxiliary institutions as far as practicable, into a GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF UNITARIAN AND FREE CHRISTIAN CHURCHES, established on a representative basis, to carry on and develop the work which has hitherto been done by them all, thus unifying the life of the denomination. The Constitution set forth below was submitted by the Joint Delegation, with the assent of the two Committees, to a Special Meeting of the Conference on Tuesday, May 29th, 1928, and to a Special Meeting of the Association on May 30th, 1928, and adopted by both bodies.

I. Resolution adopted by the National Conference :

"That the name of the National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congregations be and is hereby changed from its existing name to 'The General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches': that the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, which has recently changed or is changing its name to 'The General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches' be amalgamated and united with the National Conference: that the Rules of the National Conference be altered and that the rules annexed hereto be and the same hereby are adopted as the Rules of the National Conference in place of the existing Rules."

II. Resolution adopted by the British and Foreign Unitarian Association:

"That the name of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association be and the same is hereby changed from its existing name to 'The General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches': that the National Conference of Unitarian. Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congregations, which has recently changed or is changing its name to 'The General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches,' be amalgamated and united with the Association: that the Rules of the Association be altered and that the Rules annexed hereto be and the same hereby are adopted as the Rules of the Association in place of the existing Rules."

2. That it is the inalienable right of every Christian to search these records of Divine Truth for his own instruction and guidance, to form his own opinions with regard to what they teach, and to worship God in sincerity, agreeably to the dictates of his own conscience, without privation, penalty or inconvenience inflicted by his fellow-men.
3. That the imposition of human Tests and Confessions of Faith, and the vain efforts of men to produce an unattainable uniformity of belief, have tended to restrict the sacred right of private judgment, and to prevent that free enquiry and discussion which are essential to the extension of religious knowledge.
4. That the teaching of Christ himself must take precedence of the doctrines of a later time, and that unity is to be sought not in uniformity of creed, but in a common standard of righteousness and obedience to the commandments which Christ himself has laid down.

SECTION III

LISTS OF CONGREGATIONS AND MINISTERS

CONGREGATIONS

The list includes all duly organized Unitarian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing congregations in Great Britain and Ireland, together with similar congregations overseas (p. 66). A few congregations not yet fully organized, and a few places of worship at present closed, are also included.

Particulars given include the location, the dates of origin, first building and present building, the hours of service, the hymn book in use, and the name and address of the Secretary. The names of the present and the recent ministers or laymen in charge of the pulpit are also given ; the postal address is added if the name is not found in the Ministers' or Lay Pastors' List. Those whose names are printed in italics are deceased. The record as a rule goes back for 30 years, or to the earliest minister still living and on the ministerial roll, whichever be the longer period.

For the meaning of abbreviations, see p. 32.

MINISTERS

The list (p. 72) includes the following :—

(1) Ministers in active charge of congregations and missions, or occupying tutorial or administrative positions in connection with the work of the churches.

(2) Ministers temporarily free from a pastorate but available for settlement (names marked with an asterisk).

(3) Ministers who have retired from active duty (names printed in italics).

Each minister's name is followed by his address, Colleges and Scholarships, degrees of approved Universities and distinctions of special merit, date of entering ministry, and Congregations served by him.

Ministers overseas are listed separately on page 95.

The lists of Ministers and Lay Pastors are revised annually by the Ministry Committee of the General Assembly.

Admission of Names

(1) The name of any qualified minister regularly appointed by a congregation or a Missionary Association connected with the General Assembly, is inserted in the list.

(2) He is described as a 'Minister,' if he (a) holds the certificate of having completed the theological curriculum at Manchester College, Oxford, the Unitarian College, Manchester, the Presbyterian College, Carmarthen, or at theological colleges of similar character in the U.S.A.; or (b) has previously been in the ministry of another denomination, or educated for that ministry, and, having satisfied the Ministry Committee respecting his fitness, has received a certificate to that effect ; or (c) having been a Lay Pastor, has received a certificate of ministerial status.

Supplementary List of Ministers

In 1952 the Assembly instituted for an experimental period of seven years a Supplementary List of Ministers which shall consist of the names of men or women who come within one or more of the following categories :—

(1) Those who have served in charge of churches as lay preachers or lay pastors for a period of not less than five years and have achieved an adequate educational status (not necessarily theological) which shall be acceptable to the Council after due consideration by the Ministry Committee.

(2) Those ministers who, having accepted full-time employment in some other vocation, have withdrawn from the regular list, but are desirous of retaining ministerial status and wish to give what service they can to our churches.

(3) Men or women of satisfactory professional status who have retired from their particular profession and have accepted the charge of churches on the Roll of the General Assembly.

Provided Always : (a) that the placing of a name on this Supplementary List shall not entitle the person concerned to any financial or other privilege for ministers on the regular Ministerial Roll ; (b) that each person on the Supplementary List shall be a subscribing (and where possible a worshipping) member of a congregation on the Roll of the General Assembly ; (c) that every application for recognition on this List shall be subject first to consideration by the Ministry Committee and then to approval by the Council of the General Assembly.

Note.—Managers of Benevolent, Fellowship, Pension, Sustentation, and other Funds are under no obligation to admit a minister to benefits simply because his name appears in the Year Book of the General Assembly.

Omission of Names

(1) On resigning his charge, any minister may withdraw his name from the list.

(2) On his becoming a minister in another denomination, the name is omitted.

(3) The names of ministers who have ceased to reside in the British Isles (apart from those in the list of Ministers overseas) are omitted, but may on their personal application be included.

(4) The names are omitted of those who have withdrawn from the ministry, or who for five years have had no active connexion with our churches or work. This rule does not apply to those who are temporarily out of service, or to those who, having been in the regular ministry, have retired by reason of age or infirmity.

(5) The names are omitted of persons who, by conduct, character, or otherwise, are in the opinion of the Council of the General Assembly, on the report of an Advisory Committee or a District Association, unfitted for continuing to hold the office of a minister.

Important to Congregations

Congregations are advised to take no steps in regard to the selection or appointment of any minister whose name does not appear in the List, or who is not entitled to receive the qualifying certificate as a minister (see p. 72)

LAY PASTORS

Lay Pastors are persons (other than ministers) in regular charge of a congregation or mission, who have applied for and obtained this status from the Ministry Committee on the recommendation of an Advisory Committee. College students who, while pursuing their studies, are in charge of congregations with the approval of the College authorities, may also, if they wish, be so described.

Those Lay Pastors who are actively preparing for ministerial status, whether in College or through the General Assembly Course of Reading and Examination (see p. 122), are indicated by a † placed before their names after they have passed the First Year Examination.

The names of Lay Pastors are usually omitted on the termination of their engagements, and reinserted on their obtaining a fresh appointment.

MINISTERS DECEASED

November, 1962, to October, 1963

Chalk.—James Percival Chalk died on 11th December, 1962 aged 75 years. Born in London he was educated at Tenterden, Hove College, St. Xavier's College, Bruges and Manchester College, Oxford. From 1913 to 1915 he was a Pioneer Preacher and for one year had charge of Stratford, London before going to Manchester College in 1915. In 1917 he left college and ministered at Banbury until 1919 when he moved to Evesham, and two years later returned to London to minister at Wandsworth for seven years. Then he went to Gee Cross, Hyde where he served for twenty years before going to his final ministry at Croydon in 1949. There he laboured under difficult circumstances and eventually led his congregation into their fine new building from the blitzed ruins of the old church. In 1960 he retired from the active ministry. He served as a member of the Executive Committee of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, and on the Executive Committees of the East Cheshire Union and the London District Provincial Assembly. He was President of the East Cheshire Union, the London District Provincial Assembly, the Old Students' Association of M.C.O. and in 1957–58 of the General Assembly. He also served as Secretary of the Union for Social Service from 1920 to 1927. While at Hyde he helped found and was Secretary of the Unemployed Club in that town. During the Second World War he served as an ambulance driver in the Hyde Civil Defence Service. In collaboration with Dr. Dorothy Tarrant and the late William Whitaker he produced "A Way of Prayer." A forceful preacher of deep spiritual insight he was also a man of genuine concern for the welfare of his fellows in every way.

Hinkins.—John Hinkins died at Hunslet, Leeds on 21st November, 1962 aged 80 years. Born at Walworth, London, he was educated at Glasgow University, graduating M.A., in 1905, and at Hackney College. After a brief period in the Congregational ministry he became minister of Accrington in 1913 but left in 1916 and for the next nine years was a member of the teaching profession. In 1925 he settled at Dingley Place, London moving to Bradford, Manchester in 1929 and remaining there until 1936 when he went across to Ireland and ministered at Crumlin until 1942 when he moved to the joint charge of Nottage and Bridgend until 1947. Later he served at Islington, London, 1947–50, and at Hunslet, Leeds, 1950–53 when he retired. He acted as Secretary of the Manchester District Sunday Schools and the Manchester District Association. He was Moderator of the Templepatrick Presbytery. Always interested in the problems of world peace he served the old League of Nations Union while at Dingley Place and was a foundation member of the United Nations Association at South Leeds, then chairman and later president and sat on the Leeds and District Council and Executive Committee. He was President of the Yorkshire Union and for a time acted as Director of Studies at the Pioneer Preachers' Hostel. A kindly man with a great warmth of feeling for ordinary people he was much loved by his people wherever he ministered.

Jellie.—William Jellie died on 16th April, 1963 at Auckland, New Zealand, aged 98 years. Born in Moneyrea he was educated at Manchester New College, graduating B.A., at London in 1887. He ministered at Stamford Street, London, 1890–96 and then at Ipswich, 1896–99. In 1900 he went out to become first minister of the cause at Auckland which had been started two years previously. For the next ten years he built up the cause until he felt it was strong enough to permit of his leaving to found a new church at Wellington where he remained for four years. From 1914 to 1921 he served at Southport, but in 1924 he returned to New Zealand to the cause at Timaru. After two years he withdrew from the ministry but in 1934 he took up his old pulpit at Auckland for two years until he finally retired. A man of warm humanity with a rare zeal for our faith he was also a scholar, and his library of over 7,000 books included the best collection in New Zealand of the works of Dante and studies of that poet. This collection he presented to the University of Auckland. He was a prominent W.E.A. lecturer on literature and founded several Shakespearean Societies in New Zealand. He was also a great gardener right up to a few weeks before his death. To his people he was a good pastor always and Auckland showed its appreciation of his many services to that city by the tribute it paid at his passing.

Montgomery.—Charles James Montgomery died on 7th April 1963 at Craigavad, Co. Down, aged 91 years. A son of the manse, his father was minister at Chester for 36 years, he was educated at Lincoln College, Oxford, graduating B.A. in 1895, M.A. in 1898. He entered the teaching profession and taught at Heidelberg College, the English School on the Neckar, in North Wales and at Abbotsholme before taking up the headship of Tan-y-Bryn School, Llandudno. While there he started a cause at Colwyn Bay, becoming layman in charge, and was admitted to the Roll of Ministers in 1935. In 1938 he moved to Holywood where his maternal grandfather had been minister for 57 years; here he remained until his retirement in 1953. A man of culture and true scholarship he was an impressive preacher and a devoted pastor so that he was concerned always for the welfare of every individual member. A friend of all liberal and progressive movements he maintained the rich family tradition of service to our faith.

HEADQUARTERS, ETC.

ESSEX HALL, LONDON

Essex Hall Trust (1885)—Essex Hall, in Essex Street, Strand, London, formerly Essex Street Chapel, was acquired and altered in 1885 to provide a Central Hall or meeting place in the metropolis for Unitarians, Offices and Book Rooms for the British and Foreign Unitarian Association and the Sunday School Association. On July 28th, 1944, the Hall was destroyed beyond repair by enemy action. Thus ended 59 years of service as headquarters and central meeting place for the denomination. It contained the offices of the General Assembly and of the Sunday School Association, and the Essex Hall Bookshop. The Hall was let for public meetings, lectures, arbitrations and other purposes ; it thus became a well-known centre for gatherings of men and women interested in very varied schemes for the amelioration and enlightenment of mankind.

In June, 1957, the Foundation Stone of the new building was laid and on October 25th, 1958, the new Essex Hall was opened. It again contains the offices of the General Assembly and of the Sunday School Association, and the Lindsey Press Bookshop. The central hall is smaller than its predecessor and has been named The Martineau Hall and registered for Public Worship. There are also two excellent Committee Rooms and an office shared by the Publicity Department of the Assembly and the Women's League.

Essex Hall, Incorporated, is a Trust governed by Twenty Trustees, who as vacancies occur, are elected alternately by the General Assembly and the Sunday School Association. The Trustees are :—

1903	Ronald Bartram.	1945	J. S. S. Cooper.
1909	Ronald P. Jones	1948	Kenneth S. Tayler.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION INCORPORATED

ESSEX HALL, ESSEX STREET, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.2

Secretary—Rev. Mortimer Rowe, B.A., D.D.

At the Annual Meeting of members of the B. and F.U.A. held at Whitsuntide, 1914, a resolution was adopted authorising the Committee to take the necessary legal steps for securing the Incorporation of the Association. Accordingly a "Memorandum and Articles of Association" was prepared under competent legal advice and in consultation with officials of the Board of Trade; the Licence by the Board of Trade was issued on July 21st, 1915, and the Certificate of Incorporation on July 28th, 1915. The Association is licensed under section 20 of the Companies (Consolidation) Act 1908. It is especially provided, as a condition of granting the licence, that no portion of its income shall be paid or transferred by way of profit to any member of the Association; and the Memorandum includes a clause giving the objects of the Association (as stated above, pages 20-21).

A body corporate is legally an individual. On the financial side, the chief advantage of incorporation is that it obviates the trouble and expense incurred in transferring investments on the death or resignation of trustees. In this body corporate the funds which were administered by the Executive Committee of the Association are legally vested, whether for the general purposes of the body, or for special purposes prescribed under wills or trusts. The merging of the general membership of the Association in the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches does not involve the dissolution of the Incorporated Association, which remains in being as a trust-holding body; and its position is recognised in clause 8 of the Constitution (see page 17). The income from general investments is paid over to the General Assembly, to be expended in accordance with the objects referred to above. The Articles of Incorporation, as amended by the Board of Trade since the formation of the General Assembly, permit the membership of the Incorporated Association (at present about 50) to be maintained by the election of new members at the discretion of the Annual General Meeting. An Executive Committee of 13 members is elected annually.

Under the authority of Statutory Instrument 1961 No. 1282 the Association is empowered to sell or otherwise deal with certain property of which it is Trustee without the consent of the Charity Commission (as required by the Charities Act 1960) provided it complies strictly with certain requirements.

Application forms (returnable in February and May respectively) and full particulars may be had from the Secretary, Rev. Roger Thomas, 14 Gordon Square, London, W.C.1.

READING AND EXAMINATION SCHEME FOR LAY PASTORS

This method of preparing for ministerial status is open only to Lay Pastors of 28 years of age and upwards, who can show good reason why a College course is out of the question. Permission to pursue it is granted by the Ministry Committee on the production of adequate recommendations. There are four annual examinations, to be taken during a period of probation while the Lay Pastor is in charge of a congregation or mission. This period is not less than three years in the case of a graduate of an approved University, and not less than four years in the case of a non-graduate. The course of study includes Biblical Literature, History of Religion, Christian Doctrine, Philosophy of Religion, Psychology, and Sunday School work. Particulars may be obtained from the Secretary of the General Assembly.

ADVISORY COMMITTEES

The future of these Committees is under consideration, as recommended by the Commission on the Work of the Churches, with a view to the adoption of other methods of carrying out their functions. Meanwhile, the information given below represents the present position.

These Committees, six in number, were appointed by the Provincial Assemblies, or by groups of District Associations, and their areas of operation correspond with their method of appointment. The chief task is to examine the credentials, character, education and general fitness of (a) persons who, having done satisfactory work in connection with the Churches of the General Assembly, seek to be recognised as Lay Pastors ; and (b) Lay Pastors who desire to be admitted to the Reading and Examination Scheme (see above). All recommendations are submitted to the Ministry Committee of the General Assembly for approval. Ministers from other Denominations seeking to enter the ministry of the General Assembly are now dealt with by the Ministry Committee direct.

The Advisory Committees are also empowered to offer their services in cases of difficulty arising between Minister and Congregation ; and likewise, on the application of a Minister, to adjudicate upon his continued fitness to occupy a ministerial position. These supplementary duties of Advisory Committees, though happily very seldom needing to be exercised, should not be forgotten by Congregations, Ministers, and District Associations.

Four of the six Advisory Committees—the Lancs. and Cheshire, Southern, Northern, and Midland—have surrendered their functions to the Ministry Committee. The remaining two are as follows :—

(1) Western : appointed by the Western Union.
Sec., Rev. J. W. Maw.

(2) South Wales : appointed by the South Wales Unitarian Association and the S.E. Wales Unitarian Society.
Sec., Rev. D. J. Davies.

MINISTERIAL SETTLEMENTS

The importance of wise counsel and friendly assistance in this matter cannot be over-estimated, and the Ministry Committee of the General Assembly exists chiefly to be of service in this connection both to congregations and to ministers.

Congregations seeking the appointment of a new Minister are strongly urged to apply to the Secretary for recommendations, which will be made by the Ministry Committee. Advertising by individual congregations should be avoided. The Ministry Committee will insert a list of Vacant Pulpits in The Inquirer at regular intervals. Ministers desiring a change of pastorate are invited to communicate with the Secretary of the General Assembly. The attention of congregations is called to the paragraph at the foot of page 31.

FRIENDS OF THE COLLEGES

The Association of the Friends of the Colleges was formed in January, 1954. Its objects are :—

(a) To support a college or colleges for the training of Ministers of Religion in the Unitarian or other allied Free Christian Faiths which have a non-credal basis, at Oxford, Manchester or elsewhere within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

(c) For the above purposes to collect donations, subscriptions and gifts of all other kinds from the members of the Association or any other persons and to publicise its objects and activities among its members or any other persons.

Membership is open to anyone over 21 years who shall sign a form of application as prescribed by the Committee. The minimum annual subscription is £1.1.0 per annum.

An Endowment Assurance Policy is a recent innovation, from which the benefit is in the form of a Life Assurance up to age sixty-five, and thereafter in accordance with decisions made on approaching that age ; one of several possibilities is the purchase of a joint annuity for minister and widow.

From the Philip Holt Fund assistance is given towards the premium of educational Endowment Policies for ministers' children, whether during school age or later. From this fund the Managers may also in special circumstances, make grants other than towards insurance which nevertheless has first claim upon their consideration. The M.P.I.F. is in union with the General Assembly, which appoints nine of the eighteen Managers, and all ministers are expected to be adequately insured at the beginning of their ministry.

SECTION IX

In May of 1961 the American Unitarian Association and the Universali Church of America voted to formally conclude the consolidation of the two organizations, and a new liberal religious movement was born America—the Unitarian Universalist Association. The new denomin tion emerged after nearly a century of common effort. Consolidati was complete above the parish level and it brought together in a sing organization 118,000 Unitarians with 405 churches and 360 fellowsh groups and more than 71,000 members of the 400 Universalist churche In addition, 68,000 children in Unitarian Church Schools and 18,000 Universalist Church Schools are involved.

The purposes of the new organization are:—

(1) To strengthen one another in a free and disciplined search f truth as the foundation of our religious fellowship;
(2) To cherish and spread the universal truths taught by the gre prophets and teachers of humanity in every age and traditio immemorially summarized in the Judeo-Christian heritage as lo to God and love to man;
(3) To affirm, defend and promote the supreme worth of every huma personality, the dignity of man, and the use of the democrat method in human relationships;
(4) To implement our vision of one world by striving for a wor community founded on ideals of brotherhood, justice and peac
(5) To serve the needs of member churches and fellowships, organize new churches and fellowships, and to extend ar strengthen liberal religion;
(6) To encourage co-operation with men of good will in every land.

The Association is the chief executive arm of the Unitarian ar Universalist churches and fellowships. Its work is carried on by vario departments—fund raising, service projects, ministry, extension, public tions, adult programmes, information, college centres, religious educatio The headquarters of the Association are at 25 Beacon Street, Bosto Mass. President: Rev. Dana McLean Greeley, D.D., to whom correspondence should be addressed.

In addition to the Association, there are other denominational organiz tions which work with it in close co-operation and have offices at Beacon Street: the Alliance of Unitarian Women, the Association Universalist Women, the Laymen's League, the Fellowship for Soci Justice, each with its own president and other officers.

Outside America, the British Dominions, Hungary and Transylvani Liberal Religious churches and movements seldom use the name "Ur tarian" or "Free Christian," but in many parts of the world there a Churches and Societies in substantial agreement with the same fund mental principles.

Belgium.—There is a Free Christian Church in Brussels, of which t late Rev. P. Teissonnière was minister from 1910 to 1940; he died

France in 1946. He was succeeded by the Rev. F. Hoyois in October, 1940. Liberal congregations connected with the parent church were also founded in Liége, Charleroi and Ghent. With much difficulty, Pastor Hoyois was able to keep the movement alive during the years of German occupation. The monthly publication, Les Conférences du Foyer, the organ of "The New Reformation," suffered interruption after 1940, and was revived by Pastor Hoyois, until 1947.

Czecho-Slovakia.—Bohemia, with its great memories of John Hus and the Moravian Brethren, had long been a centre of liberal thought, and the creation of the Republic in 1918 as a result of the war gave the people the freedom they desired. The effect upon their intellectual and spiritual life was profound. Upwards of one million seceded from the Roman Catholic Church and formed the Czecho-slovak Church, which threw off the dogmatic shackles of the past and became definitely liberal in its tendency. In 1924 it established its own Theological School in Prague, where some fifty students were usually in training for the ministry, taking courses also in the John Hus Protestant Theological Faculty of the University. Here several professorships have, since 1934, been held by scholars of the Czecho-slovak Church. The International Congress met in Prague in September, 1927, and did much to arouse interest in liberal religion. The Czecho-slovak Church co-operated in all the work of the Congress, as a liberal church based upon freedom of conscience. It has been a member-group of the International Association for Religious Freedom since the beginning. During the years before 1939, several students spent a session at Manchester College, Oxford. The drastic reduction of Czecho-slovakian territory in 1938, followed by the German occupation in March, 1939, and the war of 1939-45, inflicted grave suffering and loss upon this Church and upon immense numbers of its people, including several of its ministers, upon one of whom the death penalty was cruelly inflicted, while five died in concentration camps. Its head, Bishop Prochazka, died in 1941, after bravely resisting German repressive measures. His successor, Bishop Kovar, was elected in 1946.

In addition to the Czecho-slovak Church there is also a strong Unitarian movement in Prague, with branch groups in four or five other centres. In 1921, Dr. Norbert Capek went to Prague with the support of the American Unitarian Association, as the pioneer of this movement. His message met a widespread popular need, and its success was extraordinary. Temporary premises were secured on a good site, and subsequently a building was erected there with the help of the British and American Associations, as a centre of all the activities of the movement. Dr. Capek was imprisoned and afterwards brutally murdered in 1942 by the Germans, a fate from which his assistant and son-in-law, the Rev. Dr. K. Haspl, narrowly escaped. Dr. Haspl carried on the work until his retirement in 1960 when he was succeeded by Dr. D. Kafka.

Denmark.—There is a Unitarian congregation in Copenhagen, which has grown considerably since its foundation. A fine church building was opened in 1928. The minister, Pastor Kierkegaard, has started missionary movements in four other towns, including Odense and Esbjerg. In August, 1934, the International Association held its Congress in Copenhagen by invitation of the Unitarian congregation. Pastor Kierkegaard was able to carry on his work during the years of German occupation, although amid much difficulty and hardship, and he and his congregatio are now as active as in earlier years.

France.—A considerable number of the Protestant ministers of th Reformed Church in France belong to the liberal wing, which has a organisation of its own. The principal liberal churches in Paris a the Oratoire, 1 Rue de l'Oratoire du Louvre, and Le Foyer de l'Am Rue du Pasteur Wagner. Pasteur Barbier and his congregation at Stra bourg, evacuated and scattered during the war, are re-established in the former church. The years between the wars, however, saw a marke tendency towards the right in French Protestant theology, which had i effect upon the liberal movement.

Germany.—Before the first World War, the "Protestantenverein (Protestant Union), formed in 1865, was the chief bond of union amor German Liberal Christians; the principal centre of Liberal theology wa the University of Marburg. During the long and troubled period betwee the two wars, and especially after 1933, when intellectual freedom wa crushed, Liberal Religious thought and activity were conducted ami fear and uncertainty, and survived only on a much diminished scal Since the end of the second World War communications have bee reopened, and there is evidence of a widespread revival of interest i Liberal Religion. The Rev. Magnus Ratter visited the British an American Zones in October 1948, and the British Zone in May 1949, an Rev. Kenneth Twinn visited the Rhineland in May 1951, investigating th post-war situation. There are several communities claiming roots in th early 19th century Free Catholic and Free Protestant movements, u fortunately with little mutual co-operation, but standing for spiritu freedom, the use of reason rather than tradition, for tolerance rather tha uniformity. These are the Deutscher Unitarier Bund (German Unitaria Association) centred mainly round Frankfurt and the Freie Gemeinde (Free Congregations) in Offenbach and Mainz, which are perhaps close together; the Bund Freireligiöser Gemeinden Deutschlands (Associatio of Free-religious Congregations of Germany), mainly, though not ex clusively in the Rhine Palatinate, and the Deutsche Unitarier, Religion gemeinschaft (German Unitarians, Religious Fellowship), principally i North Germany, the latter two being rather more humanistic. All a free from state control. There are other groups in Berlin and elsewhere, a well as a small but influential minority in the orthodox church holdin "modernist" convictions, and organized in the Bund für Freies Christe tum (Association for Free Christianity).

Holland.—The "Nederlandse Protestantenbond" (Protestant Unio of Holland) was established in 1870 as a converging point for Libera belonging to every church of the country—Reformed, Lutheran, Re monstrant, Mennonite, and Free. It was estimated in the years betwee the two wars that about twenty-five per cent. of the Protestant minister in Holland were liberal. The "Vergadering van moderne Theologen (a meeting of liberal Protestant ministers and scholars) was a yearl meeting of liberal ministers of various denominations. The libera section of the Dutch Reformed Church was organized in several Provincia Unions. A Central Committee representing all groups of Free Protestant was formed, with headquarters in Utrecht. The Universities of Leide and Amsterdam are the educational centres of the Free Protestantis in Holland ; Leiden for the Dutch Reformed and Remonstrants, Amsterdam for the Mennonites and Lutherans. The International Congress of Religious Liberals was held at Amsterdam in 1903, and in Leiden in 1922. In 1929 the Headquarters of this movement, re-named the International Association for Religious Freedom, was established in Holland, with a Secretariat of Dutch Liberal ministers ; today several laymen are also members. Since the war, one of the most significant developments has been the establishment of the Liberal Protestant Broadcasting Company (VPRO). It may be said that liberalism has an influence in Dutch life far greater than is commensurate with its actual membership.

Hungary.—In addition to a number of Unitarian congregations in various towns and villages, there is an important and influential church in Budapest (established in 1869) in the Headquarters building of the denomination. Largely because of the numbers of refugees from Transylvania after the first World War, steps were taken jointly in 1923 by the British and American Unitarian Associations to purchase suitable accommodation for a second Unitarian parish in Budapest under the ministry of the Rev. Dr. G. Csiki (Bishop of the Hungarian Unitarian Church until 1957) and the Unitarian Mission House was established, part of the premises being rebuilt in 1929 as a place of worship. Since the establishment of the People's Republic communication has not been easy, and recent events have added to their difficulties.

Iceland.—Many people in Iceland are in sympathy with Unitarian religious opinions. The late M. Jochumsson, of Akureyri, poet and writer, formerly a Lutheran pastor, was an avowed liberal theologian, Twenty liberal Christian congregations are included in the United Conference of Icelandic Churches in North America. These congregations are in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Canada.

India.—There are representatives of the Unitarian faith in many parts of India. The various sections of the Brahmo Samaj, the Theistic Church of India, have local societies in numerous places. The largest section, known as the Sadharan Brahmo Samaj, has its central office at 211 Cornwallis Street, Calcutta. Many of its leaders have been students at Manchester College, Oxford. There is a Unitarian church and congregation in Madras (estab. 1795). The Khasi and Jaintia Hills Unitarian Union includes a number of scattered congregations in Assam. Its members belong to the hill tribes and speak the Khasi language. From 1930 to 1932, Rev. Magnus Ratter was at work in India as the representative of the General Assembly, visiting many of the Brahmo Samaj congregations and spending a considerable time among the Khasi Hills Unitarians. In 1936, Rev. Margaret Barr, already engaged in religious teaching in Calcutta, and a welcome visitor to the Khasi churches, was appointed to succeed him. Miss Barr learnt the Khasi language, won the affection of the people, and strengthened and increased the number of their congregations. In due course she established and staffed schools which earned Government recognition and support. In 1948 the largest of these, the Lady Reid School, Shillong, was taken over by the Government, enlarged and rebuilt and turned into a Basic Training School. After a year and a half as Principal, Miss Barr resigned and handed it over to the Khasis. Meanwhile the Rural Training Centre at Kharang has been developed, the medical services having been much extended with the help of the Canadian Unitarian Service Committee.

London Brahmo Samaj.—Besides providing for the spiritual and cultural welfare of Brahmos and non-Brahmo sympathizers, the main function of the London Brahmo Samaj is to propagate the religious and cultural aspects of the Brahmo Samaj amongst the Western world.

Sec., A. Chanda, 1 Derwent Grove, S.E. 22.

Rumania.—A fully organized Unitarian Church has existed in Transylvania since its foundation by Bishop Francis David in 1568. In the sixteenth century it consisted of more than 400 congregations, but this number was greatly reduced by protracted and bitter persecutions which lasted about 200 years. Before the recent war the number of Unitarian congregations with settled ministers was 112 ; and there were fifty places where the minister of the neighbouring congregation rendered occasional services. The oldest congregation is at Cluj-Kolozsvar (1568). The total membership was 80,000. The churches are organized under a Bishop and two Curators (Lay Presidents). The churches are distributed into eight districts, each presided over by a Dean, and are governed by a Chief Consistory at Cluj-Kolozsvar. There are elementary schools attached to many of the congregations, and at Cluj-Kolozsvar and Keresztur there are High Schools for boys. There is a Theological College at Cluj-Kolozsvar, established about 1556 by John Sigismund, Prince of Transylvania. Many of the professors and ministers have studied at our English colleges. The Francis David Association, which was established in 1884, for the promotion of religion and moral culture, has many branches and upwards of 1900 members. The problem of the Unitarian and other Minority churches in Rumania after the 1914-18 war was full of difficulty and perplexity, but the situation was closely watched in England and America in the interests of religious liberty and the rights of minorities. In this work Unitarians took a leading part. Reliable news concerning the churches during the Russian occupation is still scanty, but Bishop Jozan who died in 1946 has now been succeeded by Bishop Alexis Kiss, elected in September, 1946.

Switzerland.—A considerable proportion of Swiss Protestants are Liberal Christians, although the influence of the Barthian theology during the recent years has undoubtedly had an adverse effect upon the numbers of those avowing liberal views. The liberal congregations are found in both the German and the French speaking cantons, notably in Zurich, St. Gall, Basle and Geneva. The Free Christian Union (Verein fur Freies Christentum, Union Suisse pour le christianisme libéral), with many branches and a large membership, an association within the state church, which itself has a non-credal basis, is the official organization and focal point of action. Popular literature and periodicals issued under its auspices have assisted greatly in spreading the knowledge of liberal doctrines, while more scholarly books and journals frequently appear. The University of Basle has a number of liberal professors, and the cathedral of Geneva represents a long liberal tradition, recently assured continuance by the appointment after some controversy of a young minister of that persuasion. The International Congress of Religious Liberals held its meetings in Geneva in 1905 ; the International Association for Religious Freedom held a delegate Conference at St. Gall in August, 1932, and a similar conference in August, 1947, at Berne.

THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR LIBERAL CHRISTIANITY AND RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

(Incorporated under Dutch Law).

HEADQUARTERS (temporary) : 40 Laan Copes van Cattenburch, The Hague, Holland.

The purposes of the Association are—

" (a) to bring into closer union the historic liberal Churches, the liberal element in all churches, and isolated congregations and workers for religious freedom ;

" (b) to draw into the same fellowship free religious groups throughout the world which are in essential agreement with our ways of thinking ;

" (c) to open and maintain communication with free Christian groups in all lands who are striving to unite religion and liberty, and to increase fellowship and co-operation among them."

On 25th May, 1900, " The International Council of Unitarian and other Liberal Religious Thinkers and Workers " was organized at Boston U.S.A. In 1910 its title was changed to " The International Congress of Free Christians and other Religious Liberals."

Meetings were held in London (1901), Amsterdam (1903), Geneva (1905), Boston, U.S.A. (1907), Berlin (1910) and Paris (1913). It was intended to hold a meeting in London in 1916, but the War made this impossible. The seventh meeting was held in Boston, U.S.A., October 1920, in connexion with the Tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Founders of New England. The Congress met in Leiden in 1922, and in Prague in 1927.

In 1930 the administrative headquarters were transferred from London to Amsterdam and later to Utrecht. A small but representative gathering of delegates from America, Britain, and various Continental lands met at Arnhem (Holland) in 1930 and drafted a Constitution which was revised and adopted by a Delegate Conference held at St. Gall in 1932, when the present title was also adopted.

The first full Congress of the new Association was held at Copenhagen in 1934, and the second at Oxford in 1937. Theological Conferences were also held in 1936 at Arnhem, and at Bentveld in 1938. As soon as possible after the end of the war a representative delegate conference was summoned to re-establish contacts and to plan the future of the Association at Cambridge, in July, 1946. A still larger conference was held at Berne in the summer of 1947. The first full post-war Congress was held in Amsterdam in 1949, and the second in Oxford in 1952, after which came Belfast 1955, Chicago 1958, Davos, 1961.

The present Officers of the Association are:—President, H. J. Wytema LL.D., Vice-President, Rev. Dr. H. S. Carter ; Joint Secretaries, Rev Dr. J. van Goudoever and Mr. A. F. Leemans ; Treasurer, Mr. R. J Advocaat. Individual Members Secretary, Rev. K. Twinn, Harrison Parsonage, Bolton Road, Atherton, Manchester.

THE BRITISH COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

This inter-denominational organization was brought into existence in 1942 on a creedal basis identical with that proposed for the World Council of Churches (then in process of formation), viz. " A fellowship of Churches which accept the Lord Jesus Christ as God and Saviour." The formal invitation to join the World Council, on condition of accepting the theological basis, had already, for obvious reasons, been respectfully declined by the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches. The British Council, however, was set up by the amalgamation of various pre-existing organizations—the Commission on International Fellowship and Social Responsibility, representing the " Life and Work " Movement, and the corresponding body representing " Faith and Order." The former was itself the result of a previous amalgamation of inter-denominational bodies which were free from theological commitments, and of which the General Assembly had been a member ; but when it was proposed that these bodies should be united in a British Council of Churches on a theological basis, both the Society of Friends and the General Assembly intimated their inability to join the new organization. This resulted in the adoption of an amendment to the conditions of membership, consisting in the addition of the words " with the understanding that any body which has hitherto been represented on the Commission " (i.e., the Commission on International Friendship and Social Responsibility) " shall continue in membership of the Council, if so willing, even though it does not itself accept the Basis." On these terms the Society of Friends and the General Assembly were included in the British Council, along with the larger Protestant denominations which accept the basis.

SECTION X

LEGAL INFORMATION

Births, Registration.—Parents are required to register the birth of their children at the Registrar's office for the district in which the child is born within six weeks. Penalty of 40s. for default. There is no charge for such registration.

Deaths, Registration.—Deaths must be registered within five days. The nearest relative present at the death or during the last illness is the responsible person, or should there be no relative present, then the occupier of the house, or the person who causes the body to be buried. Penalty for default, 40s. The doctor's certificate must be produced to the Registrar at the time of registration ; and the Registrar's certificate to the officiating minister at the interment.

Registration of Chapels.—All places of worship should be registered. Registration is effected by giving a certificate in writing that the Chapel is used for worship to the Superintendent-Registrar of the District on a form which he will supply on application. The fee on registration is 2s. 6d., and a certified copy of the Registrar-General's certificate of the registration can be obtained for a further payment of 2s. 6d. When a place of worship is entirely rebuilt, either on the same or another site, the old certificate of registration must be cancelled and the place re-registered. The registration can apply to all rooms having an internal communication, even though not under one roof. A rough sketch plan should be supplied to the Registrar on a new registration ; and alterations, shutting off rooms or opening new rooms, should be notified to him.

Disturbance of Religious Worship.—Statutory penalties can be enforced for this offence if in a certified place of worship, churchyard or burial ground.

Registration for Marriages.—A place of worship must, before marriages can legally be celebrated therein, in addition to being registered as above mentioned, be separately registered for the performance of marriages. Before registering a place for marriages, the Superintendent Registrar of the District must be satisfied by certificate that the building has been used for worship for one year previous to the application. A fee of £3 is payable, and the Registration is advertised in the London Gazette and in a local newspaper. When a chapel ceases to be used for worship or is rebuilt, the Certificate is cancelled, and in that case it requires to be renewed if worship is resumed. When a congregation has removed from one chapel to another, and the old building has ceased to be used as a place of public worship, the Certificate of the old chapel may be cancelled, and the new building registered for the solemnization of marriages, without waiting for a year to elapse. All necessary forms and information will be supplied by the Superintendent-Registrar of the District.

Marriages : England and Wales.—Marriages may be solemnized in any registered building, or in a district registry office either by Certificate or by Licence. Consent of the minister must be obtained or of one of the trustees, owners, deacons or managers. If by Certificate, notice (accompanied with fee of 1s. for entry in "Marriage Notice Book") must be given by one of the parties, if both live in one district, to the Superintendent-Registrar, on form furnished for purpose, containing solemn declaration of absence of impediment to intended marriage, certifying that both of the parties have dwelt at least seven days in district, and must be signed in presence of Registrar or deputy; but if parties live in different districts, notices must be sent to respective Superintendent-Registrars. Twenty-one clear days after entry of notice the Certificate (for which 1s. 6d. must be paid) will be granted on application.

If by Licence, though both parties do not dwell in same district, only one need give notice, certifying that he or she has resided at least fifteen days in district, though marriage may be held in district of either party. Both parties, however, must be in England at the time of notice, though only one clear day is required (unless marriage takes place in Ireland with some one there, when seven days are required) between notice and granting of licence. Cost of Licence, £2 5s.

If "usual place of worship" at which ceremony is desired, be out of district of either's dwelling, by inserting words:—"Such building being usual place of worship of said ——," Certificate will be granted accordingly.

The marriage must take place in registered building specified in Certificate, with open doors, between the hours of eight in the morning and six in the evening, within three calendar months from day of entry of notice, in presence of Registrar (or his deputy, or, if the Marriage Act of 1898 has been adopted, in the presence of the Authorized Person) and two or more credible witnesses besides minister, if any. At some part of the ceremony the words must be said:—"I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I——— may not be joined in matrimony to———"; and each must say to other: "I call upon these persons here present to witness that I—— do take thee —— to be my lawful wedded wife (or husband)"; without which it is not a marriage.

Registrar's fee for attending marriage by Certificate, 7s. 6d.; by Licence, 15s.; for Copy of Certificate, 3s. 9d.

By the Marriage Act, 1898 (61 & 62 Vic. c. 58), marriage may be solemnized in the registered building named in the Superintendent's Certificate without the presence of any Registrar, but in the presence of such duly Authorized Person as mentioned in the Statute. The Statute provides for the notices and forms required to be given or complied with and the register to be kept. It is important to note that, when a Minister who has been appointed Authorized Person for a Registered Building ceases to be a Minister and Authorized Person for that Building the person who succeeds him as Minister does not thereby become Authorized Person and entitled to act as such, until his appointment has been certified to the Registrar General by the Trustees or other Governing Body in precisely the same manner as in the case of his predecessor; he should therefore await a notification from the Registrar General that his appointment has been duly registered.

Marriage with a Deceased Wife's Sister was legalized by Act of Parliament, August, 1907, and with a Deceased Brother's Widow, July, 1921, or with a nephew or niece by marriage or uncle or aunt by marriage, July, 1931.

After a marriage at a Registrar's office, the religious service may be performed by the minister on production of the marriage certificate and payment of the customary fees, but such service is not to be recorded in the parish register of marriages.

Marriages : N. Ireland.—Marriages according to the form and discipline of the Presbyterian Church may be celebrated—(1) By Special Licence; (2) By licence ; or (3) After publication of banns.

(1) In the first case at least one of the parties must be a member of a church in the Synod or Presbytery of the Moderator who grants the Special Licence.

(2) Ordinary Licences can be granted when only one of the parties is a Presbyterian. Each Presbytery is authorized to appoint, subject to the approval of the governor of Northern Ireland, ministers to issue licences for marriage in meeting-houses duly certified.

Anyone wishing to obtain a Licence must, seven days before the licence shall be delivered to him or her, produce to the licencing minister a certificate from the minister of the congregation of which he or she shall be a member and has been a member for at least one calendar month preceding.

(3) When both parties are Presbyterians, marriages may be celebrated after the banns have been proclaimed for three Sundays in the Presbyterian meeting-houses attended by each of the parties.

Marriages : Scotland.—The ceremony can be performed by the minister of any denomination, in any place, at any time, with or without any particular form. The law has been amended so as to put an end, as far as possible, to what were known as "irregular" marriages. Legal notice must now be given to the Registrar of the parish or district, the names of the contracting parties being exhibited for seven days on the notice board outside the office of the Registrar in whose district the parties have resided for at least fifteen days immediately preceding. At the expiration of the period named a Certificate will be granted and on this the marriage may take place either in a church or elsewhere. By an act that came into force in 1940 this same procedure may now be followed in the case of marriages taking place in a Registrar's office.

Burial Act, 1880.—Wherever there is a Cemetery there is no difficulty in the way of a Nonconformist minister conducting a funeral service. The Act of Parliament of 1890 authorizes any person responsible for the burial of a body to give forty-eight hours' notice to the incumbent of the parish in which the death took place, or in his absence to his deputy, that it is intended that the body shall be buried in the churchyard of the parish without the Church of England service. The Act allowed a like notice to be given to the chaplain of a parochial cemetery if a burial was intended to be made there; but the Burial Act, 1900 (63 & 64 Vic. c. 15, s. 8) requires that in the last-mentioned case the notice shall be given at such time and to such person as the burial authority directs. It is therefore necessary in that case to inquire at the office of the cemetery, and to give such notice as the rules of the cemetery prescribe.

In the case of burials in churchyards the form of notice is specified in the Act of 1880, and the requirements are as follows :—

The Notice must be in writing ; must be endorsed on the outside

"Notice of Burial"; must be signed with the name and address of the person giving it, and be in the form, or to the effect, following :—

I , of , being the relative [or friend, or legal representative, as the case may be, describing the relation, if a relative] having the charge of, or being responsible for, the burial of A. B., of , who died at , in the parish of , on the day of , do hereby give you notice that it is intended by me that the body of the said A. B. shall be buried within the [here describe the churchyard or graveyard in which the body is to be buried] on the day of , at the hour of without the performance in the manner prescribed by law of the service for the burial of the dead according to the rites of the Church of England; and I give this notice pursuant to the Burial Laws Amendment Act, 1880.

To the Rector [or as the case may be] of

NOTE.—While it is desirable to keep to this form, the person receiving it will not be at liberty to object to its sufficiency, because the exact words are not used; the Act only requiring that the notice shall be in the form, "or to the effect," of the above.

In the case of a churchyard, the notice is to be left at the house of the clergyman, or in his absence, of the clergyman in charge of the parish, or of any person appointed to receive such notices. It is not necessary that the clergyman should consent to a burial under the Act. He can object only to the time proposed, and do that only in certain cases. Unless it be otherwise mutually arranged, burials must be between 10 and 6 o'clock from April 1st to October 1st, and between 10 and 3 from October 1st to April 1st.

A burial may take place either without "any religious service" or "with such Christian and orderly religious service" at the grave as the person responsible for the burial may think fit, and "any person or persons"—whether ministers or laymen—who may be invited or authorized, may conduct such service, or take part in any religious act thereat. The words "Christian service" include "every religious service used by any church, denomination, or person, professing to be Christian."

The person having charge of a burial under the Act must, either on the same day or the day after, send to the incumbent or his representative —or, in the case of a Cemetery, to the clerk—a certificate of the burial in prescribed form.

I , of , the person having the charge of or, being responsible for the burial of the deceased, do hereby certify that on the day of , 19 , , aged , was buried in the churchyard [or graveyard] of the parish [or district] of

To the Rector [or as the case may be] of

The Act of 1880 does not entitle anyone to be buried in any place in which he would have no right to be buried if the Act had not passed. Neither does it affect previously existing regulations or authority in regard to the position of graves, inscriptions on gravestones, etc.

Burial Act, 1900.—This Act modifies the Act of 1880 in the case of the consecrated parts of parochial cemeteries. The Act does not deal with churchyards. In future, Burial Boards "may, if they think fit," apply to have a portion of the cemetery consecrated; formerly they were compelled to have a portion consecrated. Burial Boards are no longer compelled to erect two cemetery chapels, one for Anglicans and one for Nonconformists. They may erect any chapel "they may consider necessary"; but any chapel so erected "shall not be consecrated or reserved for the exclusive use of any denomination." The payment of fees to an incumbent of a parish will no longer be required "except for services rendered by him." In future, when a Nonconformist minister officiates in the consecrated part of a parochial cemetery, he, and not the clergyman, will receive the fee. These provisions apply to cemeteries opened after the passing of the Act. In the case of cemeteries already existing the old fees were continued for fifteen years, that is until 1915.

Cremation.—This is regulated by the Cremation Act, 1902, and the Regulations made by the Home Secretary in pursuance of that Act. It is no longer necessary to leave written evidence of a wish to be cremated; in the absence of a contrary declaration, the declaration of an Executor or member of the family is sufficient. Two medical certificates of death are required. Forms and full information can be obtained from the Secretary or Superintendent of a Crematorium.

Charitable Trusts.—The Charities Act 1960 consolidates the law relating to Charitable Trusts, the earlier Acts being repealed wholly or in part. The Act of 1960 gives the Charity Commissioners very extensive jurisdiction over most Charitable Trusts, including those relating to chapels and their manses etc. and charities for the advancement of religion, though places of worship themselves are not required to be registered in the Register of Charities which the Act sets up. The Charity Commission are empowered to enquire into the management of Charities; to oblige their trustees to render accounts; to advise trustees on the administration of the trusts; to authorize or direct legal proceedings to be taken; to authorize the granting of leases and making of improvements and the raising of money by mortgage; to authorize trustees to remove the officers of any trust; to authorize the sale, exchange or partition of lands; to remove and appoint trustees; to institute enquiries concerning Charities and to call for documents. The new Act greatly extends the powers of the High Court and of the Charity Commissioners to settle schemes for the administration of a charity and the application of its property where its original purposes can for various reasons no longer be carried out. It also makes it obligatory on charity trustees to apply for a Scheme for the administration of trust property where the existing trusts are no longer effective. The exemption from the necessity to obtain Charity Commissioners' consent to the sale etc. of a registered Chapel in which worship is still carried on no longer exists; on the other hand, where the B. & F.U.A. (Incorporated) is a Trustee of a Church or its Manse etc., it is permissible to sell (under certain conditions which must be strictly complied with) without obtaining that consent, by virtue of special exemption granted by the Charity Commission. Educational Charities come within the scope of the Act but are under the jurisdiction of the Minister of Education who is given many powers similar to those of the Charity Commissioners.

Dissenters' Chapels Act, 1844.—This Act has been repealed by the Charities Act 1960, but without prejudice, in the case of Trusts of a Chapel taking effect prior to July 1844, to its provisions as to 25 years' usage being, in certain circumstances, conclusive evidence as to the legality of the doctrines taught there.

National Insurance Act, 1946.—This comprehensive Act, which came into full operation on July 5th, 1948, supersedes the various earlier Acts dealing with National Health Insurance, Old Age Pensions, Unemployment Insurance, and Workmen's Compensation. As the new Act applies in some measure to everyone, its provisions have been fully and publicly made known, and need not be summarized here. It has been necessary, however, for religious denominations to secure a ruling from the Ministry of National Insurance concerning the category, or categories, in which ministers of religion are to be placed—whether "employed persons" or "self-employed persons." The official ruling, applicable to all denominations, is as follows :—

Ministers of Religion engaged in normal ministerial duties in charge of a congregation, or congregations, are to be placed in the self-employed class, Class 2. Ministers appointed to administrative posts at denominational headquarters, or to full-time posts on the teaching staff of a theological college, are properly to be regarded as employed under contract of service and insurable in the employed class, Class 1, unless in a particular instance there are special circumstances whereby the terms of appointment are such as to negative the existence of contract of service.

Oaths Act, 1888.—This Act enacts that every person upon objecting to being sworn, and stating, as the ground of such objection, either that he has no religious belief, or that the taking of an oath is contrary to his religious belief, shall be permitted to make his solemn affirmation instead of taking an oath, in all places and for all purposes where an oath is or shall be required by law, which affirmation shall be of the same force and effect as if he had taken the oath. Every such affirmation shall be as follows :—"I, A. B., do solemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm," and then proceed with the words of the oath prescribed by law, omitting any words of imprecation or calling to witness. If any person to whom an oath is administered desires to swear with uplifted hand in the form and manner in which an oath is usually administered in Scotland, he shall be permitted to do so, and the oath shall be administered to him in such form and manner without further question. By the Act of 1909, an alteration in the manner of administering oaths is authorized.

Rates and Taxes, Exemption from.—Income Tax is not chargeable on Chapel properties so far as they are used, or the rents or profits are applied, for charitable purposes, e.g., if used solely for religious purposes. Where manses or other Church properties are let by the church to the minister, or others, and rent is paid to the Church, Schedule A Tax can be reclaimed.

Rates are not payable in respect of premises exclusively appropriated for public religious worship and duly certified for such purpose. Very often some profit is derived from lettings and rates are payable though the profit goes to a charitable object, but a nominal assessment may be agreed. It is difficult to say what use of a chapel or school renders it liable to rates. User for Sunday or infant schools, or for charitable education of the poor does not do so.

Workmen's Compensation Acts.—So far as the purposes of this Year Book are concerned, these Acts are now superseded by the provision for Industrial Insurance in the National Insurance Act, 1946 (see above).

Leasehold Enfranchisement.—The Places of Worship (Enfranchisement) Act, (1920). Under this Act all religious bodies will be able in most cases to obtain a secure tenure of the property used as a place of worship which they hold on lease by purchasing the absolute freehold interest, subject to the payment of fair compensation.

Ministers' Income Tax.—Where a clergyman or minister of any religious denomination is obliged to reside in a manse, he is not assessable on the annual value or on the outgoings paid for him. In cases where he may occupy a residence and either pays rent therefor, or occupies it rent free, but has the right to let the property, if he so desires, he is assessable on the annual value, and on the outgoings paid for him (if any), but he is entitled to require that the annual value of the house, after deducting therefrom the amount of any annual sum payable in respect of such house, whether paid by the Minister or the Trustees, shall be treated as "earned income."

In this section, the expression "annual sum" means any yearly interest, annuity, rent, rent charge, fee farm rent, rent service, quit rent, feu-duty, or other annual payment reserved or charged upon any lands, tenements, hereditaments, or heritages.

A minister may claim deductions in respect of—

(1) Any expenses incurred by him wholly exclusively and necessarily in the performance of his duty as a Minister.

Under this paragraph a Minister may claim deductions for :—

(a) Travelling expenses necessarily incurred by the Minister in performing his duty of pastoral visitation.

Under this head would be included bus and tram fares, or the running cost and wear and tear (proportionate to the use thereof for official purposes) of such means of locomotion belonging to the Minister as motor car or bicycle where the circumstances or size of the Minister's district necessitated the employment of such means for the proper performance of his duties (e.g. where the Minister has pastoral charge of two or more village churches).

(b) Out-of-pocket payment for stamps, stationery, telephone, telegrams, etc., incurred in the performance by the Minister of his duties.

(a) Payments for :—

Rates—One-quarter general and water rates.

Fire, etc., Insurance—One-quarter.

Lighting and heating the study.

Robes—cost of repair, cleaning and renewals.

Maid—part cost of wages, insurance, laundry, uniform, and board and lodging where provided.

Books and Sermons, but as regards books the cost of replacement only.

It is important that records of the expenses under the headings (a), (b) and (c) should be kept by the Minister, but where no records have been kept in the past it is suggested that the claim might be based upon a reasonable estimate of the expenses incurred, and this could be discussed with the Inspector of Taxes.

(2) Where the Minister pays rent for a dwelling house, or is in the occupation of a dwelling house but pays no rent therefor, and uses any part of such house mainly and substantially for the purpose of his duty as a Minister, he may claim as an expense a corresponding part of the rent or annual value of the house, not exceeding one-quarter, but this does not apply where he is obliged to reside in the house, by virtue of his office.

(3) Locum tenens during Illness—Where a Minister is incapacitated through illness from performing his duties, the cost necessarily incurred and paid by him in providing a locum tenens may be claimed as a deduction. If the cost of vacation " supplies " is borne by him, he may likewise claim a deduction.

PERFORMING RIGHTS AND ENTERTAINMENT TAX

It is the legal duty of all persons promoting public entertainments, or those allowing their premises to be used for such purposes, to obtain permission from copyright-owners before using any works of which the copyright has not yet run out. This applies to all works, whether dramatic, operatic, vocal or instrumental or mechanical, except where it is definitely stated that the work may be performed without fee.

In the case of dramatic and operatic works, permission should be obtained beforehand from the author or his agent, who can be approached through the publisher. Where a fee is charged, this should be paid before the day of the performance.

For almost all vocal, instrumental, or mechanical music other than operettas, cantatas, musical comedies produced in their entirety application must be made to the Performing Right Society, 33 Margaret Street, W.1., an organization consisting of the majority of publishers, composers and lyric-writers of this country and affiliated with similar organizations throughout the world. When applying for an annual licence for their Hall, secretaries of congregations on the Roll of the General Assembly should state clearly that they are applying under the agreement between the Society and the General Assembly, if they wish to obtain the advantage of the special terms arranged.

As the Society controls the public use of over 90 per cent. of the music published in this country, it is very difficult to run a concert to-day entirely on non-copyright items.

The Society states that it does not wish to interfere with devotional services in churches and chapels and, though legally entitled to do so, does not propose to claim a fee for music used therein.

It is suggested that a performance is " in public " when money is taken for entrance, or a collection is made, or when strangers are present with or without payment—in most cases, that is, except where the gathering is small, and confined strictly to members of the congregation or society concerned, and where there is no money paid.

Entertainments Duty was abolished by the Finance Act, 1960. There is, however, a levy which is payable on payments exceeding 11d. for admission to public performances of cinematograph film of a width exceeding 16 millimetres.

Exemption from levy for charitable entertainments may be granted c one or other of two different grounds. Further information, if require can be obtained from The Secretary, H.M. Customs and Excise, King Beam House, Mark Lane, London, E.C.3, or the nearest Customs an Excise Office.

THIRD PARTY LEGAL LIABILITY INSURANCE

The Council of the General Assembly has taken out a Policy in respe of all Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schools and/or Church Halls in Englan Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales upon the current list of congrega tions in our Year Book, the cover being as follows :—

This Policy is to cover the Assured's Legal Liability in respe of Third Party Claims involving personal injuries, or accidental damag to property, arising from defects in the premises, or properties furnishings, and negligence of employees or any person for which th Church Authorities may be responsible, including indemnity in respe of the liability of the Assured in connection with Sunday School Treat Excursions and Outings and Legal Liability for injuries to persons an damage to property as the result of panic following fire or the alarm fire.

Excluding all Liability arising in connection with organized spor or games other than sports and games during Sunday School Treats an Outings.

This insurance is in respect of all Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schoo and/or Church Halls in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, upon th current list of Congregations in the year book of General Assembly Unitarian and Free Christian Churches, extending to cover unpai officials of the Churches described hereon such as members of Com mittees, Secretaries and Treasurers.

It is further agreed that this Policy indemnifies the Assured i respect of their premises which may be let to Third Parties irrespectiv of the purpose for which such premises may be let.

This Policy does not cover claims covered by any other Policy.

The policy does not cover (i) Workmen's Compensation ; (ii) Damag to Assured's own property and buildings ; (iii) Injury or damage directl or indirectly caused by fire and/or explosion except such as is specificall mentioned above.

Congregations are asked to make contributions of 10*s.* 6*d. per annum toward the heavy cost of this policy.*

APPOINTMENT OF NEW TRUSTEES

This is now to be effected either under the Trustee Act 1925, or in accord ance with the expressed provisions of the Trust Deed, or the provisions the Charities Act, 1960. The latter Act repealed the "Trustee Appointmen cts 1850 to 1890" mentioned in previous editions of this Year Book, xcept to the extent that the provisions of those Acts may still be applicable in respect of certain Charitable Trusts in existence prior to 1960.

Before deciding on the method of appointment of new Trustees legal dvice should be obtained.

If none of the above methods of appointment is applicable resort should e had to the powers of the Charity Commissioners.

The B. & F.U.A. Incorporated may be available as a Trustee, with onsent (see p. 116). It is a corporate body and can act either as a Ianaging Trustee or jointly with other Managing Trustees and can ontinue to act in that capacity when all the other Managing Trustees ave died or retired. It may act as a custodian Trustee ; in that event will have no managerial powers ; the church property and/or investnents will be vested in it alone, the Trusts being administered and the roperty managed by persons appointed Managing Trustees. The ppointment of the Association as Custodian Trustee secures that the Deeds are not lost as often happens when individuals act as Trustees.

This is no longer printed in the Year Book but may be had on application o the B. & F.U.A. Incorporated at Essex Hall.

Note.—It is desirable that a Will giving house property or land to a Charity should be settled by a Solicitor.

DEEDS OF COVENANT AND THE SIMPLEX ENVELOPE SCHEM

Preliminary.

Any person who subscribes to the funds of a Church under the Simple Envelope Scheme can do so under Deed of Covenant. There is nothin in the Income Tax Acts which prevents a subscription under Deed fro being paid by weekly or other instalments. The actual procedure to b followed by the Treasurer is, however, slightly different from tha applicable to annual subscriptions.

The Deed of Covenant.

No special form of Deed of Covenant is necessary, but it is advisabl (though not essential) to indicate that the subscription is paid weekly Thus, the following is a suitable wording :—

ANNUITY DEED IN FAVOUR OF
(Name of Church or other Charitable Trust)

I, (full name of disponor)
of (full address)
hereby covenant with the Trustees for the time being of (name of Churc that for a period of seven years from 6th April, 19....., or during my life time (whichever period may be the shorter), I will pay to the said Trustee annually such a sum out of my general fund of taxed income as, afte deduction of Income Tax at the standard rate for the time being i force, will leave a net yearly sum of (amount of subscription).

Such sum to be payable by weekly instalments.

IN WITNESS whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal thi (date in words) day of 19 .
Signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of.....
(Signature of Disponor

Witness's signature .....

Address ..... (SEAL)

Occupation .....

Period Covered by Deed.

During a normal year, the fifty-two weekly instalments due under th Simplex Scheme will be covered by the Deed, which should be made ou for the total of these, so far as it is ultimately receivable by the Church Thus, if a subscriber pays 2/6 per week, 2/- to Church funds and 3d. eac to the District Association and the General Assembly, then the Dee should be made out for 52 x 2/- = £5 4s. 0d., since the balance of 6d. pe week is ultimately paid over to the District Association and the Genera Assembly. These two may also be covered by separate Deeds made ou in their favour if the annual amounts are sufficient to warrant it. On Deed however will cover subscriptions to several funds if they are al ultimately received by the Church. About once in four years, a fifty-thir payment will be made within the year, but this should be ignored for th purposes of the Deed.

Arrears made good after the 5th April will count as if they had been aid when due.

When a Deed is entered into, it must often happen that it is offered n a date in the middle of the fiscal year, and the Treasurer is then in a ifficulty regarding the date for the Deed to commence. If the 6th pril is not too far ahead, it is probably best to use that date and ignore for Covenant purposes) subscriptions to be paid before then. If a ew subscriber offers a Deed on joining, it may be possible to persuade im to make up arrears from 6th April last, and use that date. But hen continuing subscribers offer a Deed, this cannot be done, as no ayment made before a Deed is entered into is effective under it. In uch a case, sometimes the only thing to do is to make the Deed out for even years from the day before the next Sunday, so as to cover all uture subscriptions. This, however, produces awkward "broken eriods" for tax purposes in the years in which such a Deed commences r expires, and these "broken periods" will continue with succeeding Deeds.

The wise Treasurer will therefore always canvass for Deeds in March, so s to be able to make them effective from the following 6th April.

ertificates of Deduction of Tax.

These should be made out on the ordinary Form R185, not Form 185(AP) which is for annual payments. Insert in col. 1 on the back Annuity under Deed dated.....", in col. 2 the words "My axed Income", in col. 3 the gross equivalent of the payment for the year, n col. 4 the tax deducted, and in col. 5 "Year ended 5th April, 19..... : ayable weekly". (See "Charitable Subscriptions under Deed of ovenant", by C. L. Wykes, p. 12).

The gross equivalent of the payment for the year will normally, be the nnual amount covenanted for under the Deed (i.e. 52 weekly subcriptions) grossed up at the standard rate for the year, and the tax deucted will be the difference between this and the net amount. When a Deed is to come into effect from a date other than the 6th April, however, he first year's form will cover only the number of subscriptions due etween that date and the 5th April next, and it is the total of these hat, grossed up, forms the "gross equivalent". Similarly, when such Deed expires, it is the total of the subscriptions from 6th April to the ate of expiry which requires to be grossed up. If (as will be usual) a ew Deed is entered into to be effective from the expiry date, this will equire a separate Form R185 to cover the subscriptions due under it for he remainder of the fiscal year. For intermediate years, the normal rocedure should be followed: each form R185 should cover a full year rom the 6th April to the 5th April next.

ncrease of Subscriptions.

Generally speaking, when a disponor increases his subscription, it is est to take no action until the Deed falls due for renewal, when the new ne is made out for the increased amount. It is possible, however, to enter nto a Deed for the amount of the increase up to the date of expiry f the old Deed and then for the full amount, provided that the latter is overed for a further seven years. Thus, if a person whose subscription was 5/- per week increased it to 10/- whilst his Deed has still four yea to run, a new Deed could be offered with the wording modified on th following lines : ". . . for a period of eleven years from 6th April, 195 . . . will leave a net yearly sum of THIRTEEN POUNDS in each of th years ending 5th April, 1959, 1960, 1961 and 1962, and TWENTY-SI POUNDS in each of the seven ensuing years. . . ."

Liability at Reduced Rate.

Persons not liable to tax at the standard rate should not be asked sign Deeds, as such action inevitably involves them in expense. If suc a person volunteers to sign, however, it may be possible to modify h subscription so that the formula outlined on p. 11 of " Charitable Su scriptions under Deed of Covenant " can be applied.

PREFACE

Every year we have remarked on the fact that this Year Book may well be found inaccurate in regard to the information it gives because so many have failed to return the correction slips sent to them in August to be returned by the 30th September. This year we fear there will be even more errors than previously since over 140 ministers, church secretaries and secretaries of societies failed to make any return. In addition, much extra work and cost were incurred because nearly 40 made later returns. We appeal to all concerned to make a resolution now to ensure that the correction slips are returned in good time.

The list of congregations is decreased by one—the Marple Church having closed; there are 242 in England; 33 in Wales; 34 in Ireland; 4 in Scotland; and 20 in the Dominions and Overseas Section.

The list of ministers contains 229 names, including 18 on the Supplementary List; an increase of three. There are 196 ministers in the British Isles of whom 58 have their names in italics, being, with a few exceptions, retired. Many of these continue to render most valuable service to our churches for which we are most grateful. There are 17 ministers in the Dominions of whom four are retired. There are 13 Lay Pastors, a decrease of one. Two have qualified, one has withdrawn and two names have been added. The Lay Preachers' Roll contains 92 names, one member having died. We record with deep regret the death of six ministers, five of whom were on the retired list. We welcome to the Roll eleven new ministers, the largest number for many years; they are:—L. Bowen (Presbyterian College and School of Theology, Cardiff), A. J. Cross (M.C.O.), R. V. Currams (U.C.M.), D. J. G. Evans (Presbyterian College and St. David's, Lampeter), W. T. Hughes (Congregationalist), W. H. Mackrell (M.C.O.), D. W. Stirman (M.C.O.), Judith A. Walker (M.C.O.), P. Whitham (U.C.M.), O. Joan Evans (G.A. Student and M.C.O.) and Violet A. Kochendoerfer who has taken charge at Calgary. We have 10 students in full-time training and 6 lay pastors attending the colleges. At U.C.M. there are 9 full-time students, 5 lay pastors and one special student; at M.C.O. we have one student in full-time training and one lay pastor attending college; in addition there are three special students at the College, but none are intended for our ministry, though one may enter the ministry in the United States. All this means that we have 8 less students in training this year, which is a most serious decline in view of our extreme shortage already and we must stress that unless the churches quickly provide far more students this shortage will get worse in the next few years; we now have 138 ministers to meet the needs of 313 churches in the British Isles. If the present sad trend continues over the next ten years we may well have only 100 ministers to serve these churches. Even with an increase in group and joint ministries this is much too small a number; only our own people can remedy the situation and to them this serious message is addressed.

Despite the increased cost of producing the book the price remains at six shillings, but it is clear that there will have to be an increase next year. Already the book is subsidised to the extent of £275; incidentally, late returns and corrections contribute substantially to this extra cost.

Finally, the Editor wishes to express his thanks to Mr. Roy Smith and Mrs. Carole Smith for their invaluable help in the preparation of the book; and to those, the vast majority happily, who so conscientiously return their slips in good time.

THE FORMATION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The Assembly was brought into existence in 1928 in the manner more fully set forth in the Preamble to the Constitution (p.13), by the amalgamation of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association (1825) and the National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congregations (1881). The objects and operations of both these organizations were taken over, so as to unify the forces of the denomination.

The importance of the new organization arises from the history of the group of Churches enrolled. In that history two tendencies can always be discerned, one expressing itself in the desire for lucid and definite theological teaching, the other in a desire for complete religious freedom. It may be maintained that there is no essential conflict between these two tendencies, but their adjustment is a matter of wisdom and statesmanship. Both appear to be vital to the spirit of the movement here represented.

Brief historical statements about the constituent organizations amalgamated in the General Assembly are given below

THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION

The British and Foreign Unitarian Association was constituted in 1825. It was formed by the amalgamation of three Societies :—(1) The Unitarian Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and the Practice of Virtue, by the Distribution of Books, founded in 1791 ; (2) The Unitarian Fund, established in 1806, which may be regarded as the most important ; and (3) The Association for Protecting the Civil Rights of Unitarians, formed in 1819. These Societies were supported by Unitarians in all parts of the country, as individual subscribers. By far the greater number of the supporters were members of Unitarian and other Non-subscribing Churches, and the support of such Churches was taken to be an essential part of the work of the Societies. The amalgamation of the three Societies was carried out in a spirit of mutual goodwill, and the Association formed from their union gradually became a national and international missionary organization. From the beginning it was in touch with kindred movements in the United States and in India, and soon afterwards (through the medium of communications in Latin) with the ancient Unitarian Church in Transylvania. At the time of its centenary, which was celebrated in June, 1925, its operations covered the British Isles, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, and several European countries.

The objects of the Association (see p. 20) may be summed up as the diffusion and support of the principles of Unitarian Christianity, including the formation and assistance of congregations which are free from a creedal basis, and the publication and circulation of appropriate literature.

In pursuance of these objects the Association assisted in establishing and maintaining Congregations, especially in the early and difficult stages of their growth ; it contributed to the support of Ministers, lecturers, and missionary preachers ; it held conferences and meetings annually in London and different parts of the country ; it issued books and pamphlets dealing with the broader aspects of religious thought and life, in addition to direct expositions of Unitarian Christianity. Many thousands of pamphlets were freely distributed in response to applications from Congregations, and inquirers in all parts of the world. The Association was supported by subscriptions of individuals, collections from Congregations, sales of publications, and income from investments. The range of its operations was dependent upon the generosity of Congregations and individual Unitarians, and others interested in the objects which it endeavoured to promote.

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE

The National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing or Kindred Congregations was initiated by the British and Foreign Unitarian Association in 1881, on the lines of a similar organization in the United States, its intention being to bring together for purposes of consultation and mutual stimulus representatives of all the Churches in this country which stand for freedom in matters of faith. Beginning with meetings at Liverpool in 1882, the Conference met triennially until the War broke the sequence, which was resumed in 1920. After 1882, the places of meeting have been Birmingham, Leeds, London, Manchester, Sheffield, Leicester, Liverpool, Oxford, Bolton, Birmingham, London, Leeds, Manchester, Sheffield (1926).

In 1898, the Committee of the Conference, being constructed on a representative basis, was " instructed to hold regular meetings to consult and when considered advisable to take action in matters affecting the well-being and interests of the Congregations and Societies which form the Conference " ; and in various ways this was done, to the advantage of our Churches generally, and with the endorsement of the Conference itself at its General Meetings.

During the forty-six years of its existence the National Conference inaugurated various Funds and Committees, nearly all of which are still actively at work. In other cases it took over work already in progress, or collaborated in different undertakings. Mention may be made of the Sustentation Fund (1882), Ministers' Pension and Insurance Fund (1902), Subvention Fund (1920), six regional Advisory Committees, Ministerial Settlements Board, Committee of the Supply of Ministers, Social Service Union, Aged Ministers and Widows Fund, Contributory Insurance Fund, and (in co-operation with others) the compilation of "Hymns of Worship." The Annual Recognition Service for Ministers who have settled among us was also established by the Conference.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

PREAMBLE, CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

WHEREAS after the passing of the Act of Uniformity in 1662 and the Act of Toleration in 1689, Congregations of Protestant Dissenters were established in many parts of England and Wales, and Meeting Houses were put in trust for the Public Worship of God without restriction of doctrine ; and WHEREAS many of these Congregations, mostly under the name " Presbyterian," preserved their liberty through vicissitudes of doctrinal development, and under grave civil and religious disabilities, and later became known as " Unitarian " or " Free Christian " or under some other kindred designation, their rights as a denomination being maintained as one of the Three Denominations having privilege of audience with the King, and as alone legally entitled to use the name " English Presbyterian"; and WHEREAS a similar course of development took place in many of the Irish Presbyterian Congregations, which after secession from the General Assembly took the name of " Non-subscribing Presbyterian," some of them being known later as " Unitarian " or " Free Christian "; and WHEREAS the Unitarian Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and The Practice of Virtue by the Distribution of Books (established 1791), the Unitarian Fund (established for missionary propaganda in 1806), the Unitarian Association for the Protection of the Civil Rights of Unitarians (established in 1819), and the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, (established in 1825), into which these three bodies were merged, have given moral and intellectual and financial support to many of the said Congregations down to the present time, besides founding many other Congregations on the same open trust ; and WHEREAS, the Sunday School having become an important part of the life and work of the Congregations, the Sunday School Association was established in 1833, and has ever since served the interests of the Sunday Schools connected with the said Congregations ; and WHEREAS the British and Foreign Unitarian Association in 1881 initiated the establishment of the National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congregations, and has been in close relationship with it ever since ; and WHEREAS in 1883 the Sustentation Fund for the Augmentation of Ministers' Stipends was established by the National Conference, and from that date until the present time has taken over the larger portion of the work of supporting the said Congregations ; and WHEREAS in 1902 the Ministers' Pension and Insurance Fund was established by the National Conference, providing for the Ministers of the said Congregations a system of insurance for their old age and for their dependents after their death; and WHEREAS in the natural development of the operations of the National Conference there has arisen

a certain amount of duplication of effort and resources with those previously within the sole province of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association ; and WHEREAS the personnel of management in the organisations named is largely the same, and their interests are allied ; AN ATTEMPT AT UNIFICATION OF THE FORCES OF THE DENOMINATION SEEMED DESIRABLE.

WHEREFORE, in connection with the Centennial Celebration of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, the Executive Committee of the Association approached the Committee of the National Conference, suggesting that a good deal might be achieved by closer co-ordination, if not even vital union, between the Association and the Conference. The suggestion was favourably entertained, and negotiations proceeded. At the Triennial National Conference, held at Sheffield on the 12th April, 1926, the following resolution was passed :

> " That the Conference, approving of the desire of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association for more vital union, should arrange for its own Committee to appoint a small Committee to investigate the possibilities of such a scheme as outlined, to consult with the B. & F. U. A., to explore the wishes and judgment of the constituent Churches represented in the Conference, and to consider constructive proposals for consolidating and strengthening the whole work of the Denomination, and giving it one representative organization as its recognized head."

At the 101st Annual Meeting of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, held in Whit-week, 1926, the following resolution was passed :—

> "That as the National Conference has approved of the desire of the B. & F. U. A. for more vital union, and has arranged to appoint a Committee to investigate the possibilities of such a scheme as outlined, this Annual Meeting instructs the Executive Committee to continue their efforts, to consider constructive proposals for consolidating and strengthening the whole work of the Denomination and giving it one representative organization as its recognized head, and further to examine the bearings of such a union on the constitution and work of the Association."

A Joint Delegation was appointed, consisting of representatives of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association and of the National Conference. This Delegation agreed to recommend the desirability of the merging of the Association and the Conference, and auxiliary institutions as far as practicable, into a GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF UNITARIAN AND FREE CHRISTIAN CHURCHES, established on a representative basis, to carry on and develop the work which has hitherto been done by them all, thus unifying the life of the denomination. The Constitution set forth below was submitted by the Joint Delegation, with the assent of the two Committees, to a Special Meeting of the Conference on Tuesday, May 29th, 1928, and to a Special Meeting of the Association on May 30th, 1928, and adopted by both bodies.

I. Resolution adopted by the National Conference :

"That the name of the National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congregations be and is hereby changed from its existing name to 'The General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches': that the British and Foreign Unitarian Association, which has recently changed or is changing its name to 'The General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches' be amalgamated and united with the National Conference: that the Rules of the National Conference be altered and that the rules annexed hereto be and the same hereby are adopted as the Rules of the National Conference in place of the existing Rules."

II. Resolution adopted by the British and Foreign Unitarian Association:

"That the name of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association be and the same is hereby changed from its existing name to 'The General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches': that the National Conference of Unitarian. Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congregations, which has recently changed or is changing its name to 'The General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches,' be amalgamated and united with the Association: that the Rules of the Association be altered and that the Rules annexed hereto be and the same hereby are adopted as the Rules of the Association in place of the existing Rules."

The Joint Delegation consisted of the following members :—

(2) Those ministers who, having accepted full-time employment in some other vocation, have withdrawn from the regular list, but are desirous of retaining ministerial status and wish to give what service they can to our churches.

(3) Men or women of satisfactory professional status who have retired from their particular profession and have accepted the charge of churches on the Roll of the General Assembly.

Provided Always : (a) that the placing of a name on this Supplementary List shall not entitle the person concerned to any financial or other privilege for ministers on the regular Ministerial Roll ; (b) that each person on the Supplementary List shall be a subscribing (and where possible a worshipping) member of a congregation on the Roll of the General Assembly ; (c) that every application for recognition on this List shall be subject first to consideration by the Ministry Committee and then to approval by the Council of the General Assembly.

Note.—Managers of Benevolent, Fellowship, Pension, Sustentation, and other Funds are under no obligation to admit a minister to benefits simply because his name appears in the Year Book of the General Assembly.

Omission of Names

(1) On resigning his charge, any minister may withdraw his name from the list.

(2) On his becoming a minister in another denomination, the name is omitted.

(3) The names of ministers who have ceased to reside in the British Isles (apart from those in the list of Ministers overseas) are omitted, but may on their personal application be included.

(4) The names are omitted of those who have withdrawn from the ministry, or who for five years have had no active connexion with our churches or work. This rule does not apply to those who are temporarily out of service, or to those who, having been in the regular ministry, have retired by reason of age or infirmity.

(5) The names are omitted of persons who, by conduct, character, or otherwise, are in the opinion of the Council of the General Assembly, on the report of an Advisory Committee or a District Association, unfitted for continuing to hold the office of a minister.

Important to Congregations

Congregations are advised to take no steps in regard to the selection or appointment of any minister whose name does not appear in the List, or who is not entitled to receive the qualifying certificate as a minister (see p. 72)

LAY PASTORS

Lay Pastors are persons (other than ministers) in regular charge of a congregation or mission, who have applied for and obtained this status from the Ministry Committee on the recommendation of an Advisory Committee. College students who, while pursuing their studies, are in charge of congregations with the approval of the College authorities, may also, if they wish, be so described.

Those Lay Pastors who are actively preparing for ministerial status, whether in College or through the General Assembly Course of Reading and Examination (see p. 122), are indicated by a † placed before their names after they have passed the First Year Examination.

The names of Lay Pastors are usually omitted on the termination of their engagements, and reinserted on their obtaining a fresh appointment.

ABBREVIATIONS

List of Congregations

Dates—O. before a date indicates the year of the congregation's origin ; B. indicates the date of its first building ; O.B. indicates that the date of origin and the date of the first building are the same ; F. indicates that the date of origin cannot be ascertained with certainty, so the year of the first reference to the existence of a congregation is given. These dates have been scrupulously revised and corrected by a committee of the Historical Society.

In every case the last date is that of the present building. Buildings intermediate between the first and the present one, and renovations or alterations to original buildings, are ignored.

Hymn Books—H.W. = Hymns of Worship ; H.W.R. = Hymns of Worship Revised ; E.R. = Essex Hall Hymnal Revised ; C.W. = Hymns for Christian Worship (Ireland) ; P.M. = Perlau Moliant, Pearls of Praise (Wales) ; N. = New Hymnal (Novello) ; P. = Book used by a few Congregations.

Liturgies—L. after Hymn Book signifies that a Liturgy is used at one or both services. Those chiefly in use are Orders of Worship, Ten Services of Public Prayer, and Seven Services for Public Worship.

Sunday Schools—The small s after the hours of service indicates that there is a Sunday School; y, a Youth group.

Lay Charge—The letters L.C. indicate a period of lay charge in the record of the congregation.

Pastoral Oversight—The letters P.O. indicate that pastoral oversight is exercised by the minister named, usually the settled minister of a neighbouring congregation.

List of Ministers

Colleges—M.N.C. = Manchester New College (altered in 1893 to Manchester College, Oxford, M.C.O.) ; H.M.C. = Unitarian Home Missionary College (altered in 1926 to Unitarian College, Manchester, U.C.M.) ; Car. = Presbyterian College, Carmarthen.

Lay Charge—L.C. = Lay charge of a congregation before attaining ministerial status.

MINISTERS DECEASED

November, 1963, to October, 1964

Flower.—John Cyril Flower died on 11th February, 1964, aged 78 years at Wimborne, Dorset. Born in Nottingham he was educated at the University of London graduating B.A. in 1910, M.A. in 1914. He was Hibbert Research Student at Cambridge, 1922-25; graduating Ph.D. in 1925. From 1911 to 1913 he served in the Congregational ministry at Bradford where he made many interesting contacts. In that year he joined our ranks and ministered at Sale 1913-15, Bolton Bank Street 1915-22, and then entered upon his most influential ministry when he became the first settled minister of the Cambridge Church. Here as late when he was for a short period Bursar of M.C.O. following six years as Upton Lecturer, he exercised great influence on the students who came under his care in class or in chapel. He also firmly established the Cambridge church giving it a character and a tradition maintained ever since. From 1933-50 he ministered at Ringwood combining with it Poole from 1944-47. In all his ministries he won the hearts and affections of his people by his devotion to their concerns. He was a gifted preacher with a brilliant mind yet never too busy to deal with the ordinary cares and problems of his folk, nor did he neglect service to the denomination as a whole. He was Secretary of the Southern Unitarian Association for five years and its President for three years; for nineteen years he was Secretary of the Hibbert Trust; for seven years he served on the Committee of M.C.O.; for some years he served on the Council of the Assembly; and in 1925 he went with a group of brilliant men to the United States to take part in the celebrations of the centenary of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association and the American Unitarian Association. And for four years in the Second World War he was Milk Officer and Assistant Food Executive Officer for Ringwood and Fordingbridge Rural District. No one ever called upon him to help in vain and he sacrificed his own health by his ready response. A generation of ministers and laity who came under his influence will never forget his inspiration and know that it was he who aroused in them the desire to serve our body by his kindly outstanding example. He was a philosopher with a rare gift of easy writing and speaking whom the simplest soul could understand, and his School at Prayer remains a beautiful example of his ability to express in simple terms the deep longings and aspirations of children.

Among his many published works are:—The Parables of Jesus applied to Modern Life; Psychological Studies of Religious Questions; The Mastery of Mind; An Approach to the Psychology of Religion; Religious Experience; Psychology simplified.

Hill.—Edgar Walfor Hill died on 17th August at Kidderminster aged 73 years. Educated at Liverpool University, 1911-15, he graduated B.A. in 1915, and M.A. in 1921, and at M.C.O., 1915-19. From 1916 to 1918 he served in the Non-combatant Corps. He held ministries at Huddersfield, 1921-24; Mexborough, 1924-26; Lancaster, 1926-32; Coseley 1933-47; Wallasey, 1947-56, with Birkenhead, 1947-53, and Kidderminster 1956-64. For seven years, 1949-56, he served on the G.A. Council and on its Grants and Extension Committee and during the same period he was the ministerial secretary of the Liverpool District Missionary Association rom 1949 to 1953 he was Assistant Secretary of the Ministerial Fellowship, king over the full office in 1953 he occupied it for another six years, rning the gratitude and respect of his fellow ministers for the efficient anner in which he carried out his duties, and for his sympathy in time of ouble. He also served the Midland Union as its President, 1945-47. In vic life he was President of the Bilston Rotary Club, a Vice-President of e Kidderminster Liberal Association, a member of the Kidderminster ducation Committee, Secretary of the Coseley Branch of the League of ations Union and during the war, 1939-45 he had charge of the Coseley tizens Advice Bureau. It was as a devoted pastor to his congregation herever he served that he is remembered with real affection, for though e most efficient of officers in any organisation he retained a deep love of eople so that they readily turned to him in their hour of need.

ay.—Ethel Kay died on 10th August, aged 71 years, at Barnsley. ducated at M.C.O., 1924-27, she held ministries at Whitby, 1927-29; Varwick, 1929-36; London, Stepney, 1936-40; Acton and Richmond, 940-50; Dover, 1950-53. From 1936 to 1944 she was the very good ecretary of the Central Postal Mission and many who wrote in reply to dvertisements found in her a most sympathetic and understanding xponent of our faith. She was a gentle, unassuming personality who won e respect and admiration of her people by her devotion to their needs, ever sparing herself in service to others despite the fact that she was not a robust nature. Eventually ill-health caused her to retire from the inistry, but she kept her keen interest in our movement to the very end.

eters.—Ernest Stanley Peters died on 27th January at Holywood, elfast, aged 59 years. He was trained as optician at the London Refrac- on Hospital and after taking his diploma joined the teaching staff. Later e took part in the founding of the Department of Ophthalmology in the ardiff Technical College and practised as a consulting optician for a umber of years until at the age of 41 he made the decision to train for the inistry and entered M.C.O. taking the full course, 1946-49. He ministered rst of all at Chesterfield, 1949-54; and then at Holywood from 1954 ntil his death. That same courage and determination which led him to ecide in middle life to enter the ministry was manifest in his labours in s congregations. Always a thoughtful, considerate and sensitive man e found great inspiration in music for which he had a genuine love and ppreciation. He will be remembered as a conscientious pastor, a kind iend and a sensitive man of God who was ever interested in promoting e welfare of his congregation.

reston.—Lillian Scott Preston died on 28th January at Littlehampton, ged 70 years. Educated at King's College for Women, 1923-24; and .C.M., 1929-32, she obtained the University Certificate in Theology, 932. Her first ministry was as Assistant to the Rev. Herbert Barnes at ewcastle-on-Tyne with charge of Choppington, 1932-35; then followed ree years at Birkenhead, and in 1939 she moved to Horwich where she mained until ill-health caused her to retire in 1946. The Watford ellowship benefited greatly in its early years from her interest, for she as a founder-member and on her suggestion a branch of the Women's eague was started and proved of untold value. She was secretary of the League branch and conducted many services until a further deterioration in her health caused her to withdraw and her final long illness prevented any active participation, though she retained her interest until the end. In each of her churches she was held in high esteem and her courage in adversity was an inspiration to all.

Rowe.—Mortimer Rowe died on 10th August, aged 85 years, in London. After a short period in business he read geology at Lincoln College, Oxford, 1901-04; graduating B.A. in 1905; after a year at Leeds University he entered M.C.O. in 1905 for the three-year course. He had ministries at Norwich, 1908-13; Preston, 1913-19; Chowbent, 1920-28; he then took up the Secretaryships of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association from which he retired in 1964, and the General Assembly, retiring from that office in 1949. During the first World War he served in the R.A.M.C., 1916-19, being awarded the Military Medal for bravery in the field. He was honoured by his fellow ministers with the Presidency of the Ministerial Fellowship, and was President of the Ministers Pension and Insurance Fund from 1957 until his death. He served for many years as a Director of The Inquirer and as an Essex Hall Trustee, a Trustee of Dr. Williams's Library, the Samuel Jones and Daniel Jones Funds; for thirty-four years he served on the Committee of the Aged and Infirm Protestant Dissenting Ministers being chairman for the last eight years. He served on the Council of M.C.O., was a Visitor at U.C.M. and gave the Centenary Address in 1954. After his retirement he was later co-opted to the Assembly Council and served for three years as Chairman of the Publications Committee. He preached the Anniversary Sermon in 1950 and this was later printed as a pamphlet—Our Unitarian Faith and Worship. He personally rescued many documents from the bomb-shattered ruins of Essex Hall and took a leading role in ensuring the rebuilding, so that when the opening ceremony took place it was natural that he should give the Dedicatory Prayer; all agreed this was worthy of the occasion and the man. He placed the movement further in his debt by his The Story of Essex Hall telling in a most interesting way the history of the old building from before Lindsey took it over until the opening of the new Hall. His greatest literary work was The Golden Treasury of the Bible which has become a household word among us and is well-established beyond our circles. Other books which benefited greatly from his influence were Orders of Worship, Prayers of Faith and Fellowship, Hymns of Worship Revised, with its Tune Book shortly to appear. At Oxford he seemed set for a brilliant career as a scientist, but turned to our ministry and what science lost we richly gained for he was a first class pastor and administrator and an excellent preacher. He loved the mountains, especially of Skye, and could be a wonderful companion walking, climbing, or yarning at the close of day. In every sense he had a large mind and he was a big man in his faith and his actions. Despite all the shadows and difficulties he remained to the end convinced of the bright future of our movement.

ADDENDUM

As the Year Book goes to press we learn with regret that the Revs. Frank Bullock, Ernest Green and William Holden have died. Memorial paragraphs will appear in the 1966 Year Book.

The Hall was let for public eetings, lectures, arbitrations and other purposes ; it thus became a ell-known centre for gatherings of men and women interested in very ried schemes for the amelioration and enlightenment of mankind.

In June, 1957, the Foundation Stone of the new building was laid and on ctober 25th, 1958, the new Essex Hall was opened. It again contains the fices of the General Assembly and of the Sunday School Association, and e Lindsey Press Bookshop. BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION INCORPORATED

Secretary—Rev. John Kielty

At the Annual Meeting of members of the B. and F.U.A. held at Whitsuntide, 1914, a resolution was adopted authorising the Committee to take the necessary legal steps for securing the Incorporation of the Association. Accordingly a "Memorandum and Articles of Association" was prepared under competent legal advice and in consultation with officials of the Board of Trade; the Licence by the Board of Trade was issued on July 21st, 1915, and the Certificate of Incorporation on July 28th, 1915. The Association is licensed under section 20 of the Companies (Consolidation) Act 1908. It is especially provided, as a condition of granting the licence, that no portion of its income shall be paid or transferred by way of profit to any member of the Association; and the Memorandum includes a clause giving the objects of the Association (as stated above, pages 20-21).

A body corporate is legally an individual. On the financial side, the chief advantage of incorporation is that it obviates the trouble and expense incurred in transferring investments on the death or resignation of trustees. In this body corporate the funds which were administered by the Executive Committee of the Association are legally vested, whether for the general purposes of the body, or for special purposes prescribed under wills or trusts. The merging of the general membership of the Association in the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches does not involve the dissolution of the Incorporated Association, which remains in being as a trust-holding body; and its position is recognised in clause 8 of the Constitution (see page 17). The income from general investments is paid over to the General Assembly, to be expended in accordance with the objects referred to above. The Articles of Incorporation, as amended by the Board of Trade since the formation of the General Assembly, permit the membership of the Incorporated Association (at present about 50) to be maintained by the election of new members at the discretion of the Annual General Meeting. An Executive Committee of 13 members is elected annually.

Under the authority of Statutory Instrument 1961 No. 1282 the Association is empowered to sell or otherwise deal with certain property of which it is Trustee without the consent of the Charity Commission (as required by the Charities Act 1960) provided it complies strictly with certain requirements.

This method of preparing for ministerial status is open only to Lay Pastors normally of 28 years of age and upwards, who can show good reason why a College course is out of the question. Permission to pursue it is granted by the Ministry Committee on the production of adequate recommendations. There are four annual examinations, to be taken during a period of probation while the Lay Pastor is in charge of a congregation or mission. ADVISORY COMMITTEES

The future of these Committees is under consideration, as recommended by the Commission on the Work of the Churches, with a view to the adoption of other methods of carrying out their functions. Meanwhile, the information given below represents the present position.

These Committees, six in number, were appointed by the Provincial Assemblies, or by groups of District Associations, and their areas o operation correspond with their method of appointment. The chief task is to examine the credentials, character, education and general fitness of (a) persons who, having done satisfactory work in connection with the Churches of the General Assembly, seek to be recognised as Lay Pastors ; and (b) Lay Pastors who desire to be admitted to the Reading and Examination Scheme (see above). All recommendations are submitted to the Ministry Committee of the General Assembly for approval. Ministers from other Denominations seeking to enter the ministry of the General Assembly are now dealt with by the Ministry Committee direct.

The Advisory Committees are also empowered to offer their services in cases of difficulty arising between Minister and Congregation ; and likewise, on the application of a Minister, to adjudicate upon his continued fitness to occupy a ministerial position. These supplemental duties of Advisory Committees, though happily very seldom needing to be exercised, should not be forgotten by Congregations, Ministers and District Associations.

Four of the six Advisory Committees—the Lancs. and Cheshire, Southern, Northern, and Midland—have surrendered their functions to the Ministry Committee. The remaining two are as follows :—

(1) Western : appointed by the Western Union.
Sec., Rev. J. W. Maw.

(2) South Wales : appointed by the South Wales Unitarian Association and the S.E. Wales Unitarian Society.
Sec., Rev. D. J. Davies.

MINISTERIAL SETTLEMENTS

The importance of wise counsel and friendly assistance in this matter cannot be over-estimated, and the Ministry Committee of the General Assembly exists chiefly to be of service in this connection both to congregations and to ministers.

Congregations seeking the appointment of a new Minister are strongly urged to apply to the Secretary for recommendations, which will be made by the Ministry Committee. Advertising by individual congregations should be avoided. The Ministry Committee will insert a list of Vacant Pulpits in The Inquirer at regular intervals. Ministers desiring a change of pastorate are invited to communicate with the Secretary of the General Assembly. The attention of congregations is called to the paragraph at the foot of page 31.

(c) For the above purposes to collect donations, subscriptions and gifts of all other kinds from the members of the Association or any other persons and to publicise its objects and activities among its members or any other persons.

Membership is open to anyone over 21 years who shall sign a form of application as prescribed by the Committee. The minimum annual subscription is £1.1.0 per annum.

SECTION IX

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST ASSOCIATION

In May of 1961 the American Unitarian Association and the Universalis Church of America voted to formally conclude the consolidation of thei two organizations, and a new liberal religious movement was born i America—the Unitarian Universalist Association. The new denomina tion emerged after nearly a century of common effort. Consolidatio was complete above the parish level and it brought together in a singl organization 118,000 Unitarians with 405 churches and 360 fellowshi groups and more than 71,000 members of the 400 Universalist churches In addition, 68,000 children in Unitarian Church Schools and 18,000 i Universalist Church Schools are involved.

The purposes of the new organization are:—

(1) To strengthen one another in a free and disciplined search fo truth as the foundation of our religious fellowship;
(2) To cherish and spread the universal truths taught by the grea prophets and teachers of humanity in every age and tradition immemorially summarized in the Judeo-Christian heritage as lov to God and love to man;
(3) To affirm, defend and promote the supreme worth of every huma personality, the dignity of man, and the use of the democrati method in human relationships;
(4) To implement our vision of one world by striving for a worl community founded on ideals of brotherhood, justice and peace
(5) To serve the needs of member churches and fellowships, t organize new churches and fellowships, and to extend an strengthen liberal religion;
(6) To encourage co-operation with men of good will in every land.

The Association is the chief executive arm of the Unitarian an Universalist churches and fellowships. Its work is carried on by variou departments—fund raising, service projects, ministry, extension, publica tions, adult programmes, information, college centres, religious education

The headquarters of the Association are at 25 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. President: Rev. Dana McLean Greeley, D.D., to whom all correspondence should be addressed.

In addition to the Association, there are other denominational organizations which work with it in close co-operation and have offices at 25 Beacon Street: the Alliance of Unitarian Women, the Association of Universalist Women, the Laymen's League, the Fellowship for Social Justice, each with its own president and other officers.

OUTSIDE America, the British Dominions, Hungary and Transylvania, Liberal Religious churches and movements seldom use the name "Unitarian" or "Free Christian," but in many parts of the world there are Churches and Societies in substantial agreement with the same fundamental principles.

Belgium.—There is a Free Christian Church in Brussels, of which the late Rev. P. Teissonnière was minister from 1910 to 1940; he died in France in 1946. He was succeeded by the Rev. F. Hoyois in October, 1940. Liberal congregations connected with the parent church were also founded in Liége, Charleroi and Ghent. With much difficulty, Pastor Hoyois was able to keep the movement alive during the years of German occupation. The monthly publication, Les Conférences du Foyer, the organ of "The New Reformation," suffered interruption after 1940, and was revived by Pastor Hoyois, until 1947.

Czecho-Slovakia.—Bohemia, with its great memories of John Hus and the Moravian Brethren, had long been a centre of liberal thought, and the creation of the Republic in 1918 as a result of the war gave the people the freedom they desired. The effect upon their intellectual and spiritual life was profound. Upwards of one million seceded from the Roman Catholic Church and formed the Czecho-slovak Church, which threw off the dogmatic shackles of the past and became definitely liberal in its tendency. In 1924 it established its own Theological School in Prague, where some fifty students were usually in training for the ministry, taking courses also in the John Hus Protestant Theological Faculty of the University. Here several professorships have, since 1934, been held by scholars of the Czecho-slovak Church. The International Congress met in Prague in September, 1927, and did much to arouse interest in liberal religion. The Czecho-slovak Church co-operated in all the work of the Congress, as a liberal church based upon freedom of conscience. It has been a member-group of the International Association for Religious Freedom since the beginning. During the years before 1939, several students spent a session at Manchester College, Oxford. The drastic reduction of Czecho-slovakian territory in 1938, followed by the German occupation in March, 1939, and the war of 1939-45, inflicted grave suffering and loss upon this Church and upon immense numbers of its people, including several of its ministers, upon one of whom the death penalty was cruelly inflicted, while five died in concentration camps. Its head, Bishop Prochazka, died in 1941, after bravely resisting German repressive measures. His successor, Bishop Kovar, was elected in 1946.

In addition to the Czecho-slovak Church there is also a strong Unitarian movement in Prague, with branch groups in four or five other centres. In 1921, Dr. Norbert Capek went to Prague with the support of the American Unitarian Association, as the pioneer of this movement His message met a widespread popular need, and its success was extra ordinary. Temporary premises were secured on a good site, and subse quently a building was erected there with the help of the British an American Associations, as a centre of all the activities of the movement Dr. Capek was imprisoned and afterwards brutally murdered in 1942 b the Germans, a fate from which his assistant and son-in-law, the Rev. Dr K. Haspl, narrowly escaped. Dr. Haspl carried on the work until hi retirement in 1960 when he was succeeded by Dr. D. Kafka.

Denmark.—There is a Unitarian congregation in Copenhagen, whic has grown considerably since its foundation. A fine church building wa opened in 1928. The minister, Pastor Kierkegaard, has started missionar movements in four other towns, including Odense and Esbjerg. I August, 1934, the International Association held its Congress in Coper hagen by invitation of the Unitarian congregation. Pastor Kierkegaar was able to carry on his work during the years of German occupatior although amid much difficulty and hardship, and he and his congregatio are now as active as in earlier years.

France.—A considerable number of the Protestant ministers of th Reformed Church in France belong to the liberal wing, which has a organisation of its own. The principal liberal churches in Paris ar the Oratoire, 1 Rue de l'Oratoire du Louvre, and Le Foyer de l'Ame Rue du Pasteur Wagner. Pasteur Barbier and his congregation at Stras bourg, evacuated and scattered during the war, are re-established in thei former church. The years between the wars, however, saw a marke tendency towards the right in French Protestant theology, which had it effect upon the liberal movement.

Germany.—Before the first World War, the "Protestantenverein (Protestant Union), formed in 1865, was the chief bond of union amon German Liberal Christians ; the principal centre of Liberal theology wa the University of Marburg. During the long and troubled period betwee the two wars, and especially after 1933, when intellectual freedom wa crushed, Liberal Religious thought and activity were conducted ami fear and uncertainty, and survived only on a much diminished scal Since the end of the second World War communications have bee reopened, and there is evidence of a widespread revival of interest i Liberal Religion. The Rev. Magnus Ratter visited the British an American Zones in October 1948, and the British Zone in May 1949, an Rev. Kenneth Twinn visited the Rhineland in May 1951, investigating th post-war situation. There are several communities claiming roots in th early 19th century Free Catholic and Free Protestant movements, ur fortunately with little mutual co-operation, but standing for spiritua freedom, the use of reason rather than tradition, for tolerance rather tha uniformity. These are the Deutscher Unitarier Bund (German Unitaria Association) centred mainly round Frankfurt and the Freie Gemeinde (Free Congregations) in Offenbach and Mainz, which are perhaps closes together ; the Bund Freireligiöser Gemeinden Deutschlands (Associatio of Free-religious Congregations of Germany), mainly, thoub not ex clusively in the Rhine Palatinate, and the Deutsche Unitarier Religions gemeinschaft (German Unitarians, Religious Fellowship) principally i North Germany, the latter two being rather more humanistic. All ar free from state control. There are other groups in Berlin and elsewhere, as well as a small but influential minority in the orthodox church holding "modernist" convictions, and organized in the Bund für Freies Christentum (Association for Free Christianity).

Holland.—The "Nederlandse Protestantenbond" (Protestant Union of Holland) was established in 1870 as a converging point for Liberals belonging to every church of the country—Reformed, Lutheran, Remonstrant, Mennonite, and Free. It was estimated in the years between the two wars that about twenty-five per cent. of the Protestant ministers in Holland were liberal. The "Vergadering van moderne Theologen" (a meeting of liberal Protestant ministers and scholars) was a yearly meeting of liberal ministers of various denominations. The liberal section of the Dutch Reformed Church was organized in several Provincial Unions. A Central Committee representing all groups of Free Protestants was formed, with headquarters in Utrecht. The Universities of Leiden and Amsterdam are the educational centres of the Free Protestantism in Holland; Leiden for the Dutch Reformed and Remonstrants, Amsterdam for the Mennonites and Lutherans. The International Congress of Religious Liberals was held at Amsterdam in 1903, and in Leiden in 1922. In 1929 the Headquarters of this movement, re-named the International Association for Religious Freedom, was established in Holland, with a Secretariat of Dutch Liberal ministers; today several laymen are also members. Since the war, one of the most significant developments has been the establishment of the Liberal Protestant Broadcasting Company (VPRO). It may be said that liberalism has an influence in Dutch life far greater than is commensurate with its actual membership.

Hungary.—In addition to a number of Unitarian congregations in various towns and villages, there is an important and influential church in Budapest (established in 1869) in the Headquarters building of the denomination. Largely because of the numbers of refugees from Transylvania after the first World War, steps were taken jointly in 1923 by the British and American Unitarian Associations to purchase suitable accommodation for a second Unitarian parish in Budapest under the ministry of the Rev. Dr. G. Csiki (Bishop of the Hungarian Unitaran Church until 1957) and the Unitarian Mission House was established, part of the premises being rebuilt in 1929 as a place of worship. Since the establishment of the People's Republic communication has not been easy, and recent events have added to their difficulties.

Iceland.—Many people in Iceland are in sympathy with Unitarian religious opinions. The late M. Jochumsson, of Akureyri, poet and writer, formerly a Lutheran pastor, was an avowed liberal theologian, Twenty liberal Christian congregations are included in the United Conference of Icelandic Churches in North America. These congregations are in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Canada.

India.—There are representatives of the Unitarian faith in many parts of India. The various sections of the Brahmo Samaj, the Theistic Church of India, have local societies in numerous places. The largest section, known as the Sadharan Brahmo Samaj, has its central office at 211 Cornwallis Street, Calcutta. Many of its leaders have been students at Manchester College, Oxford. There is a Unitarian church and congregation in Madras (estab. 1795). The Khasi and Jaintia Hills Unitarian Union includes a number of scattered congregations in Assam. Its members belong to the hill tribes and speak the Khasi language. From 1930 to 1932, Rev. Magnus Ratter was at work in India as the representative of the General Assembly, visiting many of the Brahmo Samaj congregations and spending a considerable time among the Khasi Hills Unitarians. In 1936, Rev. Margaret Barr already engaged in religious teaching in Calcutta, and a welcome visitor to the Khasi churches, was appointed to succeed him. Miss Barr learnt the Khasi language, won the affection of the people, and strengthened and increased the number of their congregations. In due course she established and staffed schools which earned Government recognition and support. In 1948 the largest of these, the Lady Reid School, Shillong was taken over by the Government, enlarged and rebuilt and turned into a Basic Training School. After a year and a half as Principal, Miss Barr resigned and handed it over to the Khasis. Meanwhile the Rural Training Centre at Kharang has been developed, the medical services having been much extended with the help of the Canadian Unitarian Service Committee.

London Brahmo Samaj.—Besides providing for the spiritual and cultural welfare of Brahmos and non-Brahmo sympathizers, the main function of the London Brahmo Samaj is to propagate the religious and cultural aspects of the Brahmo Samaj amongst the Western world.

Rumania.—A fully organized Unitarian Church has existed in Transylvania since its foundation by Bishop Francis David in 1568. In the sixteenth century it consisted of more than 400 congregations, but this number was greatly reduced by protracted and bitter persecutions which lasted about 200 years. Before the recent war the number of Unitarian congregations with settled ministers was 112 ; and there were fifty places where the minister of the neighbouring congregation rendered occasional services. The oldest congregation is at Cluj-Kolozsvar (1568). The total membership was 80,000. The churches are organized under a Bishop and two Curators (Lay Presidents). The churches are distributed into eight districts, each presided over by a Dean, and are governed by a Chief Consistory at Cluj-Kolozsvar. There are elementary schools attached to many of the congregations, and at Cluj-Kolozsvar and Keresztur there are High Schools for boys. There is a Theological College at Cluj-Kolozsvar, established about 1556 by John Sigismund, Prince of Transylvania. Many of the professors and ministers have studied at our English colleges. The Francis David Association, which was established in 1884, for the promotion of religion and moral culture, has many branches and upwards of 1900 members. The problem of the Unitarian and other Minority churches in Rumania after the 1914-18 war was full of difficulty and perplexity, but the situation was closely watched in England and America in the interests of religious liberty and the rights of minorities. In this work Unitarians took a leading part. Reliable news concerning the churches during the Russian occupation is still scanty, but Bishop Jozan who died in 1946 has now been succeeded by Bishop Alexis Kiss, elected in September, 1946.

Switzerland.—A considerable proportion of Swiss Protestants are Liberal Christians, although the influence of the Barthian theology during the recent years has undoubtedly had an adverse effect upon the numbers of those avowing liberal views. The liberal congregations are found in both the German and the French speaking cantons, notably in Zurich, St. Gall, Basle and Geneva. The Free Christian Union (Verein fur Freies Christentum, Union Suisse pour le christianisme libéral), with many branches and a large membership, an association within the state church, which itself has a non-credal basis, is the official organization and focal point of action. Popular literature and periodicals issued under its auspices have assisted greatly in spreading the knowledge of liberal doctrines, while more scholarly books and journals frequently appear. The University of Basle has a number of liberal professors, and the cathedral of Geneva represents a long liberal tradition, recently assured continuance by the appointment after some controversy of a young minister of that persuasion. The International Congress of Religious Liberals held its meetings in Geneva in 1905; the International Association for Religious Freedom held a delegate Conference at St. Gall in August, 1932, and a similar conference in August, 1947, at Berne.

THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR LIBERAL CHRISTIANITY AND RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

(Incorporated under Dutch Law).

HEADQUARTERS (temporary) : 40 Laan Copes van Cattenburch, The Hague, Holland.

The purposes of the Association are—

"(a) to bring into closer union the historic liberal Churches, the liberal element in all churches, and isolated congregations and workers for religious freedom ;

"(b) to draw into the same fellowship free religious groups throughout the world which are in essential agreement with our ways of thinking ;

"(c) to open and maintain communication with free Christian groups in all lands who are striving to unite religion and liberty, and to increase fellowship and co-operation among them."

On 25th May, 1900, "The International Council of Unitarian and other Liberal Religious Thinkers and Workers" was organized at Boston U.S.A. In 1910 its title was changed to "The International Congress of Free Christians and other Religious Liberals."

Meetings were held in London (1901), Amsterdam (1903), Geneva (1905), Boston, U.S.A. (1907), Berlin (1910) and Paris (1913). It was intended to hold a meeting in London in 1916, but the War made this impossible. The seventh meeting was held in Boston, U.S.A., October, 1920, in connexion with the Tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Founders of New England. The Congress met in Leiden in 1922, and in Prague in 1927.

In 1930 the administrative headquarters were transferred from London to Amsterdam and later to Utrecht. A small but representative gathering of delegates from America, Britain, and various Continental lands met at Arnhem (Holland) in 1930 and drafted a Constitution which was revised and adopted by a Delegate Conference held at St. Gall in 1932, when the present title was also adopted.

The first full Congress of the new Association was held at Copenhagen 1934, and the second at Oxford in 1937. Theological Conferences were lso held in 1936 at Arnhem, and at Bentveld in 1938. As soon as possible fter the end of the war a representative delegate conference was sumoned to re-establish contacts and to plan the future of the Association, t Cambridge, in July, 1946. A still larger conference was held at Berne the summer of 1947. The first full post-war Congress was held in msterdam in 1949, and the second in Oxford in 1952, after which came elfast 1955, Chicago 1958, Davos 1961, The Hague 1964.

The present Officers of the Association are:—President, H. J. Wytema, l.D.; Vice-President, Rev. Dr. H. S. Carter ; Joint Secretaries, Rev. r. J. van Goudoever and Rev. Dr. A. W. Cramer; Treasurer, Mr. R. J. dvocaat. Individual Members Secretary, Rev. K. Twinn, Harrison arsonage, Bolton Road, Atherton, Manchester.

THE BRITISH COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

This inter-denominational organization was brought into existence 1942 on a creedal basis identical with that proposed for the World ouncil of Churches (then in process of formation), viz. " A fellowship of hurches which accept the Lord Jesus Christ as God and Saviour." The ormal invitation to join the World Council, on condition of accepting e theological basis, had already, for obvious reasons, been respectfully eclined by the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian hurches. The British Council, however, was set up by the amalgamation f various pre-existing organizations—the Commission on International ellowship and Social Responsibility, representing the " Life and Work " Iovement, and the corresponding body representing " Faith and Order." he former was itself the result of a previous amalgamation of interenominational bodies which were free from theological commitments, nd of which the General Assembly had been a member ; but when it was roposed that these bodies should be united in a British Council of hurches on a theological basis, both the Society of Friends and the eneral Assembly intimated their inability to join the new organization. his resulted in the adoption of an amendment to the conditions of memership, consisting in the addition of the words " with the understanding at any body which has hitherto been represented on the Commission " .e., the Commission on International Friendship and Social Responbility) " shall continue in membership of the Council, if so willing, even ough it does not itself accept the Basis." On these terms the Society f Friends and the General Assembly were included in the British ouncil, along with the larger Protestant denominations which accept e basis.

SECTION X

LEGAL INFORMATION

Births, Registration.—Parents are required to register the birth of their children at the Registrar's office for the district in which the child is born within six weeks. Penalty of 40s. for default. There is no charge for such registration.

Deaths, Registration.—Deaths must be registered within five days. The nearest relative present at the death or during the last illness is the responsible person, or should there be no relative present, then the occupier of the house, or the person who causes the body to be buried. Penalty for default, 40s. The doctor's certificate must be produced to the Registrar at the time of registration ; and the Registrar's certificate to the officiating minister at the interment.

Registration of Chapels.—All places of worship should be registered. Registration is effected by giving a certificate in writing that the Chapel is used for worship to the Superintendent-Registrar of the District on a form which he will supply on application. The fee on registration is 2s. 6d., and a certified copy of the Registrar-General's certificate of the registration can be obtained for a further payment of 2s. 6d. When a place of worship is entirely rebuilt, either on the same or another site, the old certificate of registration must be cancelled and the place re-registered. The registration can apply to all rooms having an internal communication, even though not under one roof. A rough sketch plan should be supplied to the Registrar on a new registration ; and alterations, shutting off rooms or opening new rooms, should be notified to him.

Disturbance of Religious Worship.—Statutory penalties can be enforced for this offence if in a certified place of worship, churchyard or burial ground.

Registration for Marriages.—A place of worship must, before marriages can legally be celebrated therein, in addition to being registered as above mentioned, be separately registered for the performance of marriages. Before registering a place for marriages, the Superintendent Registrar of the District must be satisfied by certificate that the building has been used for worship for one year previous to the application. A fee of £3 is payable, and the Registration is advertised in the London Gazette and in a local newspaper. When a chapel ceases to be used for worship or is rebuilt, the Certificate is cancelled, and in that case it requires to be renewed if worship is resumed. When a congregation has removed from one chapel to another, and the old building has ceased to be used as a place of public worship, the Certificate of the old chapel may be cancelled, and the new building registered for the solemnization of marriages, without waiting for a year to elapse. All necessary forms and information will be supplied by the Superintendent-Registrar of the District.

Marriages : England and Wales.—Marriages may be solemnized in any registered building, or in a district registry office either by Certificate or by Licence. Consent of the minister must be obtained or of one the trustees, owners, deacons or managers. If by Certificate, notice :companied with fee of 1s. for entry in "Marriage Notice Book") must given by one of the parties, if both live in one district, to the Super-endent-Registrar, on form furnished for purpose, containing solemn claration of absence of impediment to intended marriage, certifying at both of the parties have dwelt at least seven days in district, and ust be signed in presence of Registrar or deputy ; but if parties live different districts, notices must be sent to respective Superintendent-gistrars. Twenty-one clear days after entry of notice the Certificate r which 1s. 6d. must be paid) will be granted on application.

If by Licence, though both parties do not dwell in same district, only e need give notice, certifying that he or she has resided at least teen days in district, though marriage may be held in district of either rty. Both parties, however, must be in England at the time of tice, though only one clear day is required (unless marriage takes place Ireland with some one there, when seven days are required) between tice and granting of licence. Cost of Licence, £2 5s.

If "usual place of worship" at which ceremony is desired, be out of strict of either's dwelling, by inserting words :—" Such building being ual place of worship of said——," Certificate will be granted accordingly. The marriage must take place in registered building specified in rtificate, with open doors, between the hours of eight in the morning d six in the evening, within three calendar months from day of try of notice, in presence of Registrar (or his deputy, or, if the Marriage t of 1898 has been adopted, in the presence of the Authorized Person) d two or more credible witnesses besides minister, if any. At some rt of the ceremony the words must be said:—"I do solemnly declare that know not of any lawful impediment why I——— may not be joined matrimony to———"; and each must say to other : "I call upon ese persons here present to witness that I—— do take thee—— to be lawful wedded wife (or husband)" ; without which it is not a arriage.

Registrar's fee for attending marriage by Certificate, 7s. 6d. ; by cence, 15s. ; for Copy of Certificate, 3s. 9d.

By the Marriage Act, 1898 (61 & 62 Vic. c. 58), marriage may be emnized in the registered building named in the Superintendent's rtificate without the presence of any Registrar, but in the presence of ch duly Authorized Person as mentioned in the Statute. The Statute ovides for the notices and forms required to be given or complied with d the register to be kept. It is important to note that, when a nister who has been appointed Authorized Person for a Registered ilding ceases to be a Minister and Authorized Person for that Building e person who succeeds him as Minister does not thereby become thorized Person and entitled to act as such, until his appointment s been certified to the Registrar General by the Trustees or other verning Body in precisely the same manner as in the case of his pre-cessor ; he should therefore await a notification from the Registrar neral that his appointment has been duly registered.

Marriage with a Deceased Wife's Sister was legalized by Act of Parlia-ent, August, 1907, and with a Deceased Brother's Widow, July, 1921, with a nephew or niece by marriage or uncle or aunt by marriage, ly, 1931.

After a marriage at a Registrar's office, the religious service may b performed by the minister on production of the marriage certificat and payment of the customary fees, but such service is not to be recorde in the parish register of marriages.

Marriages : N. Ireland.—Marriages according to the form and disciplin of the Presbyterian Church may be celebrated—(1) By Special Licence (2) By licence ; or (3) After publication of banns.

(1) In the first case at least one of the parties must be a member of church in the Synod or Presbytery of the Moderator who grants th Special Licence.

(2) Ordinary Licences can be granted when only one of the parti is a Presbyterian. Each Presbytery is authorized to appoint, subje to the approval of the governor of Northern Ireland, ministers t issue licences for marriage in meeting-houses duly certified.

Anyone wishing to obtain a Licence must, seven days before th licence shall be delivered to him or her, produce to the licencing minist a certificate from the minister of the congregation of which he or sh shall be a member and has been a member for at least one calend month preceding.

(3) When both parties are Presbyterians, marriages may be cel brated after the banns have been proclaimed for three Sundays in th Presbyterian meeting-houses attended by each of the parties.

Marriages : Scotland.—The ceremony can be performed by th minister of any denomination, in any place, at any time, with or withou any particular form. The law has been amended so as to put an en as far as possible, to what were known as "irregular" marriages. Leg notice must now be given to the Registrar of the parish or district, th names of the contracting parties being exhibited for seven days on th notice board outside the office of the Registrar in whose district th parties have resided for at least fifteen days immediately precedin At the expiration of the period named a Certificate will be granted an on this the marriage may take place either in a church or elsewher By an act that came into force in 1940 this same procedure may no be followed in the case of marriages taking place in a Registrar office.

Burial Act, 1880.—Wherever there is a Cemetery there is no difficult in the way of a Nonconformist minister conducting a funeral servic The Act of Parliament of 1890 authorizes any person responsible for th burial of a body to give forty-eight hours' notice to the incumbent the parish in which the death took place, or in his absence to his deput that it is intended that the body shall be buried in the churchyard the parish without the Church of England service. The Act allowe a like notice to be given to the chaplain of a parochial cemetery if burial was intended to be made there; but the Burial Act, 1900 (63 & 6 Vic. c. 15, s. 8) requires that in the last-mentioned case the notice shall b given at such time and to such person as the burial authority direct It is therefore necessary in that case to inquire at the office of th cemetery, and to give such notice as the rules of the cemetery prescrib

In the case of burials in churchyards the form of notice is specifie in the Act of 1880, and the requirements are as follows :—

NOTE.—While it is desirable to keep to this form, the person receiving will not be at liberty to object to its sufficiency, because the exact ords are not used ; the Act only requiring that the notice shall be in he form, "or to the effect," of the above.

In the case of a churchyard, the notice is to be left at the house of the lergyman, or in his absence, of the clergyman in charge of the parish, r of any person appointed to receive such notices. It is not necessary hat the clergyman should consent to a burial under the Act. He can object nly to the time proposed, and do that only in certain cases. Unless be otherwise mutually arranged, burials must be between 10 and 6 'clock from April 1st to October 1st, and between 10 and 3 from October 1st to April 1st.

A burial may take place either without "any religious service" or with such Christian and orderly religious service" at the grave as the erson responsible for the burial may think fit, and "any person or ersons"—whether ministers or laymen—who may be invited or uthorized, may conduct such service, or take part in any religious act hereat. The words "Christian service" include "every religious service sed by any church, denomination, or person, professing to be Christian."

The person having charge of a burial under the Act must, either on he same day or the day after, send to the incumbent or his representative —or, in the case of a Cemetery, to the clerk—a certificate of the burial n prescribed form.

To the Rector [or as the case may be] of

The Act of 1880 does not entitle anyone to be buried in any place in hich he would have no right to be buried if the Act had not passed. Neither does it affect previously existing regulations or authority in egard to the position of graves, inscriptions on gravestones, etc.

Burial Act, 1900.—This Act modifies the Act of 1880 in the case of he consecrated parts of parochial cemeteries. The Act does not deal with churchyards. In future, Burial Boards "may, if they think fit apply to have a portion of the cemetery consecrated; formerly the were compelled to have a portion consecrated. Burial Boards are n longer compelled to erect two cemetery chapels, one for Anglicans an one for Nonconformists. They may erect any chapel "they may co sider necessary"; but any chapel so erected "shall not be consecrate or reserved for the exclusive use of any denomination." The paymen of fees to an incumbent of a parish will no longer be required "excep for services rendered by him." In future, when a Nonconformi minister officiates in the consecrated part of a parochial cemetery, h and not the clergyman, will receive the fee. These provisions apply cemeteries opened after the passing of the Act. In the case of cemeteri already existing the old fees were continued for fifteen years, that until 1915.

Cremation.—This is regulated by the Cremation Act, 1902, and th Regulations made by the Home Secretary in pursuance of that Act. It no longer necessary to leave written evidence of a wish to be cremated in the absence of a contrary declaration, the declaration of an Executor member of the family is sufficient. Two medical certificates of death a required. Forms and full information can be obtained from the Secretar or Superintendent of a Crematorium.

Charitable Trusts.—The Charities Act 1960 consolidates the law relatin to Charitable Trusts, the earlier Acts being repealed wholly or in par The Act of 1960 gives the Charity Commissioners very extensive juri diction over most Charitable Trusts, including those relating to chape and their manses etc. and charities for the advancement of religio though places of worship themselves are not required to be register in the Register of Charities which the Act sets up. The Charity Com mission are empowered to enquire into the management of Charities to oblige their trustees to render accounts; to advise trustees on th administration of the trusts; to authorize or direct legal proceedings be taken; to authorize the granting of leases and making of improv ments and the raising of money by mortgage; to authorize truste to remove the officers of any trust; to authorize the sale, exchange partition of lands; to remove and appoint trustees; to institu enquiries concerning Charities and to call for documents. The new A greatly extends the powers of the High Court and of the Charity Com missioners to settle schemes for the administration of a charity and th application of its property where its original purposes can for vario reasons no longer be carried out. It also makes it obligatory on chari trustees to apply for a Scheme for the administration of trust proper where the existing trusts are no longer effective. The exemption from th necessity to obtain Charity Commissioners' consent to the sale etc. of registered Chapel in which worship is still carried on no longer exists on the other hand, where the B. & F.U.A. (Incorporated) is a Trustee a Church or its Manse etc., it is permissible to sell (under certain co ditions which must be strictly complied with) without obtaining th consent, by virtue of special exemption granted by the Charity Com mission. Educational Charities come within the scope of the Act b are under the jurisdiction of the Minister of Education who is given mar powers similar to those of the Charity Commissioners.

Dissenters' Chapels Act, 1844.—This Act has been repealed by the Charities Act 1960, but without prejudice, in the case of Trusts of a Chapel taking effect prior to July 1844, to its provisions as to 25 years' usage being, in certain circumstances, conclusive evidence as to the legality of the doctrines taught there.

National Insurance Act, 1946.—This comprehensive Act, which came into full operation on July 5th, 1948, supersedes the various earlier Acts dealing with National Health Insurance, Old Age Pensions, Unemployment Insurance, and Workmen's Compensation. As the new Act applies in some measure to everyone, its provisions have been fully and publicly made known, and need not be summarized here. It has been necessary, however, for religious denominations to secure a ruling from the Ministry of National Insurance concerning the category, or categories, in which ministers of religion are to be placed—whether "employed persons" or "self-employed persons." The official ruling, applicable to all denominations, is as follows :—

Ministers of Religion engaged in normal ministerial duties in charge of a congregation, or congregations, are to be placed in the self-employed class, Class 2. Ministers appointed to administrative posts at denominational headquarters, or to full-time posts on the teaching staff of a theological college, are properly to be regarded as employed under contract of service and insurable in the employed class, Class 1, unless in a particular instance there are special circumstances whereby the terms of appointment are such as to negative the existence of contract of service.

Oaths Act, 1888.—This Act enacts that every person upon objecting to being sworn, and stating, as the ground of such objection, either that he has no religious belief, or that the taking of an oath is contrary to his religious belief, shall be permitted to make his solemn affirmation instead of taking an oath, in all places and for all purposes where an oath is or shall be required by law, which affirmation shall be of the same force and effect as if he had taken the oath. Every such affirmation shall be as follows :—"I, A. B., do solemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm," and then proceed with the words of the oath prescribed by law, omitting any words of imprecation or calling to witness. If any person to whom an oath is administered desires to swear with uplifted hand in the form and manner in which an oath is usually administered in Scotland, he shall be permitted to do so, and the oath shall be administered to him in such form and manner without further question. By the Act of 1909, an alteration in the manner of administering oaths is authorized.

Rates and Taxes, Exemption from.—Income Tax is not chargeable on Chapel properties so far as they are used, or the rents or profits are applied, for charitable purposes, e.g., if used solely for religious purposes. Where manses or other Church properties are let by the church to the minister, or others, and rent is paid to the Church, Schedule A Tax can be reclaimed.

Rates are not payable in respect of premises exclusively appropriated for public religious worship and duly certified for such purpose. Very often some profit is derived from lettings and rates are payable though the profit goes to a charitable object, but a nominal assessment may be agreed. It is difficult to say what use of a chapel or school renders it liable to rates. User for Sunday or infant schools, or for charitable education of the poor does not do so.

Workmen's Compensation Acts.—So far as the purposes of this Year Book are concerned, these Acts are now superseded by the provision for Industrial Insurance in the National Insurance Act, 1946 (see above).

Leasehold Enfranchisement.—The Places of Worship (Enfranchisement) Act, (1920). Under this Act all religious bodies will be able in most cases to obtain a secure tenure of the property used as a place of worship which they hold on lease by purchasing the absolute freehold interest, subject to the payment of fair compensation.

Ministers' Income Tax.—Where a clergyman or minister of any religious denomination is obliged to reside in a manse, he is not assessable on the annual value or on the outgoings paid for him. In cases where he may occupy a residence and either pays rent therefor, or occupies it rent free, but has the right to let the property, if he so desires, he is assessable on the annual value, and on the outgoings paid for him (if any), but he is entitled to require that the annual value of the house, after deducting therefrom the amount of any annual sum payable in respect of such house, whether paid by the Minister or the Trustees, shall be treated as "earned income."

In this section, the expression "annual sum" means any yearly interest, annuity, rent, rent charge, fee farm rent, rent service, quit rent, feu-duty, or other annual payment reserved or charged upon any lands, tenements, hereditaments, or heritages.

A minister may claim deductions in respect of—

(1) Any expenses incurred by him wholly exclusively and necessarily in the performance of his duty as a Minister.

Under this paragraph a Minister may claim deductions for :—

(a) Travelling expenses necessarily incurred by the Minister in performing his duty of pastoral visitation.

Under this head would be included bus and tram fares, or the running cost and wear and tear (proportionate to the use thereof for official purposes) of such means of locomotion belonging to the Minister as motor car or bicycle where the circumstances or size of the Minister's district necessitated the employment of such means for the proper performance of his duties (e.g. where the Minister has pastoral charge of two or more village churches).

(b) Out-of-pocket payment for stamps, stationery, telephone, telegrams, etc., incurred in the performance by the Minister of his duties.

(a) Payments for :—

Rates—One-quarter general and water rates.

Fire, etc., Insurance—One-quarter.

Lighting and heating the study.

Robes—cost of repair, cleaning and renewals.

Maid—part cost of wages, insurance, laundry, uniform, and board and lodging where provided.

Books and Sermons, but as regards books the cost of replacement only.

It is important that records of the expenses under the headings (a), (b) and (c) should be kept by the Minister, but where no records have been kept in the past it is suggested that the claim might be based upon a reasonable estimate of the expenses incurred, and this could be discussed with the Inspector of Taxes.

(2) Where the Minister pays rent for a dwelling house, or is in the ccupation of a dwelling house but pays no rent therefor, and uses any art of such house mainly and substantially for the purpose of his duty s a Minister, he may claim as an expense a corresponding part of the ent or annual value of the house, not exceeding one-quarter, but this oes not apply where he is obliged to reside in the house, by virtue of is office.

(3) Locum tenens during Illness—Where a Minister is incapacitated rough illness from performing his duties, the cost necessarily incurred nd paid by him in providing a locum tenens may be claimed as a eduction. If the cost of vacation " supplies " is borne by him, he may kewise claim a deduction.

PERFORMING RIGHTS AND ENTERTAINMENT TAX

It is the legal duty of all persons promoting public entertainments, those allowing their premises to be used for such purposes, to obtain ermission from copyright-owners before using any works of which e copyright has not yet run out. This applies to all works, whether ramatic, operatic, vocal or instrumental or mechanical, except where is definitely stated that the work may be performed without fee.

In the case of dramatic and operatic works, permission should be btained beforehand from the author or his agent, who can be proached through the publisher. Where a fee is charged, this should e paid before the day of the performance.

For almost all vocal, instrumental, or mechanical music other than perettas, cantatas, musical comedies produced in their entirety plication must be made to the Performing Right Society, 33 Margaret treet, W.1., an organization consisting of the majority of publishers, mposers and lyric-writers of this country and affiliated with similar rganizations throughout the world.

As the Society controls the public use of over 90 per cent. of the music ublished in this country, it is very difficult to run a concert to-day ntirely on non-copyright items.

The Society states that it does not wish to interfere with devotional rvices in churches and chapels and, though legally entitled to do so, oes not propose to claim a fee for music used therein.

It is suggested that a performance is " in public " when money is aken for entrance, or a collection is made, or when strangers are present ith or without payment—in most cases, that is, except where the gather-g is small, and confined strictly to members of the congregation or ociety concerned, and where there is no money paid.

Entertainments Duty was abolished by the Finance Act, 1960. There , however, a levy which is payable on payments exceeding 11d. for dmission to public performances of cinematograph film of a width kceeding 16 millimetres.

Exemption from levy for charitable entertainments may be granted o one or other of two different grounds. Further information, if requirec can be obtained from The Secretary, H.M. Customs and Excise, King' Beam House, Mark Lane, London, E.C.3, or the nearest Customs an Excise Office.

THIRD PARTY LEGAL LIABILITY INSURANCE

The Council of the General Assembly has taken out a Policy in respec of all Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schools and/or Church Halls in England Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales upon the current list of congrega tions in our Year Book, the cover being as follows :—

This Policy is to cover the Assured's Legal Liability in respec of Third Party Claims involving personal injuries, or accidental damag to property, arising from defects in the premises, or properties c furnishings, and negligence of employees or any person for which th Church Authorities may be responsible, including indemnity in respec of the liability of the Assured in connection with Sunday School Treat Excursions and Outings and Legal Liability for injuries to persons an damage to property as the result of panic following fire or the alarm c fire.

Excluding all Liability arising in connection with organized sport or games other than sports and games during Sunday School Treats an Outings.

This insurance is in respect of all Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schoo and/or Church Halls in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, upon th current list of Congregations in the year book of General Assembly c Unitarian and Free Christian Churches, extending to cover unpai officials of the Churches described hereon such as members of Con mittees, Secretaries and Treasurers.

It is further agreed that this Policy indemnifies the Assured i respect of their premises which may be let to Third Parties irrespectiv of the purpose for which such premises may be let.

This Policy does not cover claims covered by any other Policy.

The policy does not cover (i) Workmen's Compensation ; (ii) Damag to Assured's own property and buildings ; (iii) Injury or damage direct or indirectly caused by fire and/or explosion except such as is specifical mentioned above.

Congregations are asked to make contributions of 10*s.* 6*d. per annum towar the heavy cost of this policy.*

APPOINTMENT OF NEW TRUSTEES

This is now to be effected either under the Trustee Act 1925, or in accor ance with the expressed provisions of the Trust Deed, or the provisions the Charities Act, 1960. The latter Act repealed the "Trustee Appointme Acts 1850 to 1890" mentioned in previous editions of this Year Book, except to the extent that the provisions of those Acts may still be applicable in respect of certain Charitable Trusts in existence prior to 1960.

Before deciding on the method of appointment of new Trustees legal advice should be obtained.

If none of the above methods of appointment is applicable resort should be had to the powers of the Charity Commissioners.

The B. & F.U.A. Incorporated may be available as a Trustee, with consent (see p. 116). It is a corporate body and can act either as a Managing Trustee or jointly with other Managing Trustees and can continue to act in that capacity when all the other Managing Trustees have died or retired. It may act as a custodian Trustee; in that event it will have no managerial powers; the church property and/or investments will be vested in it alone, the Trusts being administered and the property managed by persons appointed Managing Trustees. The appointment of the Association as Custodian Trustee secures that the Deeds are not lost as often happens when individuals act as Trustees.

MODEL TRUST DEED

This is no longer printed in the Year Book but may be had on application to the B. & F.U.A. Incorporated at Essex Hall.

FORMS OF BEQUEST TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Form of Gift of Money by Will

I give to the Society now known as the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches, the sum of £.....free of all death duties, and the receipt of the Treasurer or Secretary of such Society for the time being shall be a sufficient discharge to my Executors.

Form of Gift of Land or Houses by Will

I devise to the Society now known as the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches free of all death duties my freehold house (field etc., describe the premises) Upon Trust for its general purposes and I direct that the death duties payable in respect thereof shall be charged upon and payable out of my residuary estate in exoneration of the said property.

Note.—It is desirable that a Will giving house property or land to a Charity should be settled by a Solicitor.

DEEDS OF COVENANT AND THE SIMPLEX ENVELOPE SCHEME

Preliminary.

Any person who subscribes to the funds of a Church under the Simplex Envelope Scheme can do so under Deed of Covenant. There is nothing in the Income Tax Acts which prevents a subscription under Deed from being paid by weekly or other instalments. The actual procedure to be followed by the Treasurer is, however, slightly different from that applicable to annual subscriptions.

The Deed of Covenant.

No special form of Deed of Covenant is necessary, but it is advisable (though not essential) to indicate that the subscription is paid weekly. Thus, the following is a suitable wording :—

ANNUITY DEED IN FAVOUR OF
(Name of Church or other Charitable Trust)

I, (full name of disponor)
of (full address)
hereby covenant with the Trustees for the time being of (name of Church) that for a period of seven years from 6th April, 19....., or during my lifetime (whichever period may be the shorter), I will pay to the said Trustees annually such a sum out of my general fund of taxed income as, after deduction of Income Tax at the standard rate for the time being in force, will leave a net yearly sum of (amount of subscription).

Such sum to be payable by weekly instalments.

IN WITNESS whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this (date in words) day of 19 .

Signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of.....
(Signature of Disponor)

Witness's signature .....

Address ..... (SEAL.)

Occupation .....

Period Covered by Deed.

During a normal year, the fifty-two weekly instalments due under the Simplex Scheme will be covered by the Deed, which should be made out for the total of these, so far as it is ultimately receivable by the Church. Thus, if a subscriber pays 2/6 per week, 2/- to Church funds and 3d. each to the District Association and the General Assembly, then the Deed should be made out for 52 x 2/- = £5 4s. 0d., since the balance of 6d. per week is ultimately paid over to the District Association and the General Assembly. These two may also be covered by separate Deeds made out in their favour if the annual amounts are sufficient to warrant it. One Deed however will cover subscriptions to several funds if they are all ultimately received by the Church. About once in four years, a fifty-third payment will be made within the year, but this should be ignored for the purposes of the Deed.

Arrears made good after the 5th April will count as if they had been aid when due.

When a Deed is entered into, it must often happen that it is offered n a date in the middle of the fiscal year, and the Treasurer is then in a ifficulty regarding the date for the Deed to commence. If the 6th pril is not too far ahead, it is probably best to use that date and ignore for Covenant purposes) subscriptions to be paid before then. If a ew subscriber offers a Deed on joining, it may be possible to persuade im to make up arrears from 6th April last, and use that date. But hen continuing subscribers offer a Deed, this cannot be done, as no ayment made before a Deed is entered into is effective under it. In uch a case, sometimes the only thing to do is to make the Deed out for even years from the day before the next Sunday, so as to cover all uture subscriptions. This, however, produces awkward "broken eriods" for tax purposes in the years in which such a Deed commences r expires, and these "broken periods" will continue with succeeding eeds.

The wise Treasurer will therefore always canvass for Deeds in March, so s to be able to make them effective from the following 6th April.

ertificates of Deduction of Tax.

These should be made out on the ordinary Form R185, not Form 185(AP) which is for annual payments. Insert in col. 1 on the back Annuity under Deed dated.....", in col. 2 the words "My axed Income", in col. 3 the gross equivalent of the payment for the year, n col. 4 the tax deducted, and in col. 5 "Year ended 5th April, 19..... : ayable weekly". (See "Charitable Subscriptions under Deed of ovenant", by C. L. Wykes, p. 12).

The gross equivalent of the payment for the year will normally, be the nnual amount covenanted for under the Deed (i.e. 52 weekly subcriptions) grossed up at the standard rate for the year, and the tax deucted will be the difference between this and the net amount. When a eed is to come into effect from a date other than the 6th April, however, e first year's form will cover only the number of subscriptions due etween that date and the 5th April next, and it is the total of these at, grossed up, forms the "gross equivalent". Similarly, when such Deed expires, it is the total of the subscriptions from 6th April to the ate of expiry which requires to be grossed up. If (as will be usual) a ew Deed is entered into to be effective from the expiry date, this will equire a separate Form R185 to cover the subscriptions due under it for e remainder of the fiscal year. For intermediate years, the normal rocedure should be followed : each form R185 should cover a full year om the 6th April to the 5th April next.

ncrease of Subscriptions.

Generally speaking, when a disponor increases his subscription, it is est to take no action until the Deed falls due for renewal, when the new e is made out for the increased amount. It is possible, however, to enter to a Deed for the amount of the increase up to the date of expiry f the old Deed and then for the full amount, provided that the latter is overed for a further seven years. Thus, if a person whose subscription was 5/- per week increased it to 10/- whilst his Deed has still four years to run, a new Deed could be offered with the wording modified on the following lines : ". . . for a period of eleven years from 6th April, 1958 . . . will leave a net yearly sum of THIRTEEN POUNDS in each of the years ending 5th April, 1959, 1960, 1961 and 1962, and TWENTY-SIX POUNDS in each of the seven ensuing years. . . ."

Liability at Reduced Rate.

Persons not liable to tax at the standard rate should not be asked to sign Deeds, as such action inevitably involves them in expense. If such a person volunteers to sign, however, it may be possible to modify his subscription so that the formula outlined on p. 11 of " Charitable Subscriptions under Deed of Covenant " can be applied.

OUR FAITH AND FELLOWSHIP

What is Religion ?

Religion, as Jesus himself affirmed, is summed up in the two great commandments—Love to God and Love to Man.

What are the essentials of the Christian Faith ?

The Fatherhood of God, the Brotherhood of Man, the Leadership of Jesus, the Victory of Good, the Kingdom of God, and the Life Eternal.

Does this constitute our Creed ?

No, for though we cherish these beliefs, we do not formulate them as a settled creed, nor claim for them the authority of a final statement of religious truth. In the conviction that the dogmatic spirit is fatal to progress, we seek no complete uniformity of religious belief, but welcome to our open fellowship all who share our spiritual ideals and practical aims.

What are our Ideals and Aims ?

(1) In things essential, Unity ; in things doubtful, Liberty ; in all things, Charity.

(2) Religious Life, not Creed, the bond of union.

(3) Freedom of reason and conscience in the search for Truth, unfettered by authority or tradition.

(4) Fellowship the wide world over, on these principles, between men of differing creeds and faiths.

What is the Liberal Religious Movement ?

A movement in all the great religions of the world, and in almost every Christian church or denomination, of those who cherish the above ideals and aims ; and with whom, therefore, Unitarians and Free Christians find themselves in close accord and harmonious fellowship.

PREFACE

We regret that we cannot guarantee that all the information in this year book is accurate. A sad admission, but no fault of ours. The reason—two weeks after the closing date for the return of forms, 82 Church and District Secretaries, 37 ministers and 25 others had made no returns. Quite by chance the Editor discovered that the hymn book entry for one church was wrong, this despite a special note on the form asking all secretaries to check their entry. Late returns have reduced the number of errors, but added greatly to the work involved.

There is an important addition this year —a list of Fellowships to which the Council have granted provisional status. The idea is to ensure that all of us know of the existence of serious attempts to start new causes as soon as they are reasonably established instead of waiting until they can fulfil the conditions for full recognition by the Assembly Annual Meeting.

The congregational list remains the same as last year—242 in England; 33 in Wales; 34 in Ireland; 4 in Scotland; and 20 in the Dominions and Overseas Section. We regret that it has not been possible to include the Canadian Churches and Fellowships this year. The reason is that next year the book will have to be completely re-set, this happens every ten years, and then we can make the necessary space available without sacrificing any sections, and do justice to this large increase in the list of Congregations.

The list of ministers contains 223 names, a decrease of six on last year; these include 22 who are on the Supplementary List, an increase of four despite the fact that three names have been removed. However, two names have been transferred from the list of Lay Pastors and one minister has returned to the Roll after some years absence and one has been accepted on to the Roll. There are in the British Isles 132 ministers on the active list, 54 in italics, mostly retired, but still rendering good service week by week for which we are most grateful, and 22 on the Supplementary List, making a total of 208 which shows a welcome increase in numbers though there are six less on the active list than a year ago. There are 15 ministers on the Overseas list, one name has been deleted from those in italics. There are 7 lay pastors, six of those on the list last year have been granted ministerial status on the Full Roll or the Supplementary List, one has withdrawn and one name has been added. The Lay Preachers' Roll contains 85 names, five members having died during the year. We deeply regret to record the death of seven ministers during the year, four of whom were retired. Three ministers withdrew from the ministry completely. We welcome ten new ministers, they are:—L. K. Bell (G.A. Student and U.C.M.), E. J. R. Cook (return to the ministry), Margaret R. Dickin (Supplementary List), L. Evans (G.A. Student and U.C.M.), R. Hall, (Liberal Catholic), P. Hewis (U.C.M.), A. J. Hills (G.A. Student and U.C.M.), J. Robbins (Supplementary List), P. Short (U.C.M.), D. F. Skelton (G.A. Student and U.C.M.). At U.C.M. we have nine students in full-time training, two lay pastors attending college and one special student. At M.C.O. we have one full-time student; making a total of ten students and two lay pastors in training, a number which is completely inadequate to meet our needs. While group and joint ministries enable us to give some kind of pastoral help to the majority of congregations even this will be impossible unless the present downward trend is halted quickly. Congregations still expect to have a minister yet few do anything about supplying the colleges with students, and only they can solve this vital problem.

We have kept the price of the book at six shillings, but we must warn readers that next year we shall be forced to increase the price considerably even though we may continue to subsidise the production.

The Editor wishes to thank Mr. Roy Smith, Dr. Dorothy Tarrant and Mrs. M. Dimmock for their invaluable help in the compilation of this book; and particularly to express appreciation to those who return the slips in good time; happily they are still in the majority.

JOHN KIELTY.

THE FORMATION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The Assembly was brought into existence in 1928 in the manner nore fully set forth in the Preamble to the Constitution (p.13), by the malgamation of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association (1825) nd the National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian and other Non-subscribing or Kindred Congre-gations (1881). The objects and operations of both these organizations vere taken over, so as to unify the forces of the denomination.

The importance of the new organization arises from the history of the group of Churches enrolled. In that history two tendencies can always be liscerned, one expressing itself in the desire for lucid and definite theolo-gical teaching, the other in a desire for complete religious freedom. It nay be maintained that there is no essential conflict between these two endencies, but their adjustment is a matter of wisdom and statesmanship. Both appear to be vital to the spirit of the movement here represented.

Brief historical statements about the constituent organizations amalga-nated in the General Assembly are given below.

THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION.

The British and Foreign Unitarian Association was constituted in 1825. It was formed by the amalgamation of three Societies :—(1) The Unitarian Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and the Practice of Virtue, by the Distribution of Books, founded in 1791 ; (2) The Unitarian Fund, established in 1806, which may be regarded as the most important ; and (3) The Association for Protecting the Civil Rights of Unitarians, ormed in 1819. These Societies were supported by Unitarians in all parts of the country, as individual subscribers. By far the greater number of the supporters were members of Unitarian and other Non-subscribing Churches, and the support of such Churches was taken to be an essential part of the work of the Societies. The amalgamation of the three Societies was carried out in a spirit of mutual goodwill, and the Association formed from their union gradually became a national and international missionary organization. From the beginning it was in touch with kindred move-ments in the United States and in India, and soon afterwards (through the medium of communications in Latin) with the ancient Unitarian Church in Transylvania. At the time of its centenary, which was cele-brated in June, 1925, its operations covered the British Isles, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, and several European countries.

The objects of the Association (see p. 20) may be summed up as the diffusion and support of the principles of Unitarian Christianity, including the formation and assistance of congregations which are free from a creedal basis, and the publication and circulation of appropriate literature.

In pursuance of these objects the Association assisted in establishing and maintaining Congregations, especially in the early and difficult stages of their growth ; it contributed to the support of Ministers, lecturers, and missionary preachers ; it held conferences and meetings annually in London and different parts of the country ; it issued books and pamphlets dealing with the broader aspects of religious thought and life, in addition to direct expositions of Unitarian Christianity. Many thousands of pamphlets were freely distributed in response to applications from Congregations, and inquirers in all parts of the world. The Association was supported by subscriptions of individuals, collections from Congregations, sales of publications, and income from investments. The range of its operations was dependent upon the generosity of Congregations and individual Unitarians, and others interested in the objects which it endeavoured to promote.

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE

The National Conference of Unitarian, Liberal Christian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing or Kindred Congregations was initiated by the British and Foreign Unitarian Association in 1881, on the lines of a similar organization in the United States, its intention being to bring together for purposes of consultation and mutual stimulus representatives of all the Churches in this country which stand for freedom in matters of faith. Beginning with meetings at Liverpool in 1882, the Conference met triennially until the War broke the sequence, which was resumed in 1920. After 1882, the places of meeting have been Birmingham, Leeds, London, Manchester, Sheffield, Leicester, Liverpool, Oxford, Bolton, Birmingham, London, Leeds, Manchester, Sheffield (1926).

In 1898, the Committee of the Conference, being constructed on a representative basis, was " instructed to hold regular meetings to consult and when considered advisable to take action in matters affecting the well-being and interests of the Congregations and Societies which form the Conference " ; and in various ways this was done, to the advantage of our Churches generally, and with the endorsement of the Conference itself at its General Meetings.

During the forty-six years of its existence the National Conference inaugurated various Funds and Committees, nearly all of which are still actively at work. In other cases it took over work already in progress, or collaborated in different undertakings. Mention may be made of the Sustentation Fund (1882), Ministers' Pension and Insurance Fund (1902), Subvention Fund (1920), six regional Advisory Committees, Ministerial Settlements Board, Committee of the Supply of Ministers, Social Service Union, Aged Ministers and Widows Fund, Contributory Insurance Fund and (in co-operation with others) the compilation of "Hymns of Worship." The Annual Recognition Service for Ministers who have settled among us was also established by the Conference.

IRELAND

The Non-Subscribing Presbyterian Church of Ireland (1910). This church exists under a constitution which includes :—

1. That the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament are the Rule of Christian Faith and Duty under the teaching of our Lord Jesus Christ.
2. That it is the inalienable right of every Christian to search these records of Divine Truth for his own instruction and guidance, to form his own opinions with regard to what they teach, and to worship God in sincerity, agreeably to the dictates of his own conscience, without privation, penalty or inconvenience inflicted by his fellow-men.
3. That the imposition of human Tests and Confessions of Faith, and the vain efforts of men to produce an unattainable uniformity of belief, have tended to restrict the sacred right of private judgment, and to prevent that free enquiry and discussion which are essential to the extension of religious knowledge.
4. That the teaching of Christ himself must take precedence of the doctrines of a later time, and that unity is to be sought not in uniformity of creed, but in a common standard of righteousness and obedience to the commandments which Christ himself has laid down.

SECTION III

CONGREGATIONS

The list includes all duly organized Unitarian, Free Christian, Presbyterian, and other Non-Subscribing congregations in Great Britain and Ireland, together with similar congregations overseas (p. 67). A few congregations not yet fully organized, and a few places of worship at present closed, are also included.

Particulars given include the location, the dates of origin, first building and present building, the hours of service, the hymn book in use, and the name and address of the Secretary. The names of the present and the recent ministers or laymen in charge of the pulpit are also given ; the postal address is added if the name is not found in the Ministers' or Lay Pastors' List. Those whose names are printed in italics are deceased. The record as a rule goes back for 30 years, or to the earliest minister still living and on the ministerial roll, whichever be the longer period.

For the meaning of abbreviations, see p. 32.

MINISTERS

The list (p. 74) includes the following :—

(1) Ministers in full charge of congregations and missions, or occupying tutorial or administrative positions in connection with the work of the churches.

(2) Ministers temporarily free from a pastorate but available for settlement (names marked with an asterisk).

(3) Ministers who have retired from active duty (names printed in italics).

Each minister's name is followed by his address, Colleges and Scholarships, degrees and diplomas of approved Universities and distinctions of special merit, date of entering ministry, and Congregations served by him.

Ministers overseas are listed separately on page 96.

Admission of Names

(1) The name of any qualified minister regularly appointed by a congregation or a Missionary Association connected with the General Assembly, is inserted in the list.

(2) He is described as a 'Minister,' if he (a) holds the certificate of having completed the theological curriculum at Manchester College, Oxford, the Unitarian College, Manchester, the Presbyterian College, Carmarthen, or at theological colleges of similar character in the U.S.A.; or (b) has previously been in the ministry of another denomination, or educated for that ministry, and, having satisfied the Ministry Committee respecting his fitness, has received a certificate to that effect; or (c) having been a Lay Pastor, has received a certificate of ministerial status.

Omission of Names

(1) On resigning his charge, any minister may withdraw his name from the list.

(2) On his becoming a minister in another denomination, the name is omitted.

(3) The names are omitted of those who have withdrawn from the ministry, or who for five years have had no active connexion with our churches or work. This rule does not apply to those who are temporarily out of service, or to those who, having been in the regular ministry, have retired by reason of age or infirmity.

(4) The names are omitted of persons who, by conduct, character, or otherwise, are in the opinion of the Council of the General Assembly, on the report of an Advisory Committee or a District Association, unfitted for continuing to hold the office of a minister.

List of Supplementary Ministers
(Instituted in 1952)

The list on page 97 includes the following :—

(1) Those who have served in charge of churches as lay preachers or lay pastors for a period of not less than five years and have achieved an adequate educational status (not necessarily theological) which shall be acceptable to the Council after due consideration by the Ministry Committee.

(2) Those ministers who, having accepted full-time employment in some other vocation, have withdrawn from the regular list, but continue to give what service they can to our churches.

(3) Men or women of satisfactory professional status who have retired from their particular profession and have accepted the charge of churches on the Roll of the General Assembly.

Provided Always: (a) that the placing of a name on this List shall not entitle the person concerned to any financial or other privilege for ministers on the regular Ministerial Roll; (b) that each person on the List shall be a subscribing (and where possible a worshipping) member of a congregation on the Roll of the General Assembly; (c) that every application for recognition on this List shall be subject first to consideration by the Ministry Committee and then to approval by the Council of the General Assembly.

Note.—Managers of Benevolent, Fellowship, Pension, Sustentation, and other Funds are under no obligation to admit a minister to benefits simply because his name appears in the Year Book of the General Assembly.

Important to Congregations

Congregations are advised to take no steps in regard to the selection or appointment of any minister whose name does not appear in the List, or who is not entitled to receive the qualifying certificate as a minister (see p. 74)

The lists of Ministers, Supplementary Ministers and Lay Pastors are revised annually by the Ministry Committee of the General Assembly.

LAY PASTORS

Lay Pastors are persons (other than ministers) in regular charge of a congregation or mission, who have applied for and obtained this status from the Ministry Committee on the recommendation of an Advisory Committee. College students who, while pursuing their studies, are in charge of congregations with the approval of the College authorities, may also, if they wish, be so described.

Those Lay Pastors who are actively preparing for ministerial status, whether in College or through the General Assembly Course of Reading and Examination (see p. 123), are indicated by a † placed before their names.

The names of Lay Pastors are usually omitted on the termination of their engagements, and reinserted on their obtaining a fresh appointment.

ADDENDUM TO MINISTERS DECEASED

As the Year Book goes to press we learn with regret that the Rev Leonard Short has died. A memorial paragraph will appear in the 196' Year Book.

MINISTERS DECEASED

October, 1964, to October, 1965

Bullock.—Frank Bullock died on 29th October, 1964, aged 77 years, at Bradford, Yorkshire. Born at Trowbridge he spent some years in business efore entering upon the lay charge of Trowbridge in 1913, moving to eigh in 1915 where two years later he was granted full ministerial status. n 1926 he moved to Chapel Lane, Bradford where he remained until l-health compelled his retirement in 1964. It was in his last ministry that e really came into his own, both as a preacher and a lecturer, for in both elds he was outstanding, at the same time he never neglected the pastoral ide of his work, and many in the three places in which he ministered will ecall with gratitude the help and encouragement they gained from him at ome difficult period of their lives. For twenty years he was the very fficient secretary of the Yorkshire Union and served on the General ssembly Council as its representative. In 1956 the Assembly honoured im with its Presidency and he brought to that office the same devotion nd rich experience and delightful humour for which he was rightly enowned particularly in the county of his adoption.

Green.—Ernest George Green died on 12th November 1964, aged 80 years, t Fawley, Hants. He was born in London, worked as a printer's devil, ecame a pupil teacher, matriculated and entered East Ham Training Centre. He graduated from University College, London in 1920 with the egree of B.A. He spent most of his life as a teacher in East Ham, the last ine years being as a headmaster. He collaborated with his brother in the uthorship of a valuable series of School Geography books under the title, Looking at the World. In early life he was a Methodist lay preacher but ecame a Unitarian and in 1922 he entered upon the lay charge of Forest Gate, a post he held until 1928. In 1931 he took lay charge of Southend or five years, then in 1938 he took lay charge of Newington Green until 1947, combining with it the cause at Ilford. In 1947 he was granted full ninisterial status and the same year he moved to Leicester, Narborough Road and Loughborough, returning to Southend in 1950 from which he noved to Dover in 1953 and retired from the active ministry in 1956. Everywhere he ministered he brought to his work a great dedication and are energy and enthusiasm; his natural friendliness was a great asset and brought him into contact with many organisations outside his church, particularly in work among old, retired people.

Holden.—William Holden died on 10th December, 1964, aged 78 years, at Larne. After some years in business he took lay charge of Blackburn in 1924 and qualified for full status in 1927, moving to Wolverhampton the same year. Six years later he went to Manchester, Failsworth remaining there until 1940 in which year he moved to Clough where he ministered until 1948, and then went to combined charge of Cairncastle and Glenarm where he remained until his death. He was Clerk to the Remonstrant Synod of Ulster in 1951 and Moderator in 1950-51. He was also Moderator of the Presbytery of Antrim in 1962. A practical-minded man he possessed a friendly spirit so that he was ever welcome in the homes of his people wherever he ministered for he was concerned always for their welfare.

Barker.—Rosamond Hawksworth Barker died on 22nd January, 1965, aged 64 years. Born in Liverpool she was educated first at Liverpool University and then entered Newnham College, Cambridge, intending to train in medicine, but after two years she withdrew and later entered the Unitarian College, Manchester, one of the first women to train there for the ministry. She graduated B.D., in 1933. Her first ministry was at Malton where she stayed from 1933-39, and then went to Gloucester from 1941-47 and in 1948 she moved to Tavistock until in 1950 ill-health caused her to retire for a time from the active ministry. In 1952 she went to London and took up the secretaryship of the Central Postal Mission a post she held until her death. In 1962 she took charge of the Stratford, London church where she ministered until the end. She rendered most valuable voluntary service to the Publicity Department from its inception, spending part of each week in the office answering letters in her own friendly style and interviewing callers. She was for many years the most painstaking and efficient secretary of the London Ministers' Fraternal. Shy and extremely modest she was a most thoughtful and kindly person and earned the affection of her people and high esteem of her colleagues.

Foote—George Dawson Foote died on 28th January, 1965 at Carnoustie, aged 76 years. Born in Glasgow he came south early in life and spent most of his time in the Merseyside area. In 1923 he became, as a layman, Assistant Missionary to the Rev. John Ballantyne at the Mill Street Domestic Mission, Liverpool. He was admitted to full ministerial Roll in 1936 and stayed on at the Mission for a further year. He then became secretary of the Manchester Branch of the Discharged Prisoners' Aid Association, a post he held until 1948 when he took charge of Stand Chapel until 1955. In that year he moved to the joint Ministry of Macclesfield and Congleton where he remained until 1958. His last ministry was at Dundee, 1959-60. He was a musician of genuine ability and an elocutionist of a high order so that his recitals were deservedly prized. At Summer Schools for Sunday School teachers he was a very popular member of the staff for many years. His simple services so well ordered brought a deep sense of worship to all present, and his concern for people endeared him to everyone.

Gill.—Benjamin Gill died on 11th January, 1965, aged 72 years, at Bolton. A native of Mexborough he was a Methodist local preacher and spent his early manhood in the building trade. In 1923 he became Lay Pastor at Stockton-on-Tees, and qualified for full ministerial status in 1926. In 1929 he moved to Burnley where he remained until 1932 in which year he moved to his last ministry at Ainsworth retiring there in 1963 because of ill-health. He was for many years the secretary of the Bolton and District Ministers' Fraternal, and for some years the most efficient chairman of the North and East Lancashire Unitarian Mission. A friendly man with a deep love of ordinary people he endeared himself to his own people and to the whole neighbourhood in which he ministered. He brought to our movement much of the zeal and passion for the religious life learned among his Methodist connections.

Heale.—Alfred James Heale died on 28th April, 1965, aged 84 years, at Tavistock. His early years were spent in business and he was associated with the Quakers for whose deeply spiritual concerns he always had a high regard. Coming under the influence of R. J. Campbell and the New Theology Movement he entered the Pioneer Preachers' Hostel in London in 1911. Six years later he embarked upon the lay charge of Mill Street, Bradford, Manchester, being granted full ministerial status in 1922 and remained at Mill Street until 1925 when he moved to Lydgate. From 1930-32 he was at Blackfriars, London and then spent seven years at Cradley, moving to Manchester, Renshaw Street in 1949 where he stayed until 1953 in which year he returned to his native Devon to retirement, but the claims of the ministry were so great that in 1961 he took charge of Moretonhampstead, no one else being available; there he remained until his death. To him no cause or person was ever completely lost and his deep faith kept him an inspiring pastor until the end.

Turner.—James Cuthbert Turner died on 20th March, 1965, aged 50 years, at Todmorden. Born in Edinburgh he would have liked to have entered the ministry in his youth, instead he became a member of the Liverpool Police Force. Officially a sergeant in the C.I.D. he was selected to assist in a pioneer scheme for dealing with young first offenders without the need of Court proceedings. This Juvenile Liaison Scheme, as it was called was so successful that it became a model for many such projects all over this country and he was often consulted by officers from abroad. After twenty-five years service he retired from the police force and entered the Unitarian College, Manchester where he spent one year before proceeding to Todmorden as a lay pastor in 1961 being granted full ministerial status in 1962. He remained at Todmorden until his untimely death in 1965. In his Liverpool days he was most active in the Scout movement both locally and nationally, holding high office in that movement; he was also a very acceptable lay preacher. Ever devoted to the service of his fellows and especially of the young, he was much loved of his people and held in high regard by the townsfolk outside his own church, to the service of which he gave himself unsparingly.

Williams.—Thomas Oswald Williams died on 21st October at Carmarthen, aged 77 years. Born at Cwrtnewydd, he was a teacher for six years before proceeding to the University College, Aberystwyth where he graduated B.A. in 1915, and M.A. in 1923. He had lay charge of Lampeter and Caeronnen from 1915-17, becoming full minister in 1918. From then on until ill-health caused his retirement in 1963 he exercised his splendid ministry, which was not confined to his churches but was evidenced in his long record of public service as a member of the County Council and of the Lampeter Borough Council, representing the latter body on the Court of Governors of the University College of Wales and the Mid-Wales Industrial Development Association. He was much interested in education and was for many years a member and later chairman of the Lampeter District Education Committee and a governor of several schools. During his thirteen years on the county council he was chairman of the County Planning Committee and the Old People's Welfare Committee. Keenly interested in the drama and himself a poet of some distinction, he won prizes at the National Eisteddfod and many chairs at eisteddfodau. In 1954 Lampeter made him a Freeman, quite a rare honour. He was four times mayor of the town. A scholar of distinction he wrote the History of the Unitarian Churches of South Wales and in 1962 he published his great work on the history of Unitarianism in Wales which is acknowledged to be the standard work on this subject and covers much nonconformist history also. A powerful preacher, the foremost authority on Welsh Unitarianism and Nonconformity, he was withal a devoted and beloved pastor and in recognition of his long and distinguished services to the cause he was made a Honorary Member of the General Assembly in 1963.

HEADQUARTERS, ETC.

ESSEX HALL, LONDON

Essex Hall Trust (1885)—Essex Hall, in Essex Street, Strand, London, formerly Essex Street Chapel, was acquired and altered in 1885 to provide a Central Hall or meeting place in the metropolis for Unitarians, Offices and Book Rooms for the British and Foreign Unitarian Association and the Sunday School Association. On July 28th, 1944, the Hall was destroyed beyond repair by enemy action. Thus ended 59 years of service as headquarters and central meeting place for the denomination. It contained the offices of the General Assembly and of the Sunday School Association, and the Essex Hall Bookshop. The Hall was let for public meetings, lectures, arbitrations and other purposes ; it thus became a well-known centre for gatherings of men and women interested in very varied schemes for the amelioration and enlightenment of mankind.

In June, 1957, the Foundation Stone of the new building was laid and on October 25th, 1958, the new Essex Hall was opened. It again contains the offices of the General Assembly and of the Sunday School Association, and the Lindsey Press Bookshop. The central hall is smaller than its predecessor and has been named The Martineau Hall and registered for Public Worship. There are also two excellent Committee Rooms and an office shared by the Publicity Department of the Assembly and the Women's League.

Essex Hall, Incorporated, is a Trust governed by Twenty Trustees, who as vacancies occur, are elected alternately by the General Assembly and the Sunday School Association. The Trustees are :—

1903	Ronald Bartram.	1954	H. J. Bush.
1913	Herbert Gimson.	1957	Dudley Richards.
1925	Arnold Broadbent.	1957	Jeremy Goring.
1932	Sydney Roscoe.	1958	I. Knowlson.
1937	Miss Dorothy Tarrant.	1961	T. H. Hollingsworth.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION INCORPORATED

Essex Hall, Essex Street, Strand, London, W.C.2

Secretary—Rev. Dr. John Kielty

At the Annual Meeting of members of the B. and F.U.A. held at Whitsuntide, 1914, a resolution was adopted authorising the Committee to take the necessary legal steps for securing the Incorporation of the Association. Accordingly a "Memorandum and Articles of Association" was prepared under competent legal advice and in consultation with officials of the Board of Trade; the Licence by the Board of Trade was issued on July 21st, 1915, and the Certificate of Incorporation on July 28th, 1915. The Association is licensed under section 20 of the Companies (Consolidation) Act 1908. It is especially provided, as a condition of granting the licence, that no portion of its income shall be paid or transferred by way of profit to any member of the Association; and the Memorandum includes a clause giving the objects of the Association (as stated above, pages 20-21).

A body corporate is legally an individual. On the financial side, the chief advantage of incorporation is that it obviates the trouble and expense incurred in transferring investments on the death or resignation of trustees. In this body corporate the funds which were administered by the Executive Committee of the Association are legally vested, whether for the general purposes of the body, or for special purposes prescribed under wills or trusts. The merging of the general membership of the Association in the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches does not involve the dissolution of the Incorporated Association, which remains in being as a trust-holding body; and its position is recognised in clause 8 of the Constitution (see page 17). The income from general investments is paid over to the General Assembly, to be expended in accordance with the objects referred to above. The Articles of Incorporation, as amended by the Board of Trade since the formation of the General Assembly, permit the membership of the Incorporated Association (at present about 50) to be maintained by the election of new members at the discretion of the Annual General Meeting. An Executive Committee of 13 members is elected annually.

Under the authority of Statutory Instrument 1961 No. 1282 the Association is empowered to sell or otherwise deal with certain property of which it is Trustee without the consent of the Charity Commission (as required by the Charities Act 1960) provided it complies strictly with certain requirements.

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST ASSOCIATION

In May of 1961 the American Unitarian Association and the Universalist hurch of America voted to formally conclude the consolidation of their vo organizations, and a new liberal religious movement was born in merica—the Unitarian Universalist Association. The new denomina-on emerged after nearly a century of common effort. Consolidation as complete above the parish level and it brought together in a single rganization 118,000 Unitarians with 405 churches and 360 fellowship roups and more than 30,000 members of the 400 Universalist churches. n addition, 68,000 children in Unitarian Church Schools and 18,000 in niversalist Church Schools are involved.

The purposes of the new organization are:—

(1) To strengthen one another in a free and disciplined search fo truth as the foundation of our religious fellowship;

(2) To cherish and spread the universal truths taught by the grea prophets and teachers of humanity in every age and tradition immemorially summarized in the Judeo-Christian heritage as lov to God and love to man;

(3) To affirm, defend and promote the supreme worth of every huma personality, the dignity of man, and the use of the democrati method in human relationships;

(4) To implement our vision of one world by striving for a worl community founded on ideals of brotherhood, justice and peace

(5) To serve the needs of member churches and fellowships, t organize new churches and fellowships, and to extend an strengthen liberal religion;

(6) To encourage co-operation with men of good will in every land.

The Association is the chief executive arm of the Unitarian an Universalist churches and fellowships. Its work is carried on by variou departments—fund raising, service projects, ministry, extension, publica tions, adult programmes, information, college centres, religious education The headquarters of the Association are at 25 Beacon Street, Bostor Mass. President: Rev. Dana McLean Greeley, D.D., to whom a correspondence should be addressed.

In addition to the Association, there are other denominational organiza tions which work with it in close co-operation and have offices at 2 Beacon Street: the Unitarian Universalist Women's Federation, th Laymen's League, the Fellowship for Social Justice, the Ministers Association, each with its own president and other officers.

Outside America, the British Dominions, Hungary and Transylvania Liberal Religious churches and movements seldom use the name "Uni tarian" or "Free Christian," but in many parts of the world there ar Churches and Societies in substantial agreement with the same funda mental principles.

Belgium.—There is a Free Christian Church in Brussels, of which th late Rev. P. Teissonnière was minister from 1910 to 1940; he died i France in 1946. He was succeeded by the Rev. F. Hoyois in October 1940. Liberal congregations connected with the parent church were als founded in Liége, Charleroi and Ghent. With much difficulty, Pasto Hoyois was able to keep the movement alive during the years of Germa occupation. The monthly publication, Les Conférences du Foyer, th organ of "The New Reformation," suffered interruption after 1940, an was revived by Pastor Hoyois, until 1947.

Czecho-Slovakia.—Bohemia, with its great memories of John Hus an the Moravian Brethren, had long been a centre of liberal thought, an the creation of the Republic in 1918 as a result of the war gave th people the freedom they desired. The effect upon their intellectual an spiritual life was profound. Upwards of one million seceded from th Roman Catholic Church and formed the Czecho-slovak Church, whic threw off the dogmatic shackles of the past and became definitely libera in its tendency. In 1924 it established its own Theological School in Prague, where some fifty students were usually in training for the ministry, taking courses also in the John Hus Protestant Theological Faculty of the University. Here several professorships have, since 1934, been held by scholars of the Czecho-slovak Church. The International Congress met in Prague in September, 1927, and did much to arouse interest in liberal religion. The Czecho-slovak Church co-operated in all the work of the Congress, as a liberal church based upon freedom of conscience. It has been a member-group of the International Association for Religious Freedom since the beginning. During the years before 1939, several students spent a session at Manchester College, Oxford. The drastic reduction of Czecho-slovakian territory in 1938, followed by the German occupation in March, 1939, and the war of 1939-45, inflicted grave suffering and loss upon this Church and upon immense numbers of its people, including several of its ministers, upon one of whom the death penalty was cruelly inflicted, while five died in concentration camps. Its head, Bishop Prochazka, died in 1941, after bravely resisting German repressive measures. His successor, Bishop Kovar, was elected in 1946.

In addition to the Czecho-slovak Church there is also a strong Unitarian movement in Prague, with branch groups in four or five other centres. In 1921, Dr. Norbert Capek went to Prague with the support of the American Unitarian Association, as the pioneer of this movement. His message met a widespread popular need, and its success was extraordinary. Temporary premises were secured on a good site, and subsequently a building was erected there with the help of the British and American Associations, as a centre of all the activities of the movement. Dr. Capek was imprisoned and afterwards brutally murdered in 1942 by the Germans, a fate from which his assistant and son-in-law, the Rev. Dr. K. Haspl, narrowly escaped. Dr. Haspl carried on the work until his retirement in 1960 when he was succeeded by Dr. D. Kafka.

Denmark.—There is a Unitarian congregation in Copenhagen, which has grown considerably since its foundation. A fine church building was opened in 1928. The minister, Pastor Kierkegaard, started missionary movements in four other towns, including Odense and Esbjerg. In August, 1934, the International Association held its Congress in Copenhagen by invitation of the Unitarian congregation. Pastor Kierkegaard was able to carry on his work during the years of German occupation, although amid much difficulty and hardship, and his congregation are now as active as in earlier years.

France.—A considerable number of the Protestant ministers of the Reformed Church in France belong to the liberal wing, which has an organisation of its own. The principal liberal churches in Paris are the Oratoire, 1 Rue de l'Oratoire du Louvre, Le Foyer de l'Ame, Rue du Pasteur Wagner, Auteuil, Rue Erlanger 53, Paris XVI The years between the wars, however, saw a marked tendency towards the right in French Protestant theology, which had its effect upon the liberal movement.

Germany.—Before the first World War, the "Protestantenverein" (Protestant Union), formed in 1865, was the chief bond of union among German Liberal Christians; the principal centre of Liberal theology was the University of Marburg. During the long and troubled period between the two wars, and especially after 1933, when intellectual freedom was crushed, Liberal Religious thought and activity were conducted amid fear and uncertainty, and survived only on a much diminished scale. Since the end of the second World War communications have been reopened, and there is evidence of a widespread revival of interest in Liberal Religion. The Rev. Magnus Ratter visited the British and American Zones in October 1948, and the British Zone in May 1949, and Rev. Kenneth Twinn visited the Rhineland in May 1951, investigating the post-war situation. There are several communities claiming roots in the early 19th century Free Catholic and Free Protestant movements, unfortunately with little mutual co-operation, but standing for spiritual freedom, the use of reason rather than tradition, for tolerance rather than uniformity. These are the Deutscher Unitarier Bund (German Unitarian Association) centred mainly round Frankfurt and the Freie Gemeinden (Free Congregations) in Offenbach and Mainz, which are perhaps closest together; the Bund Freireligiöser Gemeinden Deutschlands (Association of Free-religious Congregations of Germany), mainly, though not exclusively in the Rhine Palatinate, and the Deutsche Unitarier Religionsgemeinschaft (German Unitarians, Religious Fellowship) principally in North Germany, the latter two being rather more humanistic. All are free from state control. There are other groups in Berlin and elsewhere, as well as a small but influential minority in the orthodox church holding "modernist" convictions, and organized in the Bund für Freies Christentum (Association for Free Christianity).

Holland.—The "Nederlandse Protestantenbond" (Protestant Union of Holland) was established in 1870 as a converging point for Liberals belonging to every church of the country—Reformed, Lutheran, Remonstrant, Mennonite, and Free. It was estimated in the years between the two wars that about twenty-five per cent. of the Protestant ministers in Holland were liberal. The "Vergadering van moderne Theologen" (meeting of liberal Protestant ministers and scholars) is a yearly meeting of liberal ministers of various denominations. The liberal section of the Dutch Reformed Church was organised in several Provincial Unions in 1923. A Central Committee representing all groups of Free Protestants was formed, with headquarters in Utrecht. The Universities of Leiden and Amsterdam are the educational centres of the Free Protestantism in Holland; Leiden for the Dutch Reformed and Remonstrants, Amsterdam for the Mennonites and Lutherans. The International Congress of Religious Liberals was held at Amsterdam in 1903, and in Leiden in 1922. In 1930 the Headquarters of this movement, re-named the International Association of Religious Freedom, was established in Holland, with a Secretariat of Dutch Liberal ministers; today several laymen are also members. Since 1926, one of the most significant developments has been the establishment of the Liberal Protestant Broadcasting (and Television) Company (VPRO). It may be said that liberalism has an influence in Dutch life far greater than is commensurate with its actual membership.

Hungary.—In addition to a number of Unitarian congregations in various towns and villages, there is an important and influential church in Budapest (established in 1869) in the Headquarters building of the denomination. Largely because of the numbers of refugees from Transylvania after the first World War, steps were taken jointly in 1923 by the British and American Unitarian Associations to purchase suitable accommodation for a second Unitarian parish in Budapest under the ministry of the Rev. Dr. G. Csiki (Bishop of the Hungarian Unitaran Church until 1957) and the Unitarian Mission House was established, part of the premises being rebuilt in 1929 as a place of worship. Since the establishment of the People's Republic communication has not been easy, and recent events have added to their difficulties.

Iceland.—Many people in Iceland are in sympathy with Unitarian religious opinions. The late M. Jochumsson, of Akureyri, poet and writer, formerly a Lutheran pastor, was an avowed liberal theologian, Twenty liberal Christian congregations are included in the United Conference of Icelandic Churches in North America. These congregations are in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Canada.

India.—There are representatives of the Unitarian faith in many parts of India. The various sections of the Brahmo Samaj, the Theistic Church of India, have local societies in numerous places. The largest section, known as the Sadharan Brahmo Samaj, has its central office at 211 Cornwallis Street, Calcutta. Many of its leaders have been students at Manchester College, Oxford. There is a Unitarian church and congregation in Madras (estab. 1795). The Khasi and Jaintia Hills Unitarian Union includes a number of scattered congregations in Assam. Its members belong to the hill tribes and speak the Khasi language. From 1930 to 1932, Rev. Magnus Ratter was at work in India as the representative of the General Assembly, visiting many of the Brahmo Samaj congregations and spending a considerable time among the Khasi Hills Unitarians. In 1936, Rev. Margaret Barr, already engaged in religious teaching in Calcutta, and a welcome visitor to the Khasi churches, was appointed to succeed him. Miss Barr learnt the Khasi language, won the affection of the people, and strengthened and increased the number of their congregations. In due course she established and staffed schools which earned Government recognition and support. In 1948 the largest of these, the Lady Reid School, Shillong, was taken over by the Government, enlarged and rebuilt and turned into a Basic Training School. After a year and a half as Principal, Miss Barr resigned and handed it over to the Khasis. Meanwhile the Rural Training Centre at Kharang has been developed, the medical services having been much extended with the help of the Canadian Unitarian Service Committee.

London Brahmo Samaj.—Besides providing for the spiritual and cultural welfare of Brahmos and non-Brahmo sympathizers, the main function of the London Brahmo Samaj is to propagate the religious and cultural aspects of the Brahmo Samaj amongst the Western world.

Rumania.—A fully organized Unitarian Church has existed in Transylvania since its foundation by Bishop Francis David in 1568. In the sixteenth century it consisted of more than 400 congregations, but this number was greatly reduced by protracted and bitter persecutions which lasted about 200 years. Before the recent war the number of Unitarian congregations with settled ministers was 112 ; and there were fifty places where the minister of the neighbouring congregation rendered occasional services. The oldest congregation is at Cluj-Kolozsvar (1568).

The total membership was 80,000. The churches are organized under a Bishop and two Curators (Lay Presidents). The churches are distributed into eight districts, each presided over by a Dean, and are governed by a Chief Consistory at Cluj-Kolozsvar. There are elementary schools attached to many of the congregations, and at Cluj-Kolozsvar and Keresztur there are High Schools for boys. There is a Theological College at Cluj-Kolozsvar, established about 1556 by John Sigismund, Prince of Transylvania. Many of the professors and ministers have studied at our English colleges. The Francis David Association, which was established in 1884, for the promotion of religion and moral culture, has many branches and upwards of 1900 members. The problem of the Unitarian and other Minority churches in Rumania after the 1914-18 war was full of difficulty and perplexity, but the situation was closely watched in England and America in the interests of religious liberty and the rights of minorities. In this work Unitarians took a leading part. Reliable news concerning the churches during the Russian occupation is still scanty, but Bishop Jozan who died in 1946 has now been succeeded by Bishop Alexis Kiss, elected in September, 1946.

Switzerland.—A considerable proportion of Swiss Protestants are Liberal Christians, although the influence of the Barthian theology during the recent years has undoubtedly had an adverse effect upon the numbers of those avowing liberal views. The liberal congregations are found in both the German and the French speaking cantons, notably in Zurich, St. Gall, Basle and Geneva. The Free Christian Union (Verein für Freies Christentum, Union Suisse pour le christianisme libéral), with many branches and a large membership, an association within the state church, which itself has a non-credal basis, is the official organization and focal point of action. Popular literature and periodicals issued under its auspices have assisted greatly in spreading the knowledge of liberal doctrines, while more scholarly books and journals frequently appear. The University of Basle has a number of liberal professors, and the cathedral of Geneva represents a long liberal tradition, recently assured continuance by the appointment after some controversy of a young minister of that persuasion. The International Congress of Religious Liberals held its meetings in Geneva in 1905; the International Association for Religious Freedom held a delegate Conference at St. Gall in August, 1932, and a similar conference in August, 1947, at Berne.

(Incorporated under Dutch Law).

HEADQUARTERS: 40 Laan Copes van Cattenburch, The Hague, Holland.

The purposes of the Association are—

"(a) to bring into closer union the historic liberal Churches, the liberal element in all churches, and isolated congregations and workers for religious freedom ;

"(b) to draw into the same fellowship free religious groups throughout the world which are in essential agreement with our ways of thinking ;

"(c) to open and maintain communication with free Christian groups in all lands who are striving to unite religion and liberty, and to increase fellowship and co-operation among them."

On 25th May, 1900, "The International Council of Unitarian and other Liberal Religious Thinkers and Workers" was organized at Boston U.S.A. In 1910 its title was changed to "The International Congress of Free Christians and other Religious Liberals."

Meetings were held in London (1901), Amsterdam (1903), Geneva (1905), Boston, U.S.A. (1907), Berlin (1910) and Paris (1913). It was intended to hold a meeting in London in 1916, but the War made this impossible. The seventh meeting was held in Boston, U.S.A., October, 1920, in connexion with the Tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Founders of New England. The Congress met in Leiden in 1922, and in Prague in 1927.

In 1930 the administrative headquarters were transferred from London to Amsterdam and later to Utrecht. A small but representative gathering of delegates from America, Britain, and various Continental lands met at Arnhem (Holland) in 1930 and drafted a Constitution which was revised and adopted by a Delegate Conference held at St. Gall in 1932, when the present title was also adopted.

The first full Congress of the new Association was held at Copenhagen in 1934, and the second at Oxford in 1937. Theological Conferences were also held in 1936 at Arnhem, and at Bentveld in 1938. As soon as possible after the end of the war a representative delegate conference was summoned to re-establish contacts and to plan the future of the Association, at Cambridge, in July, 1946. A still larger conference was held at Berne in the summer of 1947. The first full post-war Congress was held in Amsterdam in 1949, and the second in Oxford in 1952, after which came Belfast 1955, Chicago 1958, Davos 1961, The Hague 1964. The next Congress will be held in London from 1st to 7th August, 1966.

The present Officers of the Association are:—President, H. J. Wytema, Ll.D.; Vice-President, Rev. Dr. H. S. Carter; Joint Secretaries, Rev. Dr. A. W. Cramer, Rev. Dr. J. van Goudoever and Rev. J. W. Wery; Treasurer, Mr. R. J. Advocaat. Individual Members Secretary, Rev. K. Twinn, Harrison Parsonage, Bolton Road, Atherton, Manchester.

THE BRITISH COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

This inter-denominational organization was brought into existence in 1942 on a creedal basis identical with that proposed for the World Council of Churches (then in process of formation), viz. "A fellowship of Churches which accept the Lord Jesus Christ as God and Saviour." The formal invitation to join the World Council, on condition of accepting the theological basis, had already, for obvious reasons, been respectfully declined by the General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches. The British Council, however, was set up by the amalgamation of various pre-existing organizations—the Commission on International Fellowship and Social Responsibility, representing the "Life and Work" Movement, and the corresponding body representing "Faith and Order." The former was itself the result of a previous amalgamation of inter-denominational bodies which were free from theological commitments, and of which the General Assembly had been a member; but when it was proposed that these bodies should be united in a British Council of Churches on a theological basis, both the Society of Friends and the General Assembly intimated their inability to join the new organization.

This resulted in the adoption of an amendment to the conditions of membership, consisting in the addition of the words " with the understanding that any body which has hitherto been represented on the Commission " (i.e., the Commission on International Friendship and Social Responsibility) " shall continue in membership of the Council, if so willing, even though it does not itself accept the Basis." On these terms the Society of Friends and the General Assembly were included in the British Council, along with the larger Protestant denominations which accept the basis.

In 1964 the Council adopted the new basis of the World Council of Churches and required all members to accept this basis. The Society of Friends and the General Assembly felt unable to do so, but a compromise was reached in 1965 whereby the Society of Friends and the General Assembly were able to retain their membership and all rights, save that of voting on any amendment to the Constitution.

SECTION X

LEGAL INFORMATION

Births, Registration.—Parents are required to register the birth of their children at the Registrar's office for the district in which the child is born within six weeks. Penalty of 40s. for default. There is no charge for such registration.

Deaths, Registration.—Deaths must be registered within five days. The nearest relative present at the death or during the last illness is the responsible person, or should there be no relative present, then the occupier of the house, or the person who causes the body to be buried. Penalty for default, 40s. The doctor's certificate must be produced to the Registrar at the time of registration ; and the Registrar's certificate to the officiating minister at the interment.

Registration of Chapels.—All places of worship should be registered. Registration is effected by giving a certificate in writing that the Chapel is used for worship to the Superintendent-Registrar of the District on a form which he will supply on application. The fee on registration is 2s. 6d., and a certified copy of the Registrar-General's certificate of the registration can be obtained for a further payment of 2s. 6d. When a place of worship is entirely rebuilt, either on the same or another site, the old certificate of registration must be cancelled and the place re-registered. The registration can apply to all rooms having an internal communication, even though not under one roof. A rough sketch plan should be supplied to the Registrar on a new registration ; and alterations, shutting off rooms or opening new rooms, should be notified to him.

Disturbance of Religious Worship.—Statutory penalties can be enforced for this offence if in a certified place of worship, churchyard or burial ground.

Registration for Marriages.—A place of worship must, before marriages can legally be celebrated therein, in addition to being registered as above mentioned, be separately registered for the performance of marriages. Before registering a place for marriages, the Superintendent Registrar of the District must be satisfied by certificate that the building has been used for worship for one year previous to the application. A fee of £3 is payable, and the Registration is advertised in the London Gazette and in a local newspaper. When a chapel ceases to be used for worship or is rebuilt, the Certificate is cancelled, and in that case it requires to be renewed if worship is resumed. When a congregation has removed from one chapel to another, and the old building has ceased to be used as a place of public worship, the Certificate of the old chapel may be cancelled, and the new building registered for the solemnization of marriages, without waiting for a year to elapse. All necessary forms and information will be supplied by the Superintendent-Registrar of the District.

Marriages : England and Wales.—Marriages may be solemnized in any registered building, or in a district registry office either by Certificate or by Licence. Consent of the minister must be obtained or of one of the trustees, owners, deacons or managers. If by Certificate, notice (accompanied with fee of 1s. for entry in "Marriage Notice Book") must be given by one of the parties, if both live in one district, to the Superintendent-Registrar, on form furnished for purpose, containing solemn declaration of absence of impediment to intended marriage, certifying that both of the parties have dwelt at least seven days in district, and must be signed in presence of Registrar or deputy ; but if parties live in different districts, notices must be sent to respective Superintendent-Registrars. Twenty-one clear days after entry of notice the Certificate (for which 1s. 6d. must be paid) will be granted on application.

If by Licence, though both parties do not dwell in same district, only one need give notice, certifying that he or she has resided at least fifteen days in district, though marriage may be held in district of either party. Both parties, however, must be in England at the time of notice, though only one clear day is required (unless marriage takes place in Ireland with some one there, when seven days are required) between notice and granting of licence. Cost of Licence, £2 5s.

If "usual place of worship" at which ceremony is desired, be out of district of either's dwelling, by inserting words :—"Such building being usual place of worship of said——," Certificate will be granted accordingly.

The marriage must take place in registered building specified in Certificate, with open doors, between the hours of eight in the morning and six in the evening, within three calendar months from day of entry of notice, in presence of Registrar (or his deputy, or, if the Marriage Act of 1898 has been adopted, in the presence of the Authorized Person) and two or more credible witnesses besides minister, if any. At some part of the ceremony the words must be said:—"I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I——— may not be joined in matrimony to———"; and each must say to other : "I call upon these persons here present to witness that I—— do take thee—— to be my lawful wedded wife (or husband)" : without which it is not a marriage.

Registrar's fee for attending marriage by Certificate, 7s. 6d.; by Licence, 15s.; for Copy of Certificate, 3s. 9d.

By the Marriage Act, 1898 (61 & 62 Vic. c. 58), marriage may be solemnized in the registered building named in the Superintendent's Certificate without the presence of any Registrar, but in the presence of such duly Authorized Person as mentioned in the Statute. The Statute provides for the notices and forms required to be given or complied with and the register to be kept. It is important to note that, when a Minister who has been appointed Authorized Person for a Registered Building ceases to be a Minister and Authorized Person for that Building the person who succeeds him as Minister does not thereby become Authorized Person and entitled to act as such, until his appointment has been certified to the Registrar General by the Trustees or other Governing Body in precisely the same manner as in the case of his predecessor; he should therefore await a notification from the Registrar General that his appointment has been duly registered.

Marriage with a Deceased Wife's Sister was legalized by Act of Parliament, August, 1907, and with a Deceased Brother's Widow, July, 1921, or with a nephew or niece by marriage or uncle or aunt by marriage, July, 1931.

After a marriage at a Registrar's office, the religious service may be performed by the minister on production of the marriage certificate and payment of the customary fees, but such service is not to be recorded in the parish register of marriages.

Marriages: N. Ireland.—Marriages according to the form and discipline of the Presbyterian Church may be celebrated—(1) By Special Licence; (2) By licence; or (3) After publication of banns.

(1) In the first case at least one of the parties must be a member of a church in the Synod or Presbytery of the Moderator who grants the Special Licence.

(2) Ordinary Licences can be granted when only one of the parties is a Presbyterian. Each Presbytery is authorized to appoint, subject to the approval of the governor of Northern Ireland, ministers to issue licences for marriage in meeting-houses duly certified.

Anyone wishing to obtain a Licence must, seven days before the licence shall be delivered to him or her, produce to the licencing minister a certificate from the minister of the congregation of which he or she shall be a member and has been a member for at least one calendar month preceding.

(3) When both parties are Presbyterians, marriages may be celebrated after the banns have been proclaimed for three Sundays in the Presbyterian meeting-houses attended by each of the parties.

Marriages: Scotland.—The ceremony can be performed by the minister of any denomination, in any place, at any time, with or without any particular form. The law has been amended so as to put an end, as far as possible, to what were known as "irregular" marriages. Legal notice must now be given to the Registrar of the parish or district, the names of the contracting parties being exhibited for seven days on the notice board outside the office of the Registrar in whose district the parties have resided for at least fifteen days immediately preceding.

At the expiration of the period named a Certificate will be granted and on this the marriage may take place either in a church or elsewhere. By an act that came into force in 1940 this same procedure may now be followed in the case of marriages taking place in a Registrar's office.

Burial Act, 1880.—Wherever there is a Cemetery there is no difficulty in the way of a Nonconformist minister conducting a funeral service. The Act of Parliament of 1890 authorizes any person responsible for the burial of a body to give forty-eight hours' notice to the incumbent of the parish in which the death took place, or in his absence to his deputy, that it is intended that the body shall be buried in the churchyard of the parish without the Church of England service. The Act allowed a like notice to be given to the chaplain of a parochial cemetery if a burial was intended to be made there; but the Burial Act, 1900 (63 & 64 Vic. c. 15, s. 8) requires that in the last-mentioned case the notice shall be given at such time and to such person as the burial authority directs. It is therefore necessary in that case to inquire at the office of the cemetery, and to give such notice as the rules of the cemetery prescribe.

In the case of burials in churchyards the form of notice is specified in the Act of 1880, and the requirements are as follows :—

The Notice must be in writing; must be endorsed on the outside "Notice of Burial"; must be signed with the name and address of the person giving it, and be in the form, or to the effect, following :—

I , of , being the relative [or friend, or legal representative, as the case may be, describing the relation, if a relative] having the charge of, or being responsible for, the burial of A. B., of , who died at , in the parish of , on the day of , do hereby give you notice that it is intended by me that the body of the said A. B. shall be buried within the [here describe the churchyard or graveyard in which the body is to be buried] on the day of , at the hour of without the performance in the manner prescribed by law of the service for the burial of the dead according to the rites of the Church of England; and I give this notice pursuant to the Burial Laws Amendment Act, 1880.

To the Rector [or as the case may be] of

NOTE.—While it is desirable to keep to this form, the person receiving it will not be at liberty to object to its sufficiency, because the exact words are not used; the Act only requiring that the notice shall be in the form, "or to the effect," of the above.

In the case of a churchyard, the notice is to be left at the house of the clergyman, or in his absence, of the clergyman in charge of the parish, or of any person appointed to receive such notices. It is not necessary that the clergyman should consent to a burial under the Act. He can object only to the time proposed, and do that only in certain cases. Unless it be otherwise mutually arranged, burials must be between 10 and 6 o'clock from April 1st to October 1st, and between 10 and 3 from October 1st to April 1st.

A burial may take place either without "any religious service" or "with such Christian and orderly religious service" at the grave as the person responsible for the burial may think fit, and "any person or persons"—whether ministers or laymen—who may be invited or authorized, may conduct such service, or take part in any religious act thereat. The words "Christian service" include "every religious service used by any church, denomination, or person, professing to be Christian."

The person having charge of a burial under the Act must, either on the same day or the day after, send to the incumbent or his representative —or, in the case of a Cemetery, to the clerk—a certificate of the burial in prescribed form.

I , of , the person having the charge of or, being responsible for the burial of the deceased, do hereby certify that on the day of , 19 , , aged , was buried in the churchyard [or graveyard] of the parish [or district] of

To the Rector [or as the case may be] of

The Act of 1880 does not entitle anyone to be buried in any place in which he would have no right to be buried if the Act had not passed. Neither does it affect previously existing regulations or authority in regard to the position of graves, inscriptions on gravestones, etc.

Burial Act, 1900.—This Act modifies the Act of 1880 in the case of the consecrated parts of parochial cemeteries. The Act does not deal with churchyards. In future, Burial Boards "may, if they think fit," apply to have a portion of the cemetery consecrated; formerly they were compelled to have a portion consecrated. Burial Boards are no longer compelled to erect two cemetery chapels, one for Anglicans and one for Nonconformists. They may erect any chapel "they may consider necessary"; but any chapel so erected "shall not be consecrated or reserved for the exclusive use of any denomination." The payment of fees to an incumbent of a parish will no longer be required "except for services rendered by him." In future, when a Nonconformist minister officiates in the consecrated part of a parochial cemetery, he, and not the clergyman, will receive the fee. These provisions apply to cemeteries opened after the passing of the Act. In the case of cemeteries already existing the old fees were continued for fifteen years, that is until 1915.

Cremation.—This is regulated by the Cremation Act, 1902, and the Regulations made by the Home Secretary in pursuance of that Act. It is no longer necessary to leave written evidence of a wish to be cremated; in the absence of a contrary declaration, the declaration of an Executor or member of the family is sufficient. Two medical certificates of death are required. Forms and full information can be obtained from the Secretary or Superintendent of a Crematorium.

Charitable Trusts.—The Charities Act 1960 consolidates the law relating to Charitable Trusts, the earlier Acts being repealed wholly or in part. The Act of 1960 gives the Charity Commissioners very extensive jurisdiction over most Charitable Trusts, including those relating to chapels and their manses, etc. and charities for the advancement of religion, though places of worship themselves are not required to be registered in the Register of Charities which the Act sets up. The Charity Commission are empowered to enquire into the management of Charities; to oblige their trustees to render accounts; to advise trustees on the administration of the trusts; to authorize or direct legal proceedings to be taken; to authorize the granting of leases and making of improvements and the raising of money by mortgage; to authorize trustees to remove the officers of any trust; to authorize the sale, exchange or partition of lands; to remove and appoint trustees; to institute enquiries concerning Charities and to call for documents. The new Act greatly extends the powers of the High Court and of the Charity Commissioners to settle schemes for the administration of a charity and the application of its property where its original purposes can for various reasons no longer be carried out. It also makes it obligatory on charity trustees to apply for a Scheme for the administration of trust property where the existing trusts are no longer effective. The exemption from the necessity to obtain Charity Commissioners' consent to the sale, etc. of a registered Chapel in which worship is still carried on no longer exists; on the other hand, where the B. & F.U.A. (Incorporated) is a Trustee of a Church or its Manse, etc., it is permissible to sell (under certain conditions which must be strictly complied with) without obtaining that consent, by virtue of special exemption granted by the Charity Commission. Educational Charities come within the scope of the Act but are under the jurisdiction of the Minister of Education who is given many powers similar to those of the Charity Commissioners.

Dissenters' Chapels Act, 1844.—This Act has been repealed by the Charities Act 1960, but without prejudice, in the case of Trusts of a Chapel taking effect prior to July 1844, to its provisions as to 25 years' usage being, in certain circumstances, conclusive evidence as to the legality of the doctrines taught there.

National Insurance Act, 1946.—This comprehensive Act, which came into full operation on July 5th, 1948, supersedes the various earlier Acts dealing with National Health Insurance, Old Age Pensions, Unemployment Insurance, and Workmen's Compensation. As the new Act applies in some measure to everyone, its provisions have been fully and publicly made known, and need not be summarized here. It has been necessary, however, for religious denominations to secure a ruling from the Ministry of National Insurance concerning the category, or categories, in which ministers of religion are to be placed—whether "employed persons" or "self-employed persons." The official ruling, applicable to all denominations, is as follows:—

Ministers of Religion engaged in normal ministerial duties in charge of a congregation, or congregations, are to be placed in the self-employed class, Class 2. Ministers appointed to administrative posts at denominational headquarters, or to full-time posts on the teaching staff of a theological college, are properly to be regarded as employed under contract of service and insurable in the employed class, Class 1, unless in a particular instance there are special circumstances whereby the terms of appointment are such as to negative the existence of contract of service.

Oaths Act, 1888.—This Act enacts that every person upon objecting to being sworn, and stating, as the ground of such objection, either that he has no religious belief, or that the taking of an oath is contrary to his religious belief, shall be permitted to make his solemn affirmation instead of taking an oath, in all places and for all purposes where an oath is or shall be required by law, which affirmation shall be of the same force and effect as if he had taken the oath. Every such affirmation shall be as follows :—" I, A. B., do solemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm," and then proceed with the words of the oath prescribed by law, omitting any words of imprecation or calling to witness. If any person to whom an oath is administered desires to swear with uplifted hand in the form and manner in which an oath is usually administered in Scotland, he shall be permitted to do so, and the oath shall be administered to him in such form and manner without further question. By the Act of 1909, an alteration in the manner of administering oaths is authorized.

Rates and Taxes, Exemption from.—Income Tax is not chargeable on Chapel properties so far as they are used, or the rents or profits are applied, for charitable purposes, e.g., if used solely for religious purposes. Where manses or other Church properties are let by the church to the minister, or others, and rent is paid to the Church, Schedule A Tax can be reclaimed.

Rates are not payable in respect of premises exclusively appropriated for public religious worship and duly certified for such purpose. Very often some profit is derived from lettings and rates are payable though the profit goes to a charitable object, but a nominal assessment may be agreed. It is difficult to say what use of a chapel or school renders it liable to rates. User for Sunday or infant schools, or for charitable education of the poor does not do so.

Workmen's Compensation Acts.—So far as the purposes of this Year Book are concerned, these Acts are now superseded by the provision for Industrial Insurance in the National Insurance Act, 1946 (see above).

Leasehold Enfranchisement.—The Places of Worship (Enfranchisement) Act, (1920). Under this Act all religious bodies will be able in most cases to obtain a secure tenure of the property used as a place of worship which they hold on lease by purchasing the absolute freehold interest, subject to the payment of fair compensation.

Ministers' Income Tax.—Where a clergyman or minister of any religious denomination is obliged to reside in a manse, he is not assessable on the annual value or on the outgoings paid for him. In cases where he may occupy a residence and either pays rent therefor, or occupies it rent free, but has the right to let the property, if he so desires, he is assessable on the annual value, and on the outgoings paid for him (if any), but he is entitled to require that the annual value of the house, after deducting therefrom the amount of any annual sum payable in respect of such house, whether paid by the Minister or the Trustees, shall be treated as " earned income."

In this section, the expression " annual sum " means any yearly interest, annuity, rent, rent charge, fee farm rent, rent service, quit rent, feu-duty, or other annual payment reserved or charged upon any lands, tenements, hereditaments, or heritages.

A minister may claim deductions in respect of—

(1) Any expenses incurred by him wholly exclusively and necessarily in the performance of his duty as a Minister.

Under this paragraph a Minister may claim deductions for :—

(a) Travelling expenses necessarily incurred by the Minister in performing his duty of pastoral visitation.

Under this head would be included bus and tram fares, or the running cost and wear and tear (proportionate to the use thereof for official purposes) of such means of locomotion belonging to the Minister as motor car or bicycle where the circumstances or size of the Minister's district necessitated the employment of such means for the proper performance of his duties (e.g. where the Minister has pastoral charge of two or more village churches).

(b) Out-of-pocket payment for stamps, stationery, telephone, telegrams, etc., incurred in the performance by the Minister of his duties.

(a) Payments for :—

Rates—One-quarter general and water rates.

Fire, etc., Insurance—One-quarter.

Lighting and heating the study.

Robes—cost of repair, cleaning and renewals.

Maid—part cost of wages, insurance, laundry, uniform, and board and lodging where provided.

Books and Sermons, but as regards books the cost of replacement only.

It is important that records of the expenses under the headings (a), (b) and (c) should be kept by the Minister, but where no records have been kept in the past it is suggested that the claim might be based upon a reasonable estimate of the expenses incurred, and this could be discussed with the Inspector of Taxes.

(2) Where the Minister pays rent for a dwelling house, or is in the occupation of a dwelling house but pays no rent therefor, and uses any part of such house mainly and substantially for the purpose of his duty as a Minister, he may claim as an expense a corresponding part of the rent or annual value of the house, not exceeding one-quarter, but this does not apply where he is obliged to reside in the house, by virtue of his office

(3) Locum tenens during Illness—Where a Minister is incapacitated through illness from performing his duties, the cost necessarily incurred and paid by him in providing a locum tenens may be claimed as a deduction. If the cost of vacation " supplies " is borne by him, he may likewise claim a deduction.

PERFORMING RIGHTS AND ENTERTAINMENT TAX

It is the legal duty of all persons promoting public entertainments, or those allowing their premises to be used for such purposes, to obtain permission from copyright-owners before using any works of which the copyright has not yet run out. This applies to all works, whether dramatic, operatic, vocal or instrumental or mechanical, except where it is definitely stated that the work may be performed without fee.

In the case of dramatic and operatic works, permission should be obtained beforehand from the author or his agent, who can be approached through the publisher. Where a fee is charged, this should be paid before the day of the performance.

For almost all vocal, instrumental, or mechanical music other than operettas, cantatas, musical comedies produced in their entirety application must be made to the Performing Right Society, 29/33 Berners Street, London, W.1., an organization consisting of the majority of publishers, composers and lyric-writers of this country and affiliated with similar organizations throughout the world.

As the Society controls the public use of over 90 per cent. of the music published in this country, it is very difficult to run a concert to-day entirely on non-copyright items.

The Society states that it does not wish to interfere with devotional services in churches and chapels and, though legally entitled to do so, does not propose to claim a fee for music used therein.

It is suggested that a performance is "in public" when money is taken for entrance, or a collection is made, or when strangers are present with or without payment—in most cases, that is, except where the gathering is small, and confined strictly to members of the congregation or society concerned, and where there is no money paid.

Entertainments Duty was abolished by the Finance Act, 1960. There is, however, a levy which is payable on payments exceeding 11d. for admission to public performances of cinematograph film of a width exceeding 16 millimetres.

Exemption from levy for charitable entertainments may be granted on one or other of two different grounds. Further information, if required, can be obtained from The Secretary, H.M. Customs and Excise, King's Beam House, Mark Lane, London, E.C.3, or the nearest Customs and Excise Office.

THIRD PARTY LEGAL LIABILITY INSURANCE

The Council of the General Assembly has taken out a Policy in respect of all Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schools and/or Church Halls in England, Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales upon the current list of congregations in our Year Book, the cover being as follows :—

This Policy is to cover the Assured's Legal Liability in respect of Third Party Claims involving personal injuries, or accidental damage to property, arising from defects in the premises, or properties or furnishings, and negligence of employees or any person for which the Church Authorities may be responsible, including indemnity in respect of the liability of the Assured in connection with Sunday School Treats, Excursions and Outings and Legal Liability for injuries to persons and damage to property as the result of panic following fire or the alarm of fire.

Excluding all Liability arising in connection with organized sports or games other than sports and games during Sunday School Treats and Outings.

Limit any one accident £50,000 unlimited during the year of Insurance. Law costs payable in addition.

This insurance is in respect of all Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schools and/or Church Halls in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, upon the current list of Congregations in the year book of General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches, extending to cover unpaid officials of the Churches described hereon such as members of Committees, Secretaries and Treasurers.

It is further agreed that this Policy indemnifies the Assured in respect of their premises which may be let to Third Parties irrespective of the purpose for which such premises may be let.

This Policy does not cover claims covered by any other Policy.

The policy does not cover (i) Workmen's Compensation ; (ii) Damage to Assured's own property and buildings ; (iii) Injury or damage directly or indirectly caused by fire and/or explosion except such as is specifically mentioned above.

Congregations are asked to make contributions of 10*s.* 6*d. per annum towards the heavy cost of this policy.*

APPOINTMENT OF NEW TRUSTEES

This is now to be effected either under the Trustee Act 1925, or in accordance with the expressed provisions of the Trust Deed, or the provisions of the Charities Act, 1960. The latter Act repealed the "Trustee Appointment Acts 1850 to 1890" mentioned in previous editions of this Year Book, except to the extent that the provisions of those Acts may still be applicable in respect of certain Charitable Trusts in existence prior to 1960.

Before deciding on the method of appointment of new Trustees legal advice should be obtained.

If none of the above methods of appointment is applicable resort should be had to the powers of the Charity Commissioners.

The B. & F.U.A. Incorporated may be available as a Trustee, with consent (see p. 117). It is a corporate body and can act either as a Managing Trustee or jointly with other Managing Trustees and can continue to act in that capacity when all the other Managing Trustees have died or retired. It may act as a custodian Trustee ; in that event it will have no managerial powers ; the church property and/or investments will be vested in it alone, the Trusts being administered and the property managed by persons appointed Managing Trustees. The appointment of the Association as Custodian Trustee secures that the Deeds are not lost as often happens when individuals act as Trustees.

MODEL TRUST DEED

This is no longer printed in the Year Book but may be had on application to the B. & F.U.A. Incorporated at Essex Hall.

DEEDS OF COVENANT AND THE SIMPLEX ENVELOPE SCHEME

Preliminary.

Any person who subscribes to the funds of a Church under the Simplex Envelope Scheme can do so under Deed of Covenant. There is nothing in the Income Tax Acts which prevents a subscription under Deed from being paid by weekly or other instalments. The actual procedure to be followed by the Treasurer is, however, slightly different from that applicable to annual subscriptions.

The Deed of Covenant.

No special form of Deed of Covenant is necessary, but it is advisable (though not essential) to indicate that the subscription is paid weekly. Thus, the following is a suitable wording :—

ANNUITY DEED IN FAVOUR OF
(Name of Church or other Charitable Trust)

I, (full name of disponor)
of (full address)
hereby covenant with the Trustees for the time being of (name of Church) that for a period of seven years from 6th April, 19....., or during my life-time (whichever period may be the shorter), I will pay to the said Trustees annually such a sum out of my general fund of taxed income as, after deduction of Income Tax at the standard rate for the time being in force, will leave a net yearly sum of (amount of subscription).

Such sum to be payable by weekly instalments.

IN WITNESS whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this (date in words) day of . 19 .

Signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of.....
(Signature of Disponor)

Witness's signature .....

Address ..... (SEAL)

Occupation .....

Period Covered by Deed.

During a normal year, the fifty-two weekly instalments due under the Simplex Scheme will be covered by the Deed, which should be made out for the total of these, so far as it is ultimately receivable by the Church. Thus, if a subscriber pays 2/6 per week, 2/- to Church funds and 3d. each to the District Association and the General Assembly, then the Deed should be made out for 52 x 2/- = £5 4s. 0d., since the balance of 6d. per week is ultimately paid over to the District Association and the General Assembly. These two may also be covered by separate Deeds made out in their favour if the annual amounts are sufficient to warrant it. One Deed however will cover subscriptions to several funds if they are all ultimately received by the Church. About once in four years, a fifty-third payment will be made within the year, but this should be ignored for the purposes of the Deed.

Arrears made good after the 5th April will count as if they had been paid when due.

When a Deed is entered into, it must often happen that it is offered on a date in the middle of the fiscal year, and the Treasurer is then in a difficulty regarding the date for the Deed to commence. If the 6th April is not too far ahead, it is probably best to use that date and ignore (for Covenant purposes) subscriptions to be paid before then. If a new subscriber offers a Deed on joining, it may be possible to persuade him to make up arrears from 6th April last, and use that date. But when continuing subscribers offer a Deed, this cannot be done, as no payment made before a Deed is entered into is effective under it. In such a case, sometimes the only thing to do is to make the Deed out for seven years from the day before the next Sunday, so as to cover all future subscriptions. This, however, produces awkward "broken periods" for tax purposes in the years in which such a Deed commences or expires, and these "broken periods" will continue with succeeding Deeds.

The wise Treasurer will therefore always canvass for Deeds in March, so as to be able to make them effective from the following 6th April.

Certificates of Deduction of Tax.

These should be made out on the ordinary Form R185, not Form R185(AP) which is for annual payments. Insert in col. 1 on the back "Annuity under Deed dated.....", in col. 2 the words "My taxed Income", in col. 3 the gross equivalent of the payment for the year in col. 4 the tax deducted, and in col. 5 "Year ended 5th April, 19..... payable weekly". (See "Charitable Subscriptions under Deed or Covenant", by C. L. Wykes, p. 12).

The gross equivalent of the payment for the year will normally, be the annual amount covenanted for under the Deed (i.e. 52 weekly subscriptions) grossed up at the standard rate for the year, and the tax deducted will be the difference between this and the net amount. When a Deed is to come into effect from a date other than the 6th April, however the first year's form will cover only the number of subscriptions due between that date and the 5th April next, and it is the total of these that, grossed up, forms the "gross equivalent". Similarly, when such a Deed expires, it is the total of the subscriptions from 6th April to the date of expiry which requires to be grossed up. If (as will be usual) a new Deed is entered into to be effective from the expiry date, this will require a separate Form R185 to cover the subscriptions due under it for the remainder of the fiscal year. For intermediate years, the normal procedure should be followed : each form R185 should cover a full year from the 6th April to the 5th April next.

Increase of Subscriptions.

Generally speaking, when a disponor increases his subscription, it is best to take no action until the Deed falls due for renewal, when the new one is made out for the increased amount. It is possible, however, to enter into a Deed for the amount of the increase up to the date of expiry of the old Deed and then for the full amount, provided that the latter is covered for a further seven years. Thus, if a person whose subscription was 5/- per week increased it to 10/- whilst his Deed has still four years to run, a new Deed could be offered with the wording modified on the following lines : ". . . for a period of eleven years from 6th April, 1958, . . . will leave a net yearly sum of THIRTEEN POUNDS in each of the years ending 5th April, 1959, 1960, 1961 and 1962, and TWENTY-SIX POUNDS in each of the seven ensuing years. . . ."

Liability at Reduced Rate.

Persons not liable to tax at the standard rate should not be asked to sign Deeds, as such action inevitably involves them in expense. If such a person volunteers to sign, however, it may be possible to modify his subscription so that the formula outlined on p. 11 of " Charitable Subscriptions under Deed of Covenant " can be applied.
